Terrorism Issues Can't Be Solved Over Tea: Bilawal

PESHAWAR: Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) Chairman Bilawal Bhatto Zardari stated that the problems between Pakistan and Afghanistan cannot be resolved simply through visits or casual meetings.

Speaking at a press conference at the Governor House in Peshawar on Monday, he stressed the importance of finding solutions for the complex issues facing both countries.

Bilawal reiterated that numerous countries and armies have failed there, stating, "A visit to Afghanistan or a cup of tea will not solve the issues. As foreign minister, I facilitated China-Pakistan-Afghanistan negotiations. The problems of Afghanistan and Pakistan should be resolved, acknowledging that not all issues are under Afghan control."

He questioned the silence on terrorism, recalling that it was the PPP's demand that led to briefings by General (R) Bajwa and Faiz Hameed to the parliament. He expressed anticipation for the APC to present their position based on facts, neither criticizing nor praising every government decision.

Bilawal accused the K-P government of facilitating terrorists for 15 years. He praised the governor for including provincial projects in the PSDP and proposed free 300 units if made prime minister. He further shared plans for free solar systems for the poor in Sindh's budget, addressing economic burdens, and advocating for a shift of indirect taxes from the poor to the elite.

He emphasised the need for broad consultation on security issues, involving not just allies but the opposition as well. "How long will we continue to carry bodies? When will good days come?" Khyber Pakhtunkhwa has the worst law and order situation. Facilitators of terrorists are presented as heroes," he lamented.

Bilawal highlighted the significant security challenges in the province, noting that peace was established through great sacrifices.

"We defeated terrorists with public support and the bravery of our forces. Terrorist organisations are resurging from K-P to Balochistan. We will participate in the prime minister's APC with our stance, working together to address these issues. We

PM Expresses Concern Over Potential Return To IMF After 3 Years

QUETTA: Lamenting that the burden of debt has mortgaged the future of nation's generations, Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has said it will be a matter of great shame if Pakistan has to once again return to the International Monetary Fund (IMF) for another loan after three years.

"To free ourselves from this cycle of debt, the federal and provincial governments, along with the relevant institutions, must work together," the premier said while addressing a signing ceremony to launch a significant initiative aimed at the solarisation of agricultural tube wells in Balochistan on Monday.

"If we make this collective effort, future generations will be grateful. However, if we fail to make tough decisions, we will find ourselves seeking assistance from the IMF once again," the PM, who was on a daylong visit to Quetta, said.

Pakistan is looking to strike a staff-level deal on a IMF bailout of more than $6 billion this month after addressing all of the Washington-based lender's requirements in its annual budget.

Moreover, the country's debt has soared since the mid-2000s, as authorities failed to invest a gusher of loans from international bondholders and countries including China and Gulf nations into productive, export-oriented sectors.

Minister for Finance Muhammad Aurangzeb warned on Sunday that Pakistan would continue to seek the IMF bailouts "if it fails to boost tax revenue".

The finance czar said that he was "relatively confident" of reaching a staff-level agreement with the global lender this month for an estimated loan of $6 to $8 billion.

"But it will not be our last PM programme if we don't bring our tax revenues up," said the finance minister while speaking during an interview with the Financial Times.

The federal government presented the tax-loaded Rs18.877 trillion budget for the fiscal year 2024-25 (FY25) last month, aimed at shoring up public revenue and satisfying the IMF, which has repeatedly demanded improved tax collection.

The budget aims to raise Rs13 trillion by next July, a roughly 40% increase from the current financial year, to bring down a ruinous debt burden that has caused 57% of government revenue to be swallowed by interest pay-going for the solarisation of 1 million agricultural tube wells across the country, saving $3.5 billion, being spent on imported fuel every year," the PM added.

He also said a 10% quota had been earmarked for the students of Balochistan, who would be sent to China at government expense for the latest professional training in the agriculture sector.

Similarly, a 10% quota has been reserved for the students of Balochistan to get training in the field of Information Technology under the Chinese company Huawei, the premier said adding that funds had been allocated in the federal budget for the establishment of Danish Schools in Balochistan.

He expressed the hope that Balochistan Governor Sheikh Jaffer Khan Mandokhail, CM Bugti, and the entire provincial cabinet would continue playing their due role for the development and prosperity of the province. Meanwhile, Governor Mandokhail met with the Prime Minister, discussing the conversion of the province's tube wells to solar power, party matters, and other mutual interests. The governor expressed gratitude to the Prime Minister for his special interest in the province's development and prosperity. Both leaders agreed to further strengthen and enhance the relationship between the federal and provincial governments.—RT/Agency

CJP Isa Raises Legal Ambiguity Concerning Form-47

ISLAMABAD: Chief Justice of Pakistan (CJP) Qazi Faez Isa raised a query regarding the definition and legal term used for "Form-47" during a hearing on an electoral dispute involving Pakistan Muslim League (PML-N) leader Azhar Qayyum Nahra in the NA-81 constituency.

At the outset of the hearing, Ahsan Bhoon, the counsel for Nara, argued that his client was declared successful after a recount and had approached the Election Commission Pakistan (ECP) to challenge the administrative officer's ruling.

On April 4, Justice Shahid Karim of the LHC suspended the notification declaring PML-N leader Azhar Qayyum victorious from Constituency NA-81, Gujranwala.

The ruling occurred during a hearing on a petition filed by Bilal Ijaz Chaudhry of the Sunni Ittehad Council (SIC), who raised concerns over the election results.

Today at the hearing, Advocate Bhoon informed the court that the returning officer issued Form 47 on February 9.

To which CJP queried, "What is Form-47, and what term is used in the law for it?"

"Form-47 is the preliminary result, and the final result is issued on Form 48. Legally, Form-47 is termed the provisional result," Advocate Bhoon replied.

He added that the returning officer issued Form-48 for the constituency on February 11.

Form-48 is crucial in the preparation of election results as it includes the total number of votes cast for each candidate in a specific constituency.

"Can the Election Commission declare someone a winner and then change its decision? Indeed, the returning officer should have conducted a recount based on your request," Justice Aqeel Abbasi remarked.

On April 26, ECP restored victory notification of PTI's Chaudhry Bilal court in the last hearing of the case. It is noteworthy that Imran Khan and Fawad Chaudhry have been indicted

Family Of Slain Journalist Arshad Sharif To Receive Rs21.7m In Compensation

ISLAMABAD: Kenya's High Court has ordered its government to compensate the family of Pakistani journalist Arshad Sharif with 10 million Kenyan Shillings (Rs21.7 million) after ruling that his shooting by police in Kajjajo County in 2022 was "arbitrary and unconstitutional."

According to Kenyan news agency NTV, Justice Stella Mutuku of the Kenya court declared that Sharif's rights to life, equality before the law, and dignity were violated in the incident on October 23, 2022. Arshad Sharif, who had fled Pakistan in July 2022 amid allegations of criticising the military, was fatally shot by Kenyan police in the Tinga area of Kajjajo County, later attributed by police to a case of "mistaken identity". The court suspended the monetary award for 30 days to allow for a potential government appeal. "I find that the respondents, through their actions, violated the rights of the petitioners," Justice Mutuku stated. The widow, Javeria Siddique, had filed a lawsuit against several government officials, accusing them of delaying the investigation into Sharif's shooting and failing to provide updates to the family.

Kenya's court has also dismissed police claims that firing on Arshad Sharif's vehicle was based on mistaken identity.—RT/Agency

ISLAMABAD: Khyber Pakhtunkhwa (K-P) Chief Minister Ali Amin Gandapur announced that if Imran Khan initiates a hunger strike, similar protests will erupt across Pakistan and globally.

Speaking to the media after an appearance at the Anti-Terrorism Court in Islamabad on Monday, he mentioned discussions with an American delegation regarding the cypher issue.

"In just 100 days, we have undertaken numerous public service initiatives," he added.

An international cover-up

The tragic and senseless murder of investigative journalist Shaheed Arshad Sharif in Kenya exposes a deeply unsettling web of international conspiracy and judicial negligence. Sharif, who had sought refuge in Nairobi after fleeing Pakistan due to mounting threats from powerful adversaries, was brutally gunned down by Kenyan police on October 23, 2022. Despite the High Court in Kenya's Kajiado awarding 10 million Kenyan shillings to his family, the narrative of "mistaken identity" posited by the authorities is an outrageous travesty of justice.

Justice Stella Mutuku rightly ruled the lethal force used against Sharif as unlawful and unconstitutional. Yet, this ruling does little to assuage the pain of his family or address the underlying conspiracy that led to his death. The official explanation of mistaken identity crumbles under scrutiny, especially when considering the clear signs of torture, including pulled fingernails, found on Sharif's body. These indicators suggest a premeditated and brutal assassination rather than an unfortunate error.

Sharif's enemies, whose influence extended across borders, orchestrated a plot that ensured his demise even in exile. The failure of Kenyan authorities, including their esteemed courts, to transparently investigate and prosecute those responsible reeks of complicity or, at best, a disturbing incompetence. The delayed and inconclusive investigations, as highlighted by Kenyan journalist Brian Obuya, only fuel suspicions of a cover-up.

The international community must demand a thorough and impartial investigation into Sharif's murder. His death is not just a loss for his family and Pakistan but a severe blow to journalistic freedom and the fight against corruption. The Kenyan judiciary's apparent compliance in perpetuating a false narrative dishonors Sharif's legacy and tarnishes the very principles of justice and truth.

Several women faint due to overcrowding at BISP Centre in Kunri

By MM Faisal

KUNRI: The BISP Centre in Kunri witnessed chaotic scenes as overcrowding and inadequate facilities led to several women fainting in the extreme heat. Reports indicate that many others experienced deteriorating health conditions during the distribution of stipends, raising concerns about potential accidents.

Located at Government Qazi Sultan High School, the BISP Centre reportedly faced challenges due to the closure of its administrative block's main gate. This forced women to climb and jump over obstacles, exacerbating the overcrowding situation inside.

"The limited number of service devices contributed to the overcrowding, making it difficult for women to access their stipends smoothly," stated concerned participants at the centre.

In response to the situation, women present at the centre have urged authorities to increase staffing and deploy additional service devices to streamline the stipend distribution process. They emphasized the need for improved facilities to prevent similar incidents in the future.

Authorities are urged to take immediate action to address these concerns and ensure the safety and well-being of all beneficiaries at the BISP Centre in Kunri.

Gary Kirsten arrives in Lahore to discuss changes in team with PCB chief

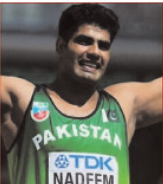

LAHORE: Pakistan white ball head coach Gary Kirsten Monday arrived in Lahore to discuss about changes in the Pakistan team including captaincy with Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) Chairman Mohsin Naqvi. Following the disappointing T20 World Cup campaign, the PCB chief had summoned him for consultation about Pakistan team's future. Whereas, Naqvi's discussion with the head coach over maintaining Babar Azam's captaincy is extremely important. Raising numerous questions, Kirsten has already submitted a report pertaining to Pakistan's dismal performance in the World Cup. Sources told Geo News on July 3 that he had submitted a "confidential" assessment report to the PCB. The sources said the PCB chief would review the document highlighting players' fitness, discipline and game awareness among other things that led to the team's early exit from the mega event. The development comes as the Green Shirts failed to even make it to the Super Eight stage of the World Cup after suffering an upset loss against the minnows United States followed by a defeat against arch-rivals India. The Babar Azam-led side only managed to win matches against Canada and Ireland which were insufficient to propel the team to the next stage of the tournament. The below-par performance by the national side resulted in scathing criticism from fans and former cricketers alike prompting the PCB head to announce a "major surgery" in the squad. However, the board decided to wait for Kirsten and senior manager Wahab Riaz's report to make any decision with regard to the team's future. After going through the report, the PCB chief will also consult other board officials and former cricketers before taking a decision on the way forward. Earlier, media while citing sources had reported that Kirsten had expressed concerns over the players' fitness levels, stating they are not up to the mark.—Agency

Paris Olympics 2024: Taliban govt 'doesn't recognise women' on Afghan Olympic team

PARIS: Afghanistan's Taliban government does not recognise the three female athletes who will represent the country at the Paris Olympic Games this month, a spokesman for their sports department said. The International Olympic Committee (IOC) has invited a squad of six Afghan athletes - three women and three men - in consultation with Afghanistan's largely exiled national Olympic committee. "Only three athletes are representing Afghanistan," said Atal Mashwani, the spokesman of the Taliban government's sports directorate, referring to the male competitors. "Currently, in Afghanistan girls' sports have been stopped. When girls' sport isn't practised, how can they go on the national team?" he told AFP. All three of the women and two of the male athletes are living outside Afghanistan. The only one training in the country is a judo fighter, whilst his squad mates will feature in athletics and swimming. The women will compete in athletics and cycling. The IOC said it had not consulted Taliban officials about the team and they were not invited to the games. Spokesman Mark Adams last month confirmed Afghanistan's national Olympic committee - including the president and secretary-general who are both living in exile - remain "its sole interlocutors for the preparation and participation of the Afghan team". But Afghan committee CEO Dad Mohammad Payenda Akhtari, who is still in the country, said whilst female athletes were organised abroad, his committee coordinated with Taliban authorities over the male ones. Mashwani claimed the government was supporting them with training and scholarships. "We only take the responsibility for three male athletes participating in the Olympics," he told AFP.—Agency

Controversial decision sparks petition for Euro 2024 quarter-final replay

SPAIN: An intense quarter-final clash between Germany and Spain at Euro 2024 has ended with a petition garnering nearly half a million signatures, calling for a replay of the match following a contentious decision. In a nail-biting encounter in Stuttgart on Friday, tournament hosts Germany faced off against Spain, ultimately bowing out of the competition in a dramatic 2-1 defeat. The match saw Florian Grill scoring a crucial 89th-minute equaliser for Germany, pushing the game into extra-time. However, hopes were dashed for the Germans when Spain's Mikel Merino scored in the 119th minute, securing their victory. The controversy erupted over a disputed penalty decision during extra-time, where German supporters argue that their team should have been awarded a penalty. The incident occurred when Jamal Musiala's shot struck the hand of Spain's Marc Cuarella. Referee Anthony Taylor and Video Assistant Referee Stuart Attwell chose not to award a penalty, aligning with UEFA's guidelines that emphasise penalties should not be given when a defender's arm is in a natural position close to the body. Despite these regulations, German coach Julian Nagelsmann expressed frustration post-match, "I cannot understand why it was not evaluated, even though there were 48,000 replays." "There is a rule and I hope there is no wrong decision. They applied the rule and it was not a penalty. I do not feel cheated," Nagelsmann stated, acknowledging the decision's adherence to the guidelines. However, Nagelsmann called for a reconsideration of the practicality and logic of the handball rule in football. "For me the question is about making it more practical, more logical, in terms of how this (handball) rule is assessed. I say this for football (in general) not today.—Agency

Footballer Abdullah Shah discusses challenges, growth of football in Pakistan

KARACHI: Abdullah Shah, a promising youth centre-back from Pakistan, opened up about his journey in football in an exclusive interview with The Express Tribune. Beginning his youth career with Mehran FC in 2013, Shah quickly caught the eye of selectors and earned a spot on Islamabad's under-14 team for national youth championships. His breakthrough came in 2022 when, at just 21 years old, he became the youngest Pakistani player to join a foreign league, signing with Dhivehi Fisainge Club in the Maldives' second division. Subsequently, he received a call-up to Pakistan's senior national team in August 2022, culminating in his debut against Nepal later that year. "After returning from Maldives, I received a call from the Pakistan football national team and made my debut against Nepal. Although I played well, we lost the match," Shah said. Beyond his football pursuits, Shah has also dabbled in futsal, notably participating in Neymar Jr's 5 tournament in Brazil with Chitral Futsal Club Highlanders FC in 2017, where he had the honor of meeting Neymar himself. "I went to the Neymar Junior League in Brazil, where I met Neymar. It was a big moment for me to meet Neymar and watch him play in his own tournament," Shah said. Currently playing for Abu Muslim in the Afghanistan Champions League, the young centre-back remains optimistic about his future with the national team, despite his current absence from the squad. "I believe in Allah, and I trust that He is the best planner. Life has its ups and downs, and I'm working hard, hoping to return to the national team if God wills it. My family has been very supportive, as have my coaches and relatives. When Pakistan was banned, many boys left football due to financial and family pressures. It was a difficult time for me, and I questioned whether I should continue. However, my family encouraged me to persevere and not give up on the path I had chosen," he said.—Agency
