"Our relations stand on our own strength, neither our relations are driven by any geopolitical contingency nor are these impacted by our relations with other countries," the prime minister said.

The premier is currently in Kazakhstan's capital of Astana to attend the twin Summits of Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) Council of Heads of State and SCO plus.

PM Shehbaz emphasised the need to overcome financial and other banking issues to expand barter trade between Pakistan and Russia.

In his exclusive meeting with the Russian president today, he said Pakistan has long business relations with Russia. He recalled that Pakistan used to import a lot of machinery and goods from Russia and export textile and leather goods under the barter trade.

The premier further said the two countries can certainly enhance trade, which is at the moment, touching one billion dollars, Radio Pakistan reported.

He also commended the Russian top leader for promoting cooperation in the field of energy at his request. He added Pakistan has received a shipment of oil from Russia and there is a need to further move in this direction.

As regards bilateral relations between both countries, PM Shehbaz said these have been on a positive trajectory over the last many years and this is a matter of great comfort for the two countries.

Government Fulfills All Conditions For New IMF Bailout Deal

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan is looking to clinch a staff-level agreement on an International Monetary Fund bailout of more than $6 billion this month after addressing all of the lender's requirements in its annual budget, Minister of State for Finance, Revenue and Power Ali Pervaiz Malik said on Wednesday.

The Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N)-led coalition government has set challenging revenue targets in its annual budget to help it win approval from the IMF for a loan to stave off another economic meltdown, even as domestic anger rises at new taxation measures.

In the budget, the government has increased the taxes on the already burdened salaried class, bought exporters into the normal tax regime, increased the petroleum levy to Rs70, and imposed new taxes on the real estate sectors, among others, to increase tax collection.

"We hope to culminate this (IMF) process in the next three to four weeks," Malik told Reuters, with the aim of thrashing out a staff-level agreement before the IMF board recess.

"I think it will be north of $6 billion," he said of the size of the package, though he added at this point the IMF's validation was the primary focus. The IMF did not respond immediately to a request for comment.

Earlier on Sunday, Finance Minister Muhammad Aurangzeb expressed optimism about the country's chances of securing a new IMF bailout, following President Asif Ali Zardari's approval of the tax-intensive budget for the upcoming fiscal year starting July 1.

"The IMF programme is our assurance in terms of macro stability. We are taking it forward; it is inevitable. I'm very optimistic that we'll be able to take it through the finish line for an Extended Fund Programme which is going to be larger and longer in nature," the minister said addressing a press conference in Islamabad.

In today's interaction, Malik said the point of pushing out a tough and unpopular budget was to use it as a stepping stone for an IMF programme, adding the lender was satisfied with the revenue measures taken, based on their talks.

"There are no major issues left to address, now that all major prior actions have been met, the budget being one of them," Malik said.

While the budget may win approval from the IMF, it could fuel public anger, ac-ording to analysts. "Obviously they (budget reforms) are burdensome for the local economy but the IMF programme is all about stabilisation," Malik said.

Sakib Sherani, an economist who heads private firm Macro Economic Insights, said a quick deal with the IMF was needed to avoid pressure on Pakistan's foreign exchange reserves and the currency given the country's maturing debt repayments and the effects of unwinding of capital and import controls that were applied earlier.

"If it takes longer, then the central bank may be forced to temporarily re-instate import and capital controls," he said. "There will be a period of uncertainty, and one casualty is likely to be the rally in equities."—RT/Agency

Imran, Shah Mahmood, And Others Cleared In Explosive ECP Protest Case

ISLAMABAD: A district and sessions court in the federal capital acquitted Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) founder Imran Khan and several other leaders in case registered at Aapbara Police Station.

Judicial Magistrate Yasir Mehmood announced the verdict, which was reserved last week on the petitions seeking acquittal, during the hearing today.

Other leaders who have been exonerated in the case are Shah Mahmood Qureshi, Sheikh Rasheed, Asad Qaiser, Shehryar Afridi, Faisal Javed, Raja Khurram Nawaz and Ali Nawaz Awan.

PTI lawyers, Advocate Sardar Masroof and Advocate Ansar Kayani, made the arguments in the case on behalf of the former prime minister and others.

A case was registered against the PTI founder and other politicians for protesting against the ECP's Toshakhana verdict in 2022, which disqualified him from holding office for a limited time.

Imran Khan has been facing a slew of charges ranging from corruption to terrorism since his removal as the premier in 2022.

The PTI founder has been in jail since last August and was convicted in some cases ahead of a nationwide election earlier this year. He is also fighting dozens of other cases. The only hurdle keeping him behind bars is the iddat or the un-Islamic marriage case, whose proceedings are underway, and the judge expects the case to be wrapped up within this month.—RT/Agency

BAJAUR: At least five people, including former senator Hidayat Ullah, were killed in a "remote-controlled" bomb explosion targeting a vehicle in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's Bajaur district on Wednesday, according to police. Fawad Chaudhry: Dialogues With Establishment Viewed As Pursuing A Bargain

ISLAMABAD: Former federal minister Fawad Chaudhry has expressed surprise at the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf's (PTI) willingness to engage in talks with establishment, saying that this decision was tantamount to "deal-seeking", media reported on Wednesday.

Speaking to an international media outlet, the former minister said that negotiating with the establishment is equivalent to seeking a deal, and that talks will only be successful if held on an equal footing.

Fawad Chaudhry suggested that the PTI should only be talking to opposition parties at this stage, and that negotiations with the government should come later.

He also criticised PTI's approach to negotiations, saying that seeking a deal with the establishment would be no different from what Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif would do.

When asked about his decision to leave the party, Chaudhry said that he had not left PTI, but was still a part of it. He also referred to his press conference with IPP leaders, saying that the circumstances surrounding it were well-known. He also claimed to have met with PTI founder Imran Khan in jail multiple times.

Regarding resignation from parliament, he said that the decision was made by Imran Khan himself, and that PTI's popularity was due to two key decisions: resigning from assemblies and dissolving them. Fawad Chaudhry recently made headlines once again for launching broadsides against the present PTI leadership over the past week. Chaudhry, who left the PTI in the aftermath of the

SHO Demoted and Suspended Following Alleged Assault On Lawyer In Karachi's Gulistan-e-Jauhar

KARACHI: A station house officer (SHO) on Wednesday was suspended and demoted after he assaulted a lawyer, leading to hours-long clash between the law enforcement officials and several lawyers at the Gulistan-e-Jauhar Police Station.

The clash began after senior lawyer and Sindh High Court (SHC) member Qadir Rajpar arrived at the police station with a client with a court order for the release of a vehicle.

However, Rajpar alleged that the SHO and other staff members misbehaved with him and did not comply with the court orders. Following this, a large number of lawyers gathered outside the station and blocked the road.

"When asked to leave the room, the person started verbally abusing and said 'now see how many people will come!'"

He said that after some time, a number of lawyers came at the police station and attacked the gate.

Speaking to media persons, Rajpar said that he came to the station with his client as there was a dispute over the custody of the vehicle after which he approached GM East for the order of his car's release.

"The SHO tortured me, broke my finger and injured my head," said the lawyer.

Following the incident, negotiations between the senior superintendent of police (SSP) East, superintendent of police (SP) Gulshan-e-Iqbal, Karachi Bar Association President Amir Nawaz Warraich and lawyers began.

Karachi Bar Association General Secretary Ikhtiar Channa, while speaking to media persons, said that one of their lawyers had come to the station for the release of his vehicle.

SHO prohibited the investigating officer not to follow the vehicle, claimed Channa, adding that the fellow lawyer was locked up and tortured.

After the negotiations, President Warraich said the SHO has been suspended and demoted at their request and a case has been filed against him and the staff.

The lawyers kept on protesting until they got a copy of the first information report.

The police also said that the SHO misbehaved with lawyers and a case with provisions of terrorism, attempted murder and torture have been filed against him. He added that more than 15 policemen have been named in the case.—RT/Agency

Sindh CM Unveils Ambitious Development Maps For Union Councils And Towns

KARACHI: Sindh Chief Minister Syed Murad Ali Shah has decided to create development maps from the Union Council (UC) to Town levels to avoid duplication, fill gaps in the development plan, and ensure comprehensive coverage of essential services.

"We need to map the population of each area, from the UC to the Town level, to identify the available municipal, educational, health, sports, and recreational facilities, as well as the development of infrastructure," Shah said during a meeting at CM House. Chief of the Pakistan Bureau of Statistics (PBS), Dr. Nadeem Zafar, provided a detailed briefing on population, education, health, and other facilities.

The meeting, attended by Chief Secretary Asif Hyder Shah, PSCM Agha Wasif, Chairman P&D Najam Shah, and PBS officials, discussed the sectors covered in Census 2023, including education, employment, disabilities, housing, and geocoding of structures. Shah emphasized the need for migration data to plan policies and services effectively.

"We must know how many people from other countries and provinces come to Sindh each year to assess the pressure on provincial resources," Shah said. He directed the P&D department to develop and maintain a data bank through regular surveys by the provincial Bureau of Statistics.

Shah expressed interest in education mapping to identify deprived areas and target resources effectively. He noted disparities such as Karachi Central having a high literacy rate of 83.6% but 22.7% of children out of school, while Thatta has the highest rate of out-of-school children at 75.8% and the lowest literacy rate at 26.9%.

He highlighted the need for mapping electricity access, citing Karachi Central's 99.1% electricity sources compared to Tharparkar producing 3500 MW of electricity. Shah proposed covering deprived households with solar systems.

The CM directed the P&D department to activate the provincial Bureau of Statistics to develop maps of every UC and town in terms of facilities. "The PBS would support the Sindh Bureau of Statistics, and further surveys would be conducted independently," Shah said.—RT

PTA's Prof Raees Ahmed Mansoori condemns removal of DEO Badin

By Raja Zafar Iqbal

Imran Shah sends a damaging message about the government's commitment to education. "We cannot afford to lose competent leaders who are instrumental in shaping the educational landscape of our district," he declared.

The Teachers' Organization of Pakistan, Sindh Province, echoed these sentiments, denouncing Shah's dismissal as evidence of anti-education sentiments within governmental decision-making. They argue that such actions not only jeopardize educational standards but also erode public trust in educational governance.

Syed Imran Shah's abrupt removal has been viewed by many as a manifestation of manipulation and hostility towards educational leaders who prioritize academic excellence and administrative integrity. The community in Badin, along with educational stakeholders, demands Shah's immediate reinstatement to safeguard the continuity and progress of educational initiatives in the district.

Efforts to reach government officials for comment on the matter have so far been unsuccessful.

The stock market's bullishness is not a substitute for a genuine economic recovery

As the government eagerly anticipates securing an IMF deal, it must tread carefully, for the costs could be significant in terms of political capital. The enthusiasm in government circles, highlighted by the Minister of State for Finance, Ali Pervez Malik, suggesting the loan package could exceed $6 billion, reflects a dangerous overconfidence. Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif's admission that the IMF played a role in the budget process has buoyed the stock market to record highs. However, this bullish sentiment is a poor barometer for the nation's ailing economy and the everyday struggles of its citizens.

The stock market's rise, crossing 80,000 points on the KSE Index, is a testament to investor confidence in the anticipated IMF deal. Yet, this surge does not mirror the economic reality faced by the common man. The market's gains largely benefit a narrow segment of society, while the broader population grapples with inflation, unemployment, and stagnant wages. The stock market's performance should not be mistaken for a comprehensive indicator of economic health. It reflects the optimism of investors who anticipate higher profits and dividends, not the lived experiences of the general populace.

Securing the IMF package might temporarily bolster the government's standing among investors, but it comes at the cost of imposing austerity measures that will deepen the misery for many. The government's legitimacy, already questioned by its opponents and critics, could be further eroded by the unpopular policies dictated by the IMF. The optimism surrounding the stock market is likely to be short-lived if the IMF-sponsored budget leads to greater economic hardship for the masses.

Thus, the government must recognize that the stock market's bullishness is not a substitute for a genuine economic recovery. While the IMF deal might seem like a lifeline, it carries the risk of exacerbating political instability and public discontent. The true measure of economic success lies in the well-being of all citizens, not just the fortunes of a few investors.

Cricket Australia CEO hints at possible tri-series with Pakistan, India

SYDNEY: In a significant development for cricket fans in the subcontinent, Cricket Australia's Chief Executive Nick Hockley has expressed a strong desire to facilitate a high-profile tri-series involving India and Pakistan.

This move comes amidst growing excitement for the long-awaited clash between these traditional rivals, which has always been a major attraction in the cricketing world.

During an online press conference, Hockley highlighted the immense enthusiasm that surrounds India-Pakistan encounters.

"Pakistan and India are traditional rival teams; there is a lot of excitement for their matches," the CEO remarked.

He further elaborated that Cricket Australia is keen to support and assist in organising both bilateral and tri-series with these nations.

"We are ready to support both teams for a bilateral and a tri-series," Hockley added, emphasising the Australian cricket governing body's readiness to facilitate these high-stakes matches.

"We would be happy to play a role in the revival of Pakistan-India bilateral series," said Hockley, reflecting Cricket Australia's eagerness to bring these two cricketing giants together on the same pitch.

However, he also mentioned that any such plans would require coordination between the respective cricket boards and governments of both India and Pakistan.

"The two boards need to decide first, and we will assist in hosting," he said, adding that formal discussions have yet to take place due to the busy schedules of the cricket boards involved.

Considering Afghanistan's remarkable win against Australia, Hockley congratulated the Afghan team for their exceptional performance.

He acknowledged the challenges the Afghan cricketers faced, particularly in the context of human rights issues affecting women's cricket in the country. —Agency

Kusal Perera's century in vain as Jaffna Kings edge past Dambulla Sixers

PALLEKELE: Kusal Perera's unbeaten century went in vain as Avishka Fernando and Charith Asalanka scored quick half-centuries to guide Jaffna Kings to a thrilling victory over Dambulla Sixers in the Lanka Premier League (LPL) 2024 clash here on Wednesday.

Jaffna Kings registered their first victory in the LPL 2024 and jumped to the second spot in the points table with two points from two games. Meanwhile, the Dambulla Sixers are lying at the bottom of the points table with two losses in two games.

Set to chase 192, Pathum Nissanka (27) gave Jaffna Kings a stable start with a 30-run opening stand with Kusal Mendis (6).

However, Dambulla Sixers halted their progress with three wickets in quick succession, reducing the Kings to 36-3 in 5.2 overs.

Avishka Fernando and Charith Asalanka then joined hands to take their team out of trouble with a fiery partnership of 134 runs for the fourth wicket in only 66 balls.

Fernando wreaked havoc against Dambulla Sixers' bowlers, while Asalanka played an anchor role before switching gears in the 15th over when he struck four consecutive sixes off Nimesh Virumkithi.

Mustafizur Rahman broke the partnership in the 17th over as he removed Asalanka, who scored a 36-ball 50, laced with four boundaries and four sixes.

Fernando also followed suit in the next over as Nuwan Thushara after scoring 80 runs from 34 balls with the help of seven boundaries and six sixes.

With 15 required off two overs, Jaffna Kings chased the target on the final ball with Fabian Allen hitting a six off Virumkithi.

For the Sixers, Thushara and Rahman claimed two wickets each, while Mohammad Nabi bagged one.

Earlier, Dambulla Sixers were invited to bat first and lost opening batter Danushka Gunathilaka (9) in the fourth over with 18 runs on the board. —Agency

Babar, Shaheen, Rizwan brace for setback ahead of GT20 Canada

LAHORE: The Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) has withheld the issuing of the no-objection certificates (NOCs) for the team's skipper Babar Azam, star pacer Shaheen Afridi, and wicket-keeper batter Mohammad Rizwan for taking part in Global T20 Canada League, sources told Geo News.

The board, the sources added, has in fact contacted the International Cricket Council (ICC) regarding the affiliation of the said tournament and the decision on issuing the NOCs will be made after the ICC's response on the matter.

The development comes as several players had sought PCB's permission to participate in various cricket leagues across the world.

A day earlier, 12 cricketers were issued the required NOCs for their participation in different leagues across the globe. Some of the players from the list are Pakistan's central contract while the others have not played for the Green Shirts in a long time. As many as seven Pakistani cricketers have been picked by various franchises in the Global T20 Canada League.

This includes Babar, Rizwan, Shaheen, Asif Ali, Mohammad Amir, Ifthikhar Ahmed and Mohammad Nawaz. Pakistan coach Gary Kirsten submits 'confidential' report to PCB on team's horrific performance

LAHORE: Pakistan's white-ball coach Gary Kirsten has submitted a "confidential" assessment report on the national side's disastrous performance in the recently concluded T20 World Cup 2024 to the Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB), sources told Geo News on Wednesday.

The report, the sources added, has been sent to PCB Chairman Mohsin Naqvi who will review the document highlighting players' fitness, discipline and game awareness among other things that led to the team's early exit from the mega event.

The development comes as the Green Shirts failed to even make it to the Super Eight stage of the World Cup after suffering an upset loss against the minnows United States followed by a defeat against arch-rivals India.

The Babar Azam-led side only managed to win matches against Canada and Ireland which were insufficient to propel the team to the next stage of the tournament.

The below-par performance by the national side resulted in scathing criticism from fans and former cricketers alike prompting the PCB chief to announce a "major surgery" in the squad.

However, the board decided to wait for Kirsten and senior manager Wahab Riaz's report to make any decision with regard to the team's future.

After going through the report, the PCB chief will also consult other board officials and former cricketers before taking a decision on the way forward. Earlier, media while citing sources had reported that Kirsten had expressed concerns over the players' fitness levels, stating they are not up to the mark.

In a discussion with the team after their elimination from the World Cup, the coach pointed out that the team's skill level is significantly lagging compared to the rest of the world.

"Despite playing so much cricket, no one knows which shot to play and when," he said, adding that only players who value unity, focus on fitness, and improve their skill set will be part of the team moving forward. —Agency

Netherlands crush Romania to reach Euro 2024 quarter-finals

MUNICH: The Netherlands swept into the Euro 2024 quarter-final as Donyell Malen scored twice in a 3-0 win over Romania in the Last 16.

Cody Gakpo gave the Dutch an early lead but they were unable to convert pressure into a crucial second goal until the Liverpool forward set up Malen with seven minutes remaining in Munich.

Romania were gritty but outclassed, lacking the quality to punish their opponents' profligacy before Malen added his second on the counter in stoppage-time.

The victory put the Netherlands on course for a Euro 2024 quarter-final clash with Turkey or Austria.

"We played a good game. I'm very pleased. Especially after the last game we needed a reaction and today was a good step in the right direction," Gakpo said.

"We talked a lot about the aggression, the intensity and defending like a team. It was a good step.

"Sacrifice something for each other and work really hard to be at your best. Good game overall." —Agency

Ronald Koeman's side would to improve their effectiveness in front of goal should they wish to emulate their manager, who was a player for the Dutch when they won the 1988 Euros on German soil.

Koeman said, "The only critical point was that it took us too long to score the second one," but praised the performance overall.

"We are Dutch, we have to play well. The performance today was outstanding and that's why we have a chance to continue," added the 61-year-old coach.

"This is the level we need. If we drop our level, we won't make the final."

Romania coach Edward Iordanescu said his team "tried to surprise the Netherlands today and it worked - until the 20th minute," but added he saw "good things that can inspire us for the future."

Prior to the game, Netherlands' captain Virgil van Dijk said his side lacked energy and the "will to win" in the loss to Austria in the group stage of Euro 2024. —Agency

Djokovic believes Murray has one more Wimbledon left in him

LONDON: Novak Djokovic described Andy Murray as an inspiration to fellow players for his resilience and backed him to return to Wimbledon in 2025 despite the Briton announcing his farewell after pulling out of the singles competition.

Murray, who lifted the 2013 Wimbledon title to end Britain's 77-year wait for a men's singles champion and also won the crown in 2016, will only play doubles this year after having surgery for a spinal cyst on June 22 and failing to recover fully.

The latest injury denied the 37-year-old Scot, who had hip-resurfacing surgery in 2019 to resurrect his career, a fitting swansong at the site of his most famous triumph.

"Incredible resilience throughout his career. Multiple Grand Slam winner. Legend of the game. Number one in the world. Just a huge inspiration to all the players. He doesn't mind getting on court for hours every day. Incredible professional. "His approach is something to study. His will to push and see how far he can go, even with an artificial hip, is something that's inspiring but also serves as a great example to a lot of athletes, younger ones, that complain about this and that. "He has left a great mark on and off the court for tennis. But something tells me that he'll keep going. He has every right to say when it's the finish line for him. If he wants to keep going, no doubt people will be very happy about it."

Murray may not have reached the heights he did before his hip operation but world number four Alexander Zverev said the latter part of the three-times major champion's career was equally significant. —Agency

Cristiano Ronaldo set to bid farewell to Euros after ongoing tournament

The 39-year-old Al Nassr striker is currently competing in his record sixth edition of the European Championship.

He will be 43 years old when the next edition of the Euros takes place in England, Scotland, Wales, Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland in 2028, CGTN reported.

Ronaldo told Portuguese broadcaster RTP: "Without a doubt it's the last Euro [for me], of course it is. But I'm not emotional about that. I'm proud to do my best for this shirt, whether I fail or not."

Earlier this week, Portugal beat Slovenia in a penalty shootout in their round of 16 game at Euro 2024.

The five-time Ballon D'Or award winner missed a game-winning penalty in the second half of extra time, but converted his side's first attempt in the shootout. Ronaldo said: "It's doubtful it's those who fail are those who try, too. I will always do my best for this shirt, whether I fail or not."

Saba Qamar joins Mahira Khan on Khalilur Rehman Qamar's blacklist

Pakistani playwright and director Khalilur Rehman Qamar is once again making headlines, this time for declaring that he will never work with leading actress Saba Qamar.

Previously, the firebrand screenwriter had drawn controversy when he publicly refused to work with megastar Mahira Khan.

During a recent podcast, the host asked Qamar if there was any actress he would never cast in his dramas. In response, Qamar explicitly mentioned Saba Qamar, stating that he would not cast her in any of his projects due to her choice of "vulgar" attire, which he believes is against his standards.

"There is no doubt that Saba Qamar is an excellent actress and she performed brilliantly in one of my past dramas. However, her current choice of clothing is against our culture and my principles," the playwright explained.

He acknowledged that Saba Qamar's wardrobe choices are her personal preference and that he has no issue with her liking them. However, he emphasized that he has the right to select actors for his projects based on his own criteria. The playwright further mentioned actors Humayun Saad and Adnan Siddiqi as those he would like to work with repeatedly.

It's worth noting that in the past, Qamar faced significant criticism from the entertainment industry, including from Mahira Khan, for his inappropriate comments towards Marvi Sirmed during a TV program on the Aurat March.

Nurturing the growing population is a challenge for the world. Pakistan is an agricultural country where agriculture sector contributing 22.9 percent in Gross Domestic Product and one of the chief employments provider segments. Food security for growing population is a challenge issue for stakeholders. Despite increasing demands, our agriculture sector is facing a lot of challenges due to global climate change, suddenly altering weather conditions, uneven distribution of rains, heat waves during summer and frosting temperature during winter. Changes in rain patterns with hailstorms relentlessly wedged our crops in the last few years. Rice is one of the main staple foods for Pakistan after wheat. Rice is nutritious diet for human beings that provides 70 pc daily calories by adding minerals, vitamins, protein, zinc, iron and fiber to their daily consumption. Rice contributes 0.4 pc in GDP and is the 2nd most exported agriculture commodity after cotton. According to Pakistan Bureau of Statistics 2022-23, area under rice cultivation was declined to 15.9 pc leading to 21.5 pc lower production compared with last year. Core rice cultivation areas of Pakistan are Gujranwala, Mandi Bahau-Din Hafizabad, Sialkot, Sheikhupura, Kasur Okara, Larkana, Jacobabad and Quamir Districts. Rice cultivation in Pakistan is facing problems of floods, high temperature, drought, or salinity. To tackle all the issues, "climate smart rice" can be an effective solution. Intensive research in the field of agriculture to breed climate resilient crops to cope with climate change was carried out across the world. International Rice Research Institute, Manila, has developed cultivars that can survive under intense weather conditions like floods, drought, or salinity stress. Farmers across the world have access to these climate smart rice cultivars for sustainable rice production. Climate change is a promising challenge and food production is vulnerable to this change. Under increasing risks of this mighty climate change, resilience in food production system is mandatory. Sustainable crop production is only possible if we transform our cropping system corresponding to climate change. Development of resistant varieties that can stipulate optimum production under elevated temperature, water scarcity, floods, and marginal lands. Cultivating climate smart rice can be optimal solution to grow rice under suboptimal conditions. FFC Agri Services Department is playing vital role for transferring new technologies to farmers through its Agri services activities for better understanding of the climate change. Farm Advisory Centers are pleasing setups of FFC Agri Services where Soil & Analysis laboratories are working under professional team.

Villagers demand justice in Hingorja land dispute

By Sajjad Chang

HINGORJA: Tensions escalated in Paro Khan Sehto village as residents, led by Shaman Sehto, Budhal Sehto, Badshahzadi, and Husina Sehto, staged a passionate sit-in protest against Muhammad Nawaz Sehto, Saleh Sehto, and their associates. Accusing them of unjustly seizing agricultural land, the protesters claimed that ongoing disputes had turned their lives into a nightmare.

The aggrieved villagers alleged that false accusations of theft were being orchestrated to forcibly evict them from their ancestral lands. They further lamented being subjected to physical assaults and harassment, with their womenfolk also reportedly targeted. Despite filing complaints with the police, no actions were taken, fostering a sense of impunity among the accused.

In a heart-wrenching plea, the protesters highlighted their vulnerable socio-economic status, asserting their inability to fight against powerful adversaries alone. They voiced concerns of daily harassment, including gunfire aimed at intimidating their households.

Calling upon IG Sindh, Ghulam Nabi Memon, and DIG Sukkur, Pir Muhammad Shah, the villagers demanded a thorough investigation into the alleged atrocities and swift action against those responsible. They warned of escalating protests if justice remained elusive, determined to secure their rights and restore peace to their community. Efforts to contact the accused parties or police officials for comment were unsuccessful at the time of reporting.

KARACHI: Sindh Energy Minister Syed Nasir Hussain Shah on Wednesday claimed that K-Electric would reduce loadshedding across Karachi in the next few days.

The K Electric was trying to reduce loadshedding timing specially, during night and peak hours in the hot day to provide relief to the people, the minister said while talking to media on the occasion of MoU signing ceremony between Sindh Transmission and Dispatch Company (STDC), K Electric and NSCL here at the office of Sindh Energy department.

The STDC is the first Provincial Grid Company (PGC) license holder with the mandate to develop electric power transmission infrastructure of 132 KV and above.

Nasir Shah said that K Electric through STDC, will supply 40 megawatts of electricity to National Steel Complex through 132 KV transmission line.

The energy minister said this project also includes the construction of 132 KV transmission line.

Syed Nasir Shah said that the project will increase the confidence of private investors in the STDC and Energy Department Government of Sindh to develop projects that will benefit Sindh province by creating jobs and boosting the economy.

On this occasion, CEO STDC Muhammad Salim Shaikh said that on June 13, MoU was signed between STDC and GO Energy for Pakistan's first 500 MW floating solar power project in collaboration with Department of Alternative Energy and Department of Irrigation. reliant on expensive grid-supplied electricity.

KARACHI: Talks between the Pakistan Petroleum Dealers Association (PPDA) and the government have failed, leading the PPDA to announce the closure of petrol pumps nationwide from Friday, media reported.

PPDA President Abdul Sami Khan announced that the strike could last more than one day, advising dealers to keep fuel stocked at petrol pumps until July 4.

The strike involves 14,000 dealers who will shut down their petrol pumps on July 5.

MQM Clarifies Political Differences With PPP, Kamal Insists: No Hostility Involved

KARACHI: Muttahida Qaumi Movement-Pakistan (MQM-P) leader Mustafa Kamal said they have political differences with the Pakistan People's Party (PPP), no enmity.

In an exclusive talk with media, Mustafa Kamal, they have had differences with the PPP for a long but no enmity. He also denied impression of affiliation with the Sindh's ruling party.

Kamal said, MQM-P told Asif Ali Zardari that they do not have candidate for the premiership but they will need them.

He asked PPP leadership to look, at who is causing harm to the party as loss of MQM-P's strength will ultimately harm PPP.

The MQM-P leader and former Karachi mayor said candidates winning the elections are respected in the Parliamentary system but unfortunately Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf introduced such culture of calling 'thieves' 'dacoits' who win the elections.

On July 1, in a scathing criticism of Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's policies in the early 1970s, MQM-P Chairman Khalid Maqbool Siddiqui said, "after the breakup of Pakistan, institutions were handed over to feudal lords under the guise of nationalisation. Despite having a clear majority in Punjab, Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's implementation of the quota system only in Sindh reflected a racist mindset."

For 50 years the children of the founders of Pakistan were suffering from injustices of the quota system, where in over 80 per cent jobs were usurped by people in power by way of forged domiciles.—RT/Agency

Pakistan Demands Immediate Action From India On 'Dangerous' Rise In Islamophobia

GENEVA: Pakistan has told the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) about India's "abysmal" treatment of religious minorities, with a forceful call for New Delhi to reverse the "dangerous" Islamophobic trend in the South Asian country, as also advocated by UN human rights experts.

"Can the representative of India justify the recent incident where a BJP leader openly threatened to slaughter 200,000 Muslims," Pakistani delegate Rabia Ijaz asked India's representative who earlier accused Pakistan of mistreating its minorities, while also alleging that it was involved in terrorism.

"We witnessed India's leadership's unabashed use of anti-Muslim rhetoric for political gain, including their Prime Minister (Narendra Modi) calling Muslims 'infiltrators' during one of his (recent) campaign speeches. Moreover, Hindu priests have openly called for genocide of Muslim minorities in India," Ijaz, a second secretary in the Pakistan Mission to the UN said.

India's representative, Kunal Bhat, a counsellor in the Indian Mission to the UN, made the allegations in response to Pakistan's UN Ambassador Munir Akram's sharp speech on Monday in which the Pakistani envoy, apart from New Delhi's atrocities in Jammu and Kashmir, also highlighted the grave human rights abuses of Muslim in India.

"Muslims face systematic, officially sanctioned discrimination, violence and oppression," Ambassador Akram said. "The law-enforcement and judicial machinery was complicit in this oppression as lynching of Muslims by cow vigilantes and RSS thugs goes unpunished," the ambassador said.

Rabia Ijaz, the Pakistani delegate, reacting to the allegations by the Indian representative, said, "Our leadership swiftly intervenes, condemns the acts (involving minorities), and ensures swift justice for the perpetrators."

In sharp stark contrast, she said, India's leadership was bent on escalating communal tensions, pointing out that India stands out where the government not only endorses but is complicit in these serious crimes.

"There is a glaring lack of political will to curb these atrocities in India, unlike Pakistan's unequivocal stance in similar circumstances," the Pakistani delegate remarked, noting that UN human rights experts issued a statement in March stating, "We are alarmed by continuing reports of attacks on religious, racial and ethnic minorities, on women and girls on intersecting grounds, and on civil society, including human rights defenders and the media in India,"

"Instead of making viti-olic remarks and fabricating information with no evidence against my country, they (Indians) should better address the concerns being consistently raised by the UN experts and reverse the dangerous Islamophobic trend in their country," she said.

About the Indian representative's reference to the 1971 events, Ms Ijaz said those were not a question of genocide but of India's foreign aggression and attack on national sovereignty and territorial integrity of Pakistan.

As regards terrorism, the Pakistani delegate said it was ironic for India that uses terrorism as an instrument of State policy against its neighbours to point fingers at others when it is itself a state sponsor of terrorism, running a global franchise of assassination campaigns and had even abused sanctions regimes in the UN Security Council to prevent the listing of its nationals involved in various terrorist activities.

About India claim of Kashmir as its integral part, Ms Ijaz said that New Delhi knows that its illegal annexation (in August 2019) would never be accepted by the occupied people of Jammu and Kashmir.

"Jammu & Kashmir dispute is neither a constitutional nor an internal matter of India," she said, adding, "It has always been and continues to remain an internationally recognized dispute under relevant Security Council resolutions. It cannot be wished away by India through legal acrobatics."

In conclusion, the Pakistani delegate urged the international community to work towards alleviating the suffering of the people of Jammu & Kashmir by granting them their right of self-determination as enshrined in the UN Charter as well as numerous UNSC resolutions. —RT/Agency

PM Shehbaz Extends Bold Invitation To Tajikistan For Utilizing Pakistan's Seaports In Transit Trade

DUSHANBE: Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has invited Tajikistan to "avail the facilities of Pakistani seaports" for transit trade, a joint statement issued by the two countries said on Wednesday, as the premier concluded his two-day official visit to the Central Asian country.

The PM's official visit commenced at the invitation of the Tajik president, Emomali Rahmon. During the visit, the two sides held meetings, signed several memoranda of understanding (MoUs), and expressed satisfaction over the "steadily expanding bilateral cooperation" in all areas of mutual interest.

"The prime minister informed the Tajik president about the operationalisation of Gwadar seaport and offered Tajikistan the opportunity to avail the facilities of Pakistani seaports," the joint statement said.

"It was highlighted that the Pakistani seaports offer the most efficient, shortest, and economic route for the Central Asian countries including Tajikistan to the markets in the Middle East and beyond."

Both leaders also signed the Strategic Partnership Agreement between the two nations, the joint statement highlighted, calling it a "true reflection of growing mutual trust and partnership" that would "pave a new way for further enhancement of bilateral cooperation."

The two sides also noted the progress in operationalising the Agreement on Transit Trade which was signed during the visit of the Tajik president to Pakistan in December 2022.

The joint statement said that while noting the current level of bilateral trade, it was underlined that there was a "vast potential that needs to be tapped through mutual efforts."

To enhance trade ties, the two sides also agreed to explore the provision of preferential market access for each other's goods, including through negotiations of a Preferential Trade Agreement (PTA), the statement highlighted.

It stated that President Rahmon welcomed Pakistani entrepreneurs and the business community to contribute to the countries' bilateral economic ties by investing in free economic zones of Tajikistan.

Underlining the importance of a reliable electricity supply for sustainable economic growth, the two sides reaffirmed their commitment to early completion of the Casa-1000 power transmission line.

Pakistan and Tajikistan leaders also touched upon regional security issues, condemning terrorism "in all its forms and manifestations".

According to the statement, both nations emphasised the need to enhance ongoing cooperation — at the bilateral level as well as within international and regional organisations — in counterterrorism, combating transnational organised crimes and human and drug trafficking.

"On Afghanistan, the two sides agreed that a peaceful, prosperous, interconnected and stable Afghanistan is fundamental to regional prosperity and progress," the statement said, stressing the need for an "inclusive government" in Kabul.

The two sides also discussed the "existential threat" of climate change, the "rise of Islamophobia worldwide" and the "promotion of people-to-people linkages" by recognising literary figures and enhancing educational cooperation. —RT/Agency

Imran-Bushra Iddat Nikkah Case Verdict Set To Rock Nation By July 12

ISLAMABAD: Islamabad district and sessions court Judge Muhammad Afzal Majoka has emphasised that the verdict in Imran Khan-Bushra Bibi Nikkah Iddat case will be announced by July 12.

The district and sessions court on Wednesday adjourned the hearing on appeals against the conviction of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf founder Imran Khan and his wife, Bushra Bibi in the Nikkah Iddat case until July 8.

Earlier, an Islamabad court on June 27 had rejected pleas seeking the suspension of sentences handed down to PTI founding chairman Imran and his wife Bushra Bibi in the iddat (mandatory waiting period for Muslim women between two marriages) case.

Today, the additional district and sessions Judge Muhammad Afzal Majoka presided over the hearing.

PTI's counsel Salman Akram Raja. Yesterday, Raja had partially argued against the rejection of the suspension of the sentence.

At the outset of the hearing, Advocate Raja commenced his arguments as he cited Section 7 of the Muslim Family Law.

To which Judge Majoka asked, "Are you saying that Section 7 does not apply in this case?"

Raja referenced various judicial decisions on Muslim law, arguing that family law is part of personal law and falls under the jurisdiction of the Shariah Court.

He contended that, according to the previous rulings by the country's apex court, a divorce becomes effective even if the Union Council procedure is not completed.

The court noted that Section 7 cannot be used to exert pressure.

Judge Majoka observed that in one case, a woman claimed maintenance despite the lack of a Section 7 notice, and the court granted her the right to maintenance.

Raja argued that a woman could marry without a Union Council certificate and that invalidating thousands of marriages annually would create numerous inheritance issues.

He cited the Allahad dard case, where the court ruled that the Iddat (waiting period) restarts upon the husband's death. Various interpretations of the Iddat period were discussed, including the acceptance of 39 days and three menstrual cycles.

Judge Majoka questioned whether the trial court had accepted these references or sought evidence.

Raja responded that if the references were not accepted, the court should have requested evidence.

He further argued that the trial court overlooked the Shariah appellate bench of the SC and that the focus should be on the legitimacy of the Nikkah ceremony, not the accusation of adultery.

Raja concluded his arguments saying everything in this case was dependent on Lati's testimony. The statements of all witnesses, including Khawar Maneka and Latif, are based on lies, he alleged.

He stated that the woman's testimony should be given importance.

PTI's Raja completed his arguments, while Barrister Salman Safdar was summoned to provide counterarguments.

Safdar requested that his arguments be scheduled for Monday as he was unavailable the next day. He assured the court that he would conclude his arguments within two hours.

Judge Majoka reiterated that the court must deliver its decision by July 12. —RT/Agency

IHC Slams Government For Mishandling Missing Persons Cases

ISLAMABAD: The Islamabad High Court (IHC) criticised the government on Wednesday over its handling of enforced disappearances, questioning who would come to a country where people are vanishing.

IHC's Judge Miangul Hasan Aurangzeb presided over the hearing regarding the recovery of missing person Atiq-ur-Rehman, a resident of Abbottabad who has been missing for 20 years.

The petitioner, Hajra Bibi, requested the court to enforce the production order issued by the Commission of Inquiry on Enforced Disappearances. "You can do it a hundred times in ordinary cases, but in such cases, we are under great pressure. What kind of commission is this?" Justice Aurangzeb said, addressing the commission officials. The officials informed the court that the case had been pending in the Supreme Court (SC) since 2007. The court questioned why contempt of court proceedings had not been initiated for non-compliance with the production order. The officials responded that contempt of court applies to individuals, not institutions.

Iked by the response, "I want to see the government's position. Is it that those we take will remain taken? Is it the government's position that those who die will remain dead, and those alive will remain alive? People are disappearing in Pakistan. Who will come here?" Justice Aurangzeb remarked.

The court also commented on economic implications: "You are hoping the dollar will come down from 280. Why would it when this is happening here?"

The commission claimed it lacked the authority to enforce production orders.

The court suggested that the commission should include people who can prevent Pakistan from disgrace. "When judges work according to the law, they go against us, saying you worked according to the law. We are here for everything; we are ready for public service," the court added.

The court summoned the Attorney General Pakistan (AGP) Mansoor Awan for assistance in the missing persons case.

The court indicated that a detailed order would be issued on May 28, the state's top law officer assured the capital's high court that all people who have allegedly been forcibly disappeared will return to their homes. —RT/Agency

PTI Rift Deepens: Imran Acknowledges Party Divisions, Plans High-Stakes Meetings

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf's (PTI) incarcerated founder Imran Khan has admitted to rifts, grouping within the party and will be meeting both factions tomorrow in Adiala jail, media reported on Wednesday.

Refuting reports of any forward bloc within the PTI, Khan, while speaking to reporters in a courtroom at the Adiala facility, stressed that there were no major differences within the party.

The PTI founder's remarks came as the former ruling party has been hit with internal turmoil as leaders are speaking against each other with the PTI's core committee also rejecting the existence of any division earlier this week.

Last month, the party's Secretary-General Omar Ayub stepped down as secretary-general of the party to focus on his role as National Assembly Opposition Leader instead.

Ayub's resignation came amid reports of rifts in the ranks of the PTI with sources telling Geo News that 27 PTI-backed Sunni Ittehad Council (SIC) lawmakers deliberated on the option of resignation from the National Assembly in protest against the party's top leadership.

Of the 27, the insiders had said 21 of its lawmakers hinted at forming a forward bloc over top leadership's inability to secure the release of party founder from jail, the sources added.

However, Ayub's resignation has since been rejected by the PTI's parliamentary party which was further followed by the party's core committee asking him to withdraw his decision to step down from the party's coveted post. It is to be noted that PTI's prominent leader Sher Afzal Marwat was issued a show-cause notice after he had refused to work with Ayub and others.

Furthermore, a PTI report has held the firebrand leader responsible for a scuffle between the leader of the opposition and workers which took place outside the judicial complex in Islamabad when a district and sessions court turned down Khan and his spouse's pleas seeking suspension in their sentences in iddat case. Last week, Marwat also demanded the resignation from Shibli Faraz, saying that the party would only then be freed from the "qabza mafia".

Putting his weight behind Ayub, the former premier said: "[Omar] Ayub has sacrificed immensely for the party and has seen a lot of hard times. His services to the party are unforgettable." However, when asked about whether former federal minister and ex-party member Fawad Chaudhry had sent him a meeting message and his continuous criticism of the PTI's current leadership, Khan chose not to respond. —RT/Agency
