Petrol Hiked By Rs7.45 Per Litre

ISLAMABAD: ISLAM-ABAD. The federal government has jacked up the petrol price in the country by Rs7.45 per litre from Rs258.16 to Rs265.61 for the next fortnight in line with an "increasing trend in the international market".

The Finance Division officially notified the latest prices, which it said had been worked out by the Oil and Gas Regulatory Authority (Ogra), based on the price variations in the international market.

As per the notification, the price of high-speed diesel (HSD) has also been increased by Rs9.56 to Rs277.45 per litre. The new fuel prices will come into effect from July 1.

"The prices of Petroleum products have seen an increasing trend in the international market during the last fortnight," the official notification read.

The changes in fuel prices come for the first time since the announcement of federal budget for fiscal year 2024-25 earlier this month on June 12. The Finance Division stated that there will be no change in the applicable taxes and duties, which will remain at the existing level, as had been notified by the government in the Budget FY25.

The government had increased the petroleum development levy (PDL) by Rs10 per litre — from Rs60 to Rs70 — in the budget, further burdening the inflation-hit masses. However, Finance Minister Muhammad Aurangzeb had clarified earlier today that the increased levy on petroleum products was not being imposed immediately, meaning that the PDL remains the same in the latest fuel price review. Earlier, the government had provided a cumulative relief of Rs35 per litre by decreasing the petrol price in the last four fortnightly reviews.—RT/Agency

ISLAMABAD: Finance Minister Muhammad Aurangzeb said Sunday he was "very optimistic" about Pakistan securing a new International Monetary Fund (IMF) bailout after President Asif Ali Zardari approved the tax-heavy budget for the next fiscal year beginning on July 1.

"The IMF programme is our assurance in terms of macro stability. We are taking it forward; it is inevitable. I'm very optimistic that we'll be able to take it through the finish line for an Extended Fund Programme which is going to be larger and longer in nature," the minister told reporters in Islamabad.

The cash-strapped federal government adopted a Rs18.9 trillion budget laced with tax-raising measures as it had sought to secure a new bailout from the IMF after almost defaulting last year.

In the budget, the government has increased the taxes on the already burdened salaried class, bought exporters into the normal tax regime, increased the petroleum levy to Rs70, and imposed new taxes on the real estate sectors, among others, to increase the tax collection.

Experts have said that while the financial blueprint is expected to help the struggling nation unlock a Fund deal, but also cautioned that it could lead to further inflation, which would draw public anger.

The finance minister, talking about the burden on the inflation-struck masses, said: "I completely understand the stress that people from different sectors feel about additional taxes; I completely empathise and sympathise, but we need to work for it."

The finance minister said he was clear-headed and would ensure that the government works to lessen the burden on the common people and businesses in the coming days by curbing leakages and improving the management system.

In the budget, the government has increased the petroleum development levy (PDL) by Rs10 per litre — from Rs60 to Rs70 — worrying the public as the petrol prices are already high.

But the finance minister stressed that this was not the case and that the levy was not being imposed immediately, meaning that when petrol prices are revised tonight, the levy would remain the same.

"There are talks about the PDL. I want to be very clear the Rs70 limit that we've set, we're not going to impose it [right now]," Aurangzeb, a former banker, assured the journalists.

"This is a ceiling. In my first budget speech, I had set it at Rs80, which was later revised to Rs70 and it will not be imposed; it'll be kept as a headroom," the finance minister added.

Rs70 levy has also been approved for diesel, Rs50 per litre levy would also be imposed on light diesel oil and kerosene oil, while Rs70 per litre levy would be applicable on high-octane.

In a nation of over 240 million people and where most jobs are in the informal sector, only 5.2 million filed income tax returns in 2022. To boost tax collection, the government among other measures, blocked mobile phone SIM cards and will now also restrict non-filers from travelling abroad. While the budget has been criticised for not bringing in new sectors into the tax net, the finance minister defended the financial blueprint and said that new sectors would be taxed.

"I'm repeating myself. When Miftah [Islam] sb proposed taxing retailers in 2022, it should have been implemented. We cannot have any segment that is not contributing to society and the exchequer."

He also thanked 42,000 new retailers for registering themselves as of yesterday and they will be taxed from July. "There should be no confusion that we aren't roping in new sectors. The same goes for the real estate sector, previously, the demand side was taxed [..] and now the supply side's income will also be taxed."

He added that non-filers should not exist. "In this particular budget, we have taken it to the punitive level so as to make the non-filers realise that they [have to file their taxes]."—RT/Agency

Aurangzeb 'Very Optimistic' About Unlocking IMF Deal After Screwing The Nation With Heavy Taxes

Fawad Rules Out Imran Khan's Release Under Current PTI Leadership

ISLAMABAD: Amid reports of internal rifts within the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI), former federal minister Fawad Chaudhry has said there is "no chance" of the incarcerated party founder Imran Khan's release in the presence of the current PTI leadership.

"[Due to] lack of political strategy of current PTI leadership, all of us are suffering," said the former senior vice-president of the party, who parted with Khan following May 9 violent protests that saw attacks on public and military installations.

He also responded to the PTI leader's criticism that those who parted ways with Khan in the aftermath of the May 9 mayhem have now started speaking in his favour as the "tough time" for the embattled party has now come to an end.

"Tough time has not ended for the jailed former premier and other PTI leaders. Yasmin Rashid, Ejaz Chaudhry and others are still behind bars and going through a difficult time," he said.

The former federal minister said: "Some people start their journey from Peshawar and return after staging a rally in Lahore. Continuing with his criticism of the PTI leadership, the former federal minister said Barrister Gohar Ali Khan-led party's leaders only doing commentary on verdicts of different cases against jailed party leaders.

He was of the view that "eligible" politicians like Shah Mahmood Qureshi, Pervaiz Elahi, and Asad Qaiser should lead the party. Fawad, who is also a lawyer, urged the top PTI leaders to stop "foolish talks" expecting the early release of the PTI founder as a result of the court battles. Interestingly, his statement came at a time when cracks emerged in the embattled PTI as 21 of its lawmakers, who are now part of the Sunni Ittehad Council (SIC), reportedly hinted at forming a forward bloc over top leadership's inability to secure the release of party founder Imran Khan from jail.—RT/Agency

Sheikh Rashid Receives High Gas Bill After Electric Shock

RAWALPINDI: Awami Muslim League chief and former federal minister Sheikh Rashid Ahmed has been bothered by high utility bills.

He has now received gas bill worth Rs100,000. Earlier, he was sent Rs168,000 electricity bill. He showed both utility bills to the media.

Sheikh Rashid had a couple of days ago told media that he has no family; he did not use air-conditioner but the utility company sent him Rs168,000 in electricity bill. Due to high electricity bills, his tenants have vacated shops, he added.

Meanwhile, in his video message, Sheikh Rashid said he used to eat breakfast at a food cart, lunch is not cooked at home. The stove is lit for cooking dinner, this is the practice since I was taken by my Islamic friend, he added.

He said families living in his vicinity got Rs6,000 to Rs8,000 gas bill while his bill was Rs100,000.

The former minister warned the leadership that revolution is being brewing in the country. Inflation has made life unbearable. The economy is in a shambles. They must realise that the time is ticking away.

Sheikh Rashid said time favours none. The robbers returned to get their [criminal] cases quashed. They have deprived the poor of their livelihood.

Now, the fight is not for form 45 or form 47; it has become a fight for survival. "I warn those at the helm of affairs to [open their eyes and] save the poor from dying," he concluded.—RT/Agency

President Zardari Signs Tax-Heavy Finance Bill Into Law

ISLAMABAD: President Asif Ali Zardari on Sunday gave assent to the government's tax-heavy Finance Bill 2024 for the new fiscal year.

The government had presented the budget two weeks ago, drawing sharp criticism from opposition parties, especially the PTI, as well as coalition ally PPP.

Finance Minister Muhammad Aurangzeb had moved the finance bill in parliament, which had been opened to seek amendments and debate by the ruling alliance led by Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif and its opposition.

Opposition parties, mainly parliamentarians backed by currently incarcerated former premier Imran Khan, had rejected the budget, saying it would be highly inflationary.

Earlier this week, the PPP — which had initially boycotted the debate over the budget — decided that it would vote for the finance bill despite certain reservations.

On Friday, the National Assembly passed the budget with some amendments. The motion was preceded by fiery speeches from the opposition, who described the budget as unrealistic, anti-poor, anti-industry, and anti-agriculture.

Today, President Zardari gave assent to the bill in accordance with Article 75 of the Constitution, the media wing of the President House said, adding that the bill would be applicable from July 1 (tomorrow).

Under Article 75 (1), the president has no power to reject or object to the finance bill, which is considered to be a money bill as per the Constitution.

The article reads "When a Bill is presented to the President for assent, the President shall, within [ten] days,—(a) assent to the Bill; or (b) in the case of a Bill other than a Money Bill, return the Bill to the Majlis-e-Shoora (Parliament) with a message requesting that the Bill or any specified provision thereof, be reconsidered and that, an amendment specified in the message be considered".

On Friday, the government had extended exemptions in specific sectors while announcing new tax measures in several areas to generate additional revenue in the coming fiscal year to meet the International Monetary Fund's criteria.

During the NA session, opposition lawmakers, particularly from the PTI, criticised the budget, asserting that it was now an open secret that the document was dictated by the International Monetary Fund (IMF). Leader of the Opposition Omar Ayub Khan had denounced the budget as "economic terrorism against the people." Pakistan is in talks with the IMF for a loan of $6 billion to $8bn.—RT/Agency

PTI Report Holds Marwat 'Responsible for Altercation' with Omar Ayub

ISLAMABAD: A recent report by the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) has blamed party leader Sher Afzal Marwat for the scuffle between Leader of the Opposition Omar Ayub and other workers, media reported Sunday.

The fight took place outside the judicial complex in Islamabad on Thursday when a district and sessions court turned down PTI founder Imran Khan and his spouse's pleas seeking suspension in their sentences in iddat case.

According to the sources, the report — which will be presented to the PTI founder on July 2 — has held Marwat responsible for the scuffle with Omar.

The report said that Marwat had desired to lead the party's protest rally in Khan's support, however, this led to an unpleasant situation, forcing Omar to leave the place in a hurry in utter disbelief.

Marwat has remained the centre of attention for the past few months due to his blunt remarks and differences with the party workers. Due to his outspoken comments, he was removed from the PTI core committee and political committee and a show-cause notice was issued to him a well.

The politician from Khyber Pakhtunkhwa responded to the show-cause notice and the political committee or the core committee has shown no indication of any further action against him.

Earlier this week, after Omar's resignation as PTI's secretary general, Marwat demanded Senator Shibli Faraz's resignation, saying the party will be freed from the qabza mafia.

In a bid to build a strong case, Marwat's statements against party leaders, issued on different occasions, have also referred to in the report. It is speculated that any major step against Marwat might further deepen the on-going tug of war within the party ranks, which the party denies outright. Media contacted Marwat on this development but he did not respond. However, Marwat posted on X to downplay the reported split in the party, adding that the decisions by the party are taken through collective wisdom.

"There can be differences on specific issues," he said. "And those elements who are spreading rumors of forward bloc, they are anti-PTI. PTI is one and united under the leadership of Khan Sahib," he said.—RT/Agency

Election Scheduled for 2029 Upon Completion Of Government's Tenure, Says Tarar

ISLAMABAD: Minister for Information, Broadcasting, Culture and National Heritage Attaulah Tarar on Sunday said that the general election would only be held in 2029 upon completion of the constitutional tenure of the incumbent government. While reacting to Jamiat Ulema-e-Islam (F) chief Maulana Fazlur-Rahman's presser, he said the Parliament was an appropriate forum to do politics in the current circumstances. "Solution to all the problems in politics lies in negotiations and dialogue," the minister added. Tarar termed Maulana a "seasoned" and "respected" politician, urging him to appreciate the government's economic policies that drove an increase in the foreign exchange reserves, and took the stock exchange to historic highest level. He lauded the government for strengthening the rupee and reducing trade deficit significantly.—RT/Agency

Shahid Khaqan Calls For Strengthening Democracy And Empowering Parliament

ISLAMABAD: Former prime minister Shahid Khaqan Abbasi said that we couldn't accept the parliamentary system and democracy unfortunately. He was addressing a seminar on Sunday. The former prime minister said that the institutions and constitution are not responsible for the failure of parliament but the individuals are responsible for it.

"We do legislation in the parliament without any debate or discussion," said Abbasi while adding that bills are bulldozed through parliament. The former prime minister was of the view that the right to speak has been snatched from the parliamentarians. A ministry is run by a bureaucrat but the minister is held responsible in case of any failure, he added. "We need to resolve all these issues in order to run democracy efficiently," said the former prime minister. Abbasi added that the provinces get share in the government through parliamentary democracy. It merits mention here that Abbasi is all set to launch a new political party named 'Awaam Pakistan' on July 6. Abbasi had been a confidant of PML-N President Nawaz Sharif and served as prime minister after he was disqualified by the Supreme Court over corruption charges from August 2017 to May 2018.—RT/Agency

Free and fair elections are the only way forward

Maulana Fazlur Rehman's call for new general elections in Pakistan is emerging as a crucial proposition in addressing the multifaceted challenges plaguing the nation. The current government, born from the contentious February 8 elections, remains mired in controversy and doubt. The credibility of these elections has been questioned domestically and internationally, as highlighted by the recent U.S. House of Representatives resolution urging Pakistan to uphold democratic institutions and human rights.

The economic instability gripping Pakistan is a direct consequence of the ongoing political turmoil. Investors, both local and international, are hesitant to commit resources in an environment of uncertainty. Maulana Fazlur Rehman's insistence on transparent elections is a pragmatic step towards restoring faith in Pakistan's governance. Political stability, achieved through legitimate and interference-free elections, is indispensable for economic recovery. A government with a clear mandate can make decisive policy changes, attract foreign investment, and implement reforms needed to stabilize the economy. Furthermore, the legitimacy of the February 8 elections is further undermined by the growing internal dissent within the ruling Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) and the lack of a unified front. The inability of the PTI to form a negotiating team underscores the paralysis affecting the current leadership. Maulana Fazlur Rehman's stance, supported by the JUI-F and echoed by significant segments of the population, reflects a broader demand for genuine representation and accountability.

The call for new elections is not merely a political maneuver but a necessary step towards restoring democratic integrity and fostering national unity. By addressing the electoral grievances and ensuring a transparent voting process, Pakistan can pave the way for a stable government capable of tackling economic challenges, restoring investor confidence, and ultimately, securing a prosperous future for its citizens. The urgency for free and fair elections cannot be overstated; it is the foundation upon which Pakistan's stability and progress hinge.

Democrats Rally Behind Biden After Shaky Debate Performance With Trump

Washington: Democratic leaders rallied Sunday behind US President Joe Biden following his poor debate performance last week, as the White House denied a report he was meeting with family to assess his candidacy. No major party figures have broken ranks to call for Biden to step down, with prominent Democrats including past presidents Barack Obama and Bill Clinton voicing full-throated support amid a torrent of doubts from everyday Americans -- and even a call from the New York Times editorial board to move aside.

The wave of party backing follows the 81-year-old's stumbling performance Thursday in the debate against Republican candidate Donald Trump, in which Biden often hesitated, tripped over words and lost his train of thought, highlighting concerns about his age.

"It's not about performance in terms of a debate, it's about performance in a presidency," Representative Nancy Pelosi, the former House speaker, told CNN's "State of the Union" on Sunday. "On one side of the screen, you have integrity, the other side you have dishonesty," she said, echoing a number of party figures attempting to shift the focus from what they say was Biden's unfortunate performance to the barrage of lies that came from Donald Trump during the debate.

According to a CBS News poll conducted in the two days following the debate, nearly three-quarters of registered voters now believe Biden should not be running for president, including 46 percent of Democrats. Biden and his family traveled to the Camp David presidential retreat late Saturday, where NBC News reported he was expected to assess the future of his reelection campaign following his performance.

White House senior deputy press secretary Andrew Bates, however, posted on X that the trip had been planned since before the debate, questioning the publication and claiming it had failed to ask for comment on the matter.—Agency

"Hostile State Actors": UK Warns Of Russian Interference In General Election

London: Britain's deputy prime minister warned Sunday that the country's upcoming general election faces threats from hostile actors such as Russia seeking to influence the UK's democratic process. The country will go to the polls on Thursday, in an election expected to oust the governing right-wing Conservatives and put the opposition Labour party in power. His comments came after the Australian Broadcasting Corporation reported that it had uncovered five Facebook pages spreading the same pro-Kremlin talking points. Some of them encouraged support for the hard-right Reform UK party led by Brexitite Nigel Farage -- a big challenger to the ruling Conservatives in Thursday's vote. "There is a threat in all elections, and indeed we see it in this election from hostile state actors seeking to influence the outcome of the election campaign," Oliver Dowden told Sky News. "Russia is a prime example of this, and this is a classic example from the Russian playbook," he added, noting however that the examples were "relatively typical, low-level stuff".—Agency

String of Nigeria suicide attacks kill at least 18

At least 18 people were killed and 19 seriously wounded in suicide attacks targeting a wedding, a hospital and a funeral in northeastern Nigeria on Saturday, authorities said.

The region has been scarred by more than a decade of violence by the militant group Boko Haram, which did not immediately claim responsibility for the string of attacks.

In one of three blasts on Saturday in the town of Gwoza, a woman with a baby strapped to her back detonated explosives in the middle of a wedding ceremony, according to a state police spokesman.

"At about 3:45pm (2:45pm GMT) a woman carrying a baby on her back detonated an Improvised Explosive Device (IED) she had on her at a crowded motor park," Borno State police spokesman Nahum Kenneth Daso said.

Women suicide bombers also targeted a hospital in the same town, which lies across the border from Cameroon. Another attack was later carried out at the funeral for victims of the wedding blast, authorities said.

At least 18 people were killed and 42 others injured in the spate of attacks, according to the Borno State Emergency Management Agency (Sema).

"So far, 18 deaths comprising children, men, females and pregnant women" have been reported, agency head Barkindo Saidu said in a report seen by AFP. Nineteen "seriously injured" people were taken to the regional capital Maiduguri, while 23 others were awaiting evacuation, Saidu said in the report.

A member of a militia assisting the military in Gwoza said two colleagues and a soldier were also killed in a separate attack on a security post, though authorities did not immediately confirm this toll.

Although Boko Haram has lost ground in recent years, militants continue to attack rural communities in Nigeria on a regular basis. Over the course of the insurgency, Boko Haram has repeatedly deployed young women and girls to carry out suicide attacks.—Agency

QUETTA: The death toll due to heavy rains which have been battering Balochistan for the last five days has risen to six leaving 25 others wounded in various incidents across the province, Geo News reported on Sunday.

The N-70 highway which connects the province to Khyber Pakhtunkhwa has been closed off for traffic, said the Provincial Disaster Management Authority (PDMA).

The PDMA further revealed that a large number of vehicles are stranded at Dhana Sar due to landsliding due to heavy rains in eastern Balochistan's Koh-e-Suleman mountain range.

Traffic from Peshawar, Swat, Islamabad and Pindi have been instructed to stop at Dera Ismail Khan the PMD said, adding that the Zhoj-DI Khan Road has been blocked at Dhana Sar due to rains in Zhoj and Sherani.

Meanwhile, the administration at Zhoj and Qilla Saifullah administrations have been directed to stop the flow of traffic.

Furthermore, the PDMA has said that teams have been dispatched for rescue and relief operations regarding the stranded travellers.

The downpour comes as several areas across the country namely Islamabad, Murree, Guliat, Gujranwala, Narowal, Sialkot, Balakot, Manshehra, Abbottabad and Swat are likely to witness rains today as per the Pakistan Meteorological Department (PMD).

Moreover, several areas of Azad Jammu and Kashmir, KP along with Balochistan's Khuzdar, Awaran and Lasbela are likely to witness downpour as well.

Earlier this week, the Met Office had said that most currents from the Arabian Sea and the Bay of Bengal are penetrating southern and eastern parts of the country with thundershowers with gusty winds are making their way in parts of Sindh and other provinces.

This is not the first time in 2024 that Balochistan has reported heavy rains resulting in loss of life and landsliding as April earlier this year, a rain and flood emergency was declared by the provincial government due to continuous heavy rains which battered different districts of Balochistan, killing and injuring several people.

Prior to that, the province's port city Gwadar was battered by torrential rains in March prompting Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif to announce a relief package during his visit to the inundated city where more than 40 people were killed in various incidents due to heavy rains.—RT/Agency

Pakistan Seeks Qatar's Permission To Resell Excess LNG

ISLAMABAD: The government will approach Qatar seeking the Gulf state's permission to resell the liquefied natural gas (LNG) imported from Doha in the spot market in case there's low domestic demand, a senior official from the Ministry of Energy told media.

The revelation comes in light of the long-term LNG supply contract signed between Islamabad and Doha back in 2016. The price revision under the contract is due in February 2026.

Under the agreement, Pakistan State Oil (PSO) is obligated to take supplies regardless of domestic demand, causing pipeline issues for Sui Northern Gas Pipeline Limited (SNGPL) when the utility fails to consume the gas.

Officials have said that Pakistan is preparing to approach Qatar through diplomatic channels, seeking either to cancel shipments or sell them on the spot market

if domestic demand for LNG falls short.

The disclosure was made during a public hearing held on Friday by the National Electric Power Regulatory Authority (Nepra) regarding a petition by power distribution companies seeking permission to collect an additional Rs3.41 per unit from consumers due to fuel adjustments for May 2024.

During the hearing, power distribution companies noted that the actual fuel rate was Rs9.12 per unit, compared to a reference price of Rs5.7 per unit, resulting in an increase of Rs3.41 per unit. They also reported a 5% drop in electricity consumption due to weather conditions, with total demand in May 2024 being only 17,000 megawatts. More electricity was produced using LNG rather than coal, with the cost of LNG-based electricity standing at Rs24.7 per unit.—RT/Agency

"Swarm" Of Ukrainian Drones Attack Russian Steel Mill In Overnight Raid

Moscow: A "swarm" of Ukrainian drones targeted Russian steelmaker Novolipetsk Steel's facility in a raid in the early hours of Sunday, but it sustained no serious damage, a company spokesperson said.

The attack achieved no results other than causing extra welding work, the spokesperson said. Igor Artamonov, the governor of the Lipetsk region in western Russia where the steel mill is located, said in a separate statement that nine drones had been downed over the steel mill.

Kyiv does not officially confirm or deny such attacks, but says the facilities being hit are supporting Russia's war in Ukraine and are thus legitimate military targets. NLMK denies cooperating with the defence ministry, saying that its Volynsk operations are not capable of producing military-grade heavy steels and it does not supply the military.

Russia's defence ministry said earlier that air defence systems had destroyed 36 drones launched by Ukraine overnight targeting several regions in Russia's southwest, including Lipetsk.

The ministry also said that Russian forces had taken over the villages of Spirine and Novooleksandrivka, which are in Ukraine's eastern Donetsk region, the Russian news agency RIA reported, the latest in a string of such incremental territorial claims.—Agency

Mithal Saen Bukhari Calls For Construction Of 25 Dams By 2035 To Safeguard Pakistan From Drought

By M Siddique

BAHAWALPUR: By building Kalabagh and other dams, Pakistan can not only be saved from becoming barren but also help in preventing water worth over 25 billion rupees from flowing into the sea. If at least 25 dams are not constructed for water storage in the coming times, the country will face a severe water crisis by 2035, and the responsibility will lie on the anti-dam rulers. The nation needs clean drinking water. These thoughts were expressed by the Chief of Sadat, Makhdoom Syed Faiz Mustafa, also known as Mithal Saen Bukhari. He said that experts around the world are saying that future conflicts will mostly be over water issues. Our neighboring country is violating the Indus Water Treaty by building dam after dam. Syed Faiz Mustafa Bukhari said that the elected government should play its role and immediately construct Kalabagh Dam and other dams to counter Indian water aggression and formulate a strategy to save Pakistan from becoming barren in the future. This would also protect the country from floods, which cause billions of rupees in losses and take many precious lives every year.

Transforming the School Experience: Paving the Way to a Brighter Future for Students

By Nisar Banbhan

Schools are the bedrock of our society, playing a crucial role in shaping the lives of students and fostering their educational development. To create a more positive and effective learning environment for students and their parents, it is essential to focus on several key areas: promoting active learning, building trust, encouraging open communication, fostering respect, and creating a supportive atmosphere. One of the most fundamental ways to improve schools is by promoting active learning practices. Keeping students engaged is vital for their success. Encouraging interaction, active participation in various activities, and project-based learning not only deepens students' understanding of subjects but also enhances their critical thinking and problem-solving skills. Implementing innovative teaching techniques, such as real-world problem scenarios, can foster a collaborative learning environment. These approaches help students grasp the nuances of complex issues through diverse group discussions, ultimately improving their problem-solving abilities and advancing their learning through active engagement. Creating a supportive school environment that nurtures students' self-confidence and self-esteem is vital to their overall development. Recognizing students' achievements and talents in academics, sports, arts, and extracurricular activities through organized programs can motivate and encourage them. Presenting certificates in front of their parents can have a significant positive impact on students' personalities. Additionally, encouraging student participation in public and cultural events and various debates will help build confidence, develop persuasive skills, and create a sense of achievement. Effective communication is the foundation of a positive and friendly school environment. Schools should prioritize open and free channels of communication between teachers, students, and parents. Often, school administrations either fail to address important issues clearly with parents or do so in a manner that undermines parents' confidence, negatively impacting students' interest and performance in school. Facilitating dialogue through regular parent-teacher meetings, correspondence, and online platforms allows parents to stay informed about their child's academic progress, challenges, and opportunities.

Furthermore, schools can promote a sense of responsibility, duty, and inclusion among students by encouraging them to express their opinions, concerns, and suggestions to the administration through student councils or forums. The school environment significantly affects the learning experience. Schools should strive to create a welcoming and stimulating environment that facilitates learning and creativity. This can be achieved by providing spacious, bright, and airy rooms with flexible furniture, access to useful books in the library, and resources catering to different learning styles. Additionally, attention to cleanliness, safety, and maintaining comfort, such as providing clean drinking water and necessary sports equipment, is crucial for students' overall well-being. Parental involvement in school activities and decision-making processes can significantly benefit students. Schools can organize workshops, parent training programs, and volunteer opportunities to actively involve parents in their children's education. These initiatives foster a sense of partnership between parents and teachers, ultimately benefiting students. According to research, parental participation in school activities has a very positive effect on students' academic performance and personality development.

In conclusion, schools play an indispensable role in shaping the future of our society. By focusing on active learning, fostering a supportive environment, promoting effective communication, and encouraging parental involvement, we can create a more positive and enriching experience for students. These efforts will not only enhance their academic performance but also contribute to their overall personal development, preparing them for a successful future.

PM Claims Budget Saved Public From Additional Taxes, Aligned With IMF Demands

LAHORE/ISLAMABAD: Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has said that though it was tough to make a budget as per the direction of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and that the government saved the masses from many more taxes, media reported on Sunday.

"I had long discussions on each point and the matter was settled and no more taxes were imposed on agriculture and fertilisers," PM Shehbaz said revealing that the Fund wanted more taxes on agriculture, fertiliser and other domains including medical equipment — even those for charity hospitals.

It is to be noted that President Asif Ali Zardari on Sunday greenlighted the tax-heavy Finance Bill 2024, which will go into effect from July 1, which marks the beginning of the next fiscal year.

The federal government presented the tax-loaded Rs18.877 trillion budget for the fiscal year 2024-25 (FY25) two weeks ago and it was duly passed by the National Assembly on Thursday earlier this week.

The FY25 budget comes in the backdrop of the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) led coalition government's efforts to meet the prerequisites for the additional — longer and larger — IMF programme by setting a high tax revenue target taking a shot at lowering the fiscal deficit from 7.4% to 5.9%.

Earlier, media reported that although the Washington-based lender has agreed on abolishing the goods and services tax (GST) on textbooks, restoring rebates for professors, and researchers, withdrawing Federal Excise Duty (FED) on cement and some other technical changes; it has refused to allow the government to restore export proceeds into a fixed-income tax regime, as the exporters were lobbying hard against going into a normal tax regime.

Meanwhile, the Centre has also introduced reforms in the pension scheme to initiate a gradual reduction in superannuation liabilities.

Speaking to media, the prime minister acknowledged that the government was under pressure from the Fund and that had the government accepted all directions of the IMF, there would have been more burden on many sectors, which would have increased difficulties for the government.

He revealed that the IMF wanted medical equipment to be taxed — including the one for charity hospitals.

"I convinced them in this regard and such taxes were not imposed," he said.

Highlighting that the government and the lender agreed on taxes after difficult "long discussions", the PM reiterated his commitment to strengthening the country's economy and highlighted the positive indicators for investment opportunities.

"We will fulfil the dream of a strong economy; there are clear and positive messages of investment in Pakistan by the friendly countries," he noted.

Furthermore, PM Shehbaz also expressed his optimism that it would be Pakistan's last agreement with the IMF and the budget under it, after which people would get more relief.

Fazl Reiterates Call For Fresh Elections To Achieve Political Stability

ISLAMABAD: Jamiat Ulama-e-Islam Fazl (JUI-F) leader Maulana Fazlur Rehman has called for fresh elections in Pakistan, demanding assurances that the military establishment will not interfere in the electoral process.

He made these remarks during a press briefing in Islamabad following a meeting of the Central Majlis Shura on Sunday.

Rejecting the February 8 elections as "rigged and unacceptable," Rehman emphasised his party's ongoing opposition to what he perceives as interference by the establishment in electoral matters.

He underscored the importance of upholding the integrity of the electoral process and urged that the people's right to vote be safeguarded, urging the establishment and intelligence agencies to refrain from meddling in future elections.

During the meeting, discussions included assessing various political affiliations with other parties aligned with JUI-F, viewing these alliances as part of a broader political strategy.

Asserting the constitutional roles of all institutions, Rehman reiterated support for the military in matters of national defence, but criticised a recent resolution by the US House of Representatives, labelling it a diplomatic setback for Pakistan and advising the US to refrain from meddling in Pakistan's internal affairs regarding international issues, he condemned the global silence on Gaza and criticised current Muslim leadership, questioning their legacy for future generations.

He further reaffirmed JUI-F's support for Pakistan-China relations while acknowledging the need to rebuild Chinese confidence in investing in Pakistan.—RT/Agency

Audio Leaks Case: IHC Urges PM To Disclose Actors Behind 'Mass Surveillance'

ISLAMABAD: The Islamabad High Court (IHC) has declared that 'any form of surveillance' on citizens was illegal and unconstitutional, asking Prime Minister (PM) Shehbaz Sharif to explain who is 'responsible for the mass surveillance, media reported on Sunday.

IHC Justice Babar Sattar issued a written order on the plea of Bushra Bibi, wife of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) founder Imran Khan, and Najam Saqib, son of former chief justice Saqib Nisar, against the audio leaks.

In the written order, Justice Sattar said that the federal government was responsible for the surveillance of four million citizens and PM Shehbaz and cabinet members are "collectively and individually" responsible for the mass surveillance.

The IHC also ordered the Prime Minister to submit a report on the legal framework of the surveillance system within six weeks. The report must also clarify whether the surveillance is being carried out in accordance with the law and the constitution.

It also directed the Prime Minister to explain who is responsible for the installation of the surveillance system and mass surveillance and "who is in charge of the system that is affecting the privacy of citizens".

Meanwhile, the IHC also issued contempt of court notice to Pakistan Telecommunication Authority (PTA) Chairman and its members, directing them to submit reports within six weeks.

"The court is of the view that the PTA apparently misinterpreted the surveillance system in the report", it added.

Pakistan Steel Mills Faces Closure As Government Halts Gas Supply

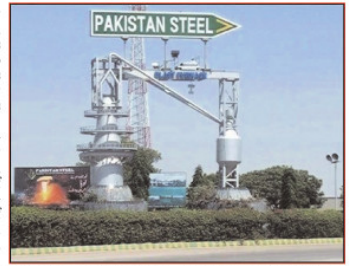

ISLAMABAD: The Ministry of Industries and Production has directed the authorities of Pakistan Steel Mills to discontinue the supply of gas to the steel plant, effectively rendering the revival efforts of Pakistan Steel Mills futile.

According to a notification issued by the Ministry of Industries and Production, the chief executive officer of Pakistan Steel has been instructed to halt the supply of gas to the Pakistan Steel plant, reported media on Sunday.

They have been informed that following the decision taken in the Economic Coordination Committee's meeting on May 23, the responsibility for gas obligations of Pakistan Steel will not be with the federal government after June 30.

The circular stated that gas supply to important parts of Pakistan Steel's plants, including blast furnaces, was severely restricted since June 2015, with the aim of preventing significant components like blast furnaces from being completely closed.

Gas pressure was reduced for the first time in January 2015, although the factories of Pakistan Steel were operating at 50% production at that time, on March 10, 2015, when the production rate was raised to 65% gas pressure.

It was further reduced on June 10, 2015, due to which billions of rupees in losses were incurred for Pakistan Steel.

Moreover, due to the reduction in gas pressure, it was kept at a venturi meter to maintain the life of machinery and equipment. After the issuance of the circular, it has been removed after nearly nine years.

Pakistan Steel had estimated losses of Rs 22.4 billion as of June 30, 2023, while gas obligations reached Rs 33.5 billion.

The assets of Pakistan Steel amount to Rs 83 billion, while during the fiscal year 2023-24, it faced a loss of Rs 6 million per hour due to the constant presence of accounts.

It is worth mentioning that the foundation of Pakistan Steel was laid by former Prime Minister Zulfiqar Ali Bhutto on December 30, 1973.

The design of the Pakistan Steel Mills, which has the capacity to produce 2.2 million tons of steel, was also given a 12% shareholding in 2009. Pakistan Steel Mills employees have said that its closure and the decision to build an export processing zone in its place have been made without their consultation or consent.—RT/Agency

Iranian Envoy Condemns US Resolution On Pakistan Polls As 'Form Of Extortion'

ISLAMABAD: Iran on Sunday condemned the resolution passed by the United States Congress, seeking an investigation of claims of "interference or irregularities" in February 8 elections.

"We condemn controversial US resolution on Pakistan elections," said Iran's Ambassador to Pakistan Dr Reza Amiri Moghadam.

The US House of Representatives, earlier this week, in an overwhelming majority, voted to demand a "full and independent investigation of claims of interference or irregularities" in the polls.

The resolution HR 901 was passed by a massive 308 against seven votes on Tuesday, which makes 85% of the total American lawmakers in the Legislature.

Through the resolution, the US lawmakers had emphasised the need for the Pakistani public's participation in the country's democratic process months after its general polls were contested as "rigged" and its outcome termed "delayed" by political parties now seated on the opposition benches in the legislature.

Following this, the National Assembly on Friday passed a resolution to condemn the US Congress resolution and termed it "contrary to facts" and "interference" in its internal affairs.

The resolution was tabled by Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) lawmaker Shaista Perwaiz Malik, and passed by a majority in the National Assembly amid a noisy protest of the opposition benches.
