Government To Ban PTI, File Treason Charges Against Imran Khan And Arif Alvi: Atta Tarar

ISLAMABAD: Upping the ante against the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI), the federal government has decided to ban the former ruling party as well as file references against PTI founder Imran Khan and former president Arif Alvi for treason under Article 6.

"PTI and Pakistan cannot co-exist," Tarar told a press conference in Islamabad, saying that the matter would go to the federal cabinet and the Supreme Court.

The decisions, as per Tarar, were taken in light of the former ruling party's involvement in the May 9 events and the PTI's former or current leaders' attempts to sabotage Pakistan's deal with the International Monetary Fund (IMF).

The development comes following PTI Vice Chairman Shah Mahmood Qureshi's indictment in cases related to the May 9 riots and Khan's arrest in cases pertaining to the incidents taking place on the day.

Touching upon the foreign funding issue, the information minister said that the PTI failed to defend itself in the foreign funding case wherein, he claimed, the ex-ruling party received funds from Indian-born United States citizens.

"Why did you [PTI] seek a stay order [in said case] for six years?" he questioned, adding that the Khan-founded party had nothing to say in its defence.

Stressing that whoever provides financial support to a political party, does so with the hopes that the party would serve its interests if it comes to power, Tarar said that the PTI failed to explain and defend itself regarding the funds received by certain lobbyists abroad, including Israeli ones.

Reflecting on the May 9 riots, triggered after Khan's arrest in a graft case wherein party workers and supporters vandalised several military installations, the minister said that the PTI founder targeted national interests for his own personal ones.

"Your whole family was involved in those attacks. Your three sisters were present outside the [Lahore] core commander's house," he said. He also censured the PTI's government for allegedly providing safe havens to terrorists and resettling them.

"Who gave you the right to re-settle the Taliban [in] and attack the institution that is responsible for guaranteeing the country's sovereignty," he noted.

Treason cases against PTI leaders

Speaking about the time when the then-government decided to dissolve the assemblies during the no-confidence motion against Khan, the minister said the ruling alliance has also decided to move a reference against the then-prime minister, then-president Arif Alvi and then National Assembly deputy speaker Qasim Suri.

He said that this reference, under Article 6, will be during the February 8 general elections — underscored that the party, despite creating a narrative on the US intervention behind Khan's ouster, was involved in lobbying in Washington.

"Our ambassador in US Asad Majeed said that there was no threat [but] you [PTI] still maintained that it was otherwise," he said, adding that the party damaged the country's relations with other countries for its own interests.

Lambasting the former ruling party, Tarar said that a perception has been made that the party is "untouchable" despite its leaders being involved in May 9 cases, iddat case or £190 million case.

"He [Khan] was the worst fascist leader. He inherited the pattern of putting mothers and sisters to jail," said the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) leader.

The information minister, speaking about mending ties with the PTI, said that the government's patience and tolerance were considered its weakness.

"No more," said Tarar. "Enough is enough. They have played with the country's fate too much," he added. —RT/Agency

PPP Opposes PTI Ban, Urges Political Resolution

LAHORE: General Secretary of the Pakistan People's Party (PPP) Central Punjab, Hasan Murtaza, criticised the decision to impose restrictions on political parties and Article 6 sanctions on PTI leaders, deeming it unjustified.

PPP leader emphasised that political disagreements should not lead to the dissolution of any party and stressed the importance of political entities adhering to democratic norms.

Murtaza clarified that Article 6, historically applied to former Generals Musharraf and Zia-ul-Haq but not enforced against political leaders or workers, does not encompass leaders and workers of political parties.

Read Non-bailable warrants issued for top PTI leader

He further stated that imposing restrictions cannot eliminate any political party, advocating instead for dialogue as the primary solution to national issues.

Just days after the Supreme Court resurrected PTI, the PML-N-led ruling coalition decided on Monday that a reference will be sent to the top court seeking a ban on PTI, adding that the government will also initiate Article 6 (high treason) proceedings against ex-PM Imran Khan, ex-President Dr Arif Alvi and ex-deputy speaker Qasim Suri for dissolving the National Assembly back in April 2022. In a press conference, Federal Minister for Information & Broadcasting Attaullah Tarar announced that the ruling alliance has also decided to challenge the recent decision of the Supreme Court through which it declared that the PTI is entitled to have reserved seats in the assembly, saying the government would file a review petition against the ruling. —RT/Agency

PTI Founder, Alvi, And Suri To Face Article 6 Charges

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan's government has decided to file a reference before a Supreme Court to try former prime minister and PTI founder Imran Khan, former president, Arif Alvi and former deputy speaker NA, Qasim Suri under Article 6.

Information Minister Attaullah Tarar announced this in a press conference on Monday. The reference will be forwarded to Supreme Court after approval from the federal cabinet, he added.

The minister said the country had been toyed with a lot and if there has to be any development in the country, Pakistan and the PTI could not co-exist.

The minister further said the government believed that under Article 17 of the Constitution, it was empowered to ban political parties, adding that looking at the "evidence", the PTI should be banned. "They tried to sabotage the IMF deal," he alleged.

The Information Minister said the government and its allied parties have also decided to file a review petition against Supreme Court's judgment in the reserved seats case.

He emphasised that the judgment has legal lacunae and that they have strong legal grounds to file the review. He pointed out that the PTI had not sought relief in the case.

The Information Minister said the government will complete all these processes while remaining within the domain of law and constitution. He said these matters will be taken forward so that in future nobody could dare to violate the constitution, hurt the national interests and attack the defense institutions. —RT/Agency

PTI Calls Government's Ban Attempt Desperate And Illegal

ISLAMABAD: The Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) said on Monday that the federal government was attempting to ban the party "out of desperation" as the Supreme Court had ruled in its favour in the reserved seats case. Speaking to Geo News, senior PTI leader Senator Ali Zafar said his party would not allow the decision's implementation "even for a second" as it is against the law of the land. Zafar's comments came in response to Information Minister Attaullah Tarar's announcement that the government had decided to ban the PTI and file treason references against the party founder Imran Khan and former president Arif Alvi. "As far as their announcement of banning PTI is concerned, I believe that they live in a world which exists outside the law. There's no provision in the law that allows the government to resort to such a move." "The senator further said: "This statement itself disqualifies him [Tarar], and even if they think about such an impossible thing, then the courts are present and so are we. We will not allow such a decision to be implemented even for a second." Taking a jibe at the information minister, Zafar said he thinks the minister spoke out of "desperation" after the reserved seat's judgement. "This is an illegal decision" Article 6, review plea. The decision to not only ban the party, but file treason cases against the leaders was based on a number of factors, including the proven charge that Khan's PTI had received foreign funds from sources that are illegal in Pakistan, as well as rioting by the party's leadership and supporters last year that targeted military installations, Minister Tarar said. —RT/Agency

PML-N Split Over PTI Ban Decision

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan Muslim League (PML-N) is reportedly divided over the federal government's decision to ban Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI), media reported citing sources.

According to an inside story of the party's meeting revealed by sources, the PML-N leadership has differing opinions on the matter, with some leaders expressing reservations over the government's political strategy.

The party's meeting, which was scheduled to discuss the ban on PTI, was postponed due to internal disagreements.

A senior party leader told sources that they were not invited to the meeting because they would have expressed opposing views, which could

Government Lacks Authority To Ban Any Political Party: Shahid Khaqan

ISLAMABAD: Former prime minister Shahid Khaqan Abbasi has said that the government has no mandate to impose ban on a political party, media reported on Monday.

Convener Awam Pakistan Party (APP), talking to media said that if the Article six invoked against anyone that those in government today could also face it.

He was commenting on the government's decision to ban the opposition's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI).

have led to disagreements.

Another leader said that they are against ban on any political party being banned, but will stand with the party's decision.

It is pertinent to mention here that the federal government has decided to ban Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI).

Federal Information Minister Ata Tarar said in a presser that Article 17 of the constitution empowers the federal government to ban a political party. He said there is credible evidence to support a ban on the PTI and cited the party's involvement in foreign funding, the May 9 incident, its role in the resettlement of terrorists in Pakistan, the cipher episode, and the resolution passed in the United States. —RT/Agency

Terrorism Attempt Foiled At Bannu Cantt

PESHAWAR: The security forces foiled terrorists' attempt to launch an attack at the Cantonment Board Bannu (CBB) in Peshawar, Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, sources told media on Monday.

According to the people familiar with the development, the terrorists bombed the road between Bannu Cantt's wall and the supply depot at 4:40am.

The terrorists, who were inside a vehicle, detonated an improvised explosive device (IED). The police said that those who sustained injuries were brought to the district headquarters hospital.

The sources revealed that the terrorists tried entering the Cantt but the security forces foiled their attempt by taking timely action and cornered the militants.

They added that the security forces began a clearance operation in the area following the attack.

The incident comes as violence and casualty rates across the country plummeted in the second quarter of 2024, according to the Centre for Research and Security Studies (CRSS) Annual Security report.

Non-Bailable Arrest Warrants Issued For PTI MNA Sher Afzal Marwat

ISLAMABAD: A local court on Monday issued non-bailable arrest warrants for Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) leader Sher Afzal Marwat in a case pertaining to his alleged involvement in illegal construction.

A case was lodged in Naserabad Police Station against Marwat, wherein he was accused of illegal construction on a piece of land near the Thalian Motorway Interchange, without obtaining permission from the authorities.

The judicial magistrate directed the police to arrest the MNA and produce him before the court on July 30.

The order comes after the former ruling party accused the government of using various tactics to coerce PTI leaders to change their allegiance after the Supreme Court verdict pertaining to the reserved seats. PTI Chairman Gohar Khan said on Saturday his party had prepared a list of MNAs, including Marwat, in compliance with the apex court verdict.

Talking to journalists in Adiala jail, he had said they would submit the lists to the Election Commission of Pakistan within 15 days.

Seeking the top court's intervention to resolve the matter, Gohar claimed on Sunday that lawmakers of his party were being forced to switch their loyalties.

He condemned the "abduction" of PTI leaders and their family members — including MNA Sahibzada Ameer Sultan, PTI media wing member Rizwan Malik, Mian Fayyaz Ahmad Chajra's son Mian Tajamal Hussain and brother Mian Intiaz Hussain and other social media activists. —RT/Agency

The Ban

The government's decision to ban Pakistan's largest political party, the PTI, has sparked widespread concern among civil society, raising critical questions about democracy and constitutional rights. This move, described as "ridiculous" and "desperate" by various legal and political experts, threatens to undermine the very fabric of the nation's democratic principles.

Banning a political party is not only a drastic measure but one that history has shown to be fraught with peril. The dissolution of the National Awami Party during the Bhutto regime serves as a grim reminder of the potential for political instability such actions can unleash. Pakistan's constitution, under Article 17, ensures citizens the right to form political parties, emphasizing that any restrictions must be reasonable and justified in the interest of the nation's sovereignty and integrity. The government's reliance on this article to justify its actions against PTI raises significant legal and ethical questions.

Legal experts, such as Barrister Asad Rahim, argue that banning PTI would equate to silencing the voice of a substantial portion of the electorate, effectively disenfranchising millions. This sentiment is echoed by politicians and journalists who fear that such a move would not only destroy democracy but also erode public trust in the government and judicial processes.

The reference to the Supreme Court, as mandated by Article 17, must be approached with utmost caution and transparency. The court's role in upholding constitutional values is crucial, and any decision to dissolve a political party must be based on irrefutable evidence and legal merits, not political expediency. The lessons from Pakistan's political history underscore the dangers of using bans and legal proceedings as tools of political retribution. The government's actions must be scrutinized not only for their immediate impact but also for their long-term implications on the nation's democratic health. As Pakistan navigates this contentious issue, it is imperative that all stakeholders prioritize democratic norms, legal integrity, and the will of the people.

Maulana Muhammad Ilyas Attari Qadri stresses need for following the message of Karbala

By Saleem Soomro

LARKANA: In the field of Karbala, the sacrifice of Hazrat Imam Hussain (AS), the eternal symbol of the Prophet Muhammad's (PBUH) mission, holds a significant place in history. Hazrat Imam Hussain (AS) did not offer his sacrifice for worldly gain or acclaim, but rather as a beacon of truth and justice that reverberates through the ages. In this commemorative gathering held on the 8th of Muharram, thousands of lovers of the Holy Prophet (PBUH) assembled to hear Maulana Muhammad Ilyas Attan Qadri emphasize the significance of martyrdom in Karbala. Maulana Ilyas stressed that Karbala is a place of learning where the essence of Hussainiyat's message must be understood. The philosophy of martyrdom serves to protect humanity from the tyranny of Yazid's arrogance. Reflecting on these teachings, it becomes clear that God Almighty is pleased with those who sacrifice their lives in His path as martyrs. Their blood irrigates the earth, and their sacrifice is an unparalleled example in the history of the world. We must comprehend the philosophy of Karbala's martyrdom and strive to embody its principles in our transient and ephemeral worldly existence. May Allah grant us a life of virtue, righteousness, patience, and gratitude, inspired by the noble martyrs of Karbala.

Lionel Messi becomes football's most decorated player

Argentina's star player Lionel Messi has secured his legacy as one of the greatest footballers of all time with his national team's latest victory in the Copa America final, after defeating Colombia 1-0.

The win marked Messi, 37, and his team's second Copa America triumph and his historic 45th trophy with both club and country, surpassing the record previously held by Brazil's Dani Alves, India Today reported.

This feat highlights Messi's remarkable journey to become the most decorated player in football history.

How many trophies does Messi have?

Once criticised for his lack of international stardom, the Argentina captain has now won four major trophies with Argentina in just three years, including one World Cup, two Copa Americas, and a Finalissima from 2021 to 2024.

The former Barcelona star has also won four Champions League titles and 10 La Liga championships.

Individually, Messi has clinched a record eight Ballon d'Or awards and six European Golden Boots.

Out of Messi's 45 titles, 39 have been achieved during his 17-year tenure with Barcelona. His accolades include 12 league titles (10 with Barcelona, two with PSG), four UEFA Champions Leagues (all with Barcelona), and 17 domestic cups (15 with Barcelona, one each with PSG and Inter Miami).

Additionally, he has won the UEFA Super Cup three times and the FIFA Club World Cup three times.

With Argentina, Messi's victories include the 2005 U-17 World Cup, the 2008 Olympic Games, the 2021 Copa America, the 2021 Finalissima, and most memorably, the 2022 World Cup, where Argentina triumphed over France in the final.—Agency

Argentina beat Colombia to win second consecutive Copa America title

Defending champions Argentina won a record 16th Copa America title by beating Colombia 1-0, thanks to a late extra-time goal from substitute Lautaro Martinez after an end-to-end contest at the Hard Rock Stadium in Florida on Sunday.

Inter Milan striker Martinez, the tournament's leading goalscorer, latched onto a precise through ball from Giovanni Lo Celso before lifting his effort over advancing Colombia goalkeeper Camilo Vargas in the 112th minute, Reuters reported.

Argentina's latest title comes on the back of their triumphs at the 2022 World Cup and 2021 Copa America.

The game was delayed by more than an hour after thousands of unruly fans without tickets, breaching security gates two hours before the game.

With this win, Argentina marks its third major international crown they earned in a three-year span, after winning the Qatar World Cup in 2022 and the Copa America title in 2021.

Argentina's best player, Messi, 37, suffered a knee injury in the 64th minute of the game when he tried to run but fell to the pitch, and immediately signaled for trainers.

Messi's right cleat and captain band was removed, and he slowly limped to the Argentine bench before bursting into tears.

His right foot was visibly swollen after sustaining an ankle injury.

Colombia was unable to extend its 28-game unbeaten streak. They've lost their last two matches against Argentina.—Agency

I struggled in the last three months, but that's the beauty of cricket. Suddenly you start performing, and hopefully, that continues with Pakistan as well," he further added.

Earlier this month, Shadab took a hat-trick on his LPL debut. He dismissed Kandy Falcons' captain Wanindu Hasaranga, Salman Ali Agha, and Pavan Rathnayake, finishing with figures of 4/22.

PCB goes back to 'old model' of one-year central contracts, no pay cuts

LAHORE: The Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) Monday announced going back to its old model of granting a one-year central contract to the national side's players, conditional to their performance.

Among several decisions taken during a meeting of the board's top brass, the officials decided against cutting the salaries of the players, who are under fire after their dismal T20 World Cup 2024.

The monthly salaries of the players and their income were under discussion after the Pakistani side failed to live up to the fans' expectations and crashed out of the tournament before even entering the Super 8 stage.

In a statement, the board said: "The central contract's tenure will be of a year. The players' performance and fitness will be reviewed every per month.

Meanwhile, Shadab Khan, Fakhar Zaman, Haris Rauf, and Naseem Shah are paid Rs3 million per month in Category B.

Category C players are paid between Rs750,000 to Rs1.5 million per month and include players such as Imad Wasim.

Meanwhile, Category D players are also paid the same as Category C and include players with the likes of Iftikhar Ahmed, Hasan Ali, Saim Ayub and others.

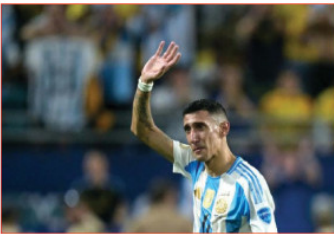

It is to be noted that the aforesaid figures reflect only the monthly salaries of the players who also earn match fees and win bonuses across all three formats (Test, ODI, T20I) along with sponsorship perks.

The existing three-year central contracts were awarded last year and came into effect from July 1, 2023, after the then-PCB chairman Zaka Ashraf was pressurised by players for increased remunerations, sources had told Geo News.

NOCs and 'grouping'

The statement further added that a technical process for issuing non-objection certificates (NOC) to the players would be worked out and those who would fulfil the requirements would be granted the NOC.—Agency

Copa final was dream farewell says Di Maria

MIAMI: Argentina winger Angel Di Maria said Sunday's Copa America triumph over Colombia was the perfect dream ending to his career with the national team.

A 1-0 win after extra-time secured a third straight major title for the Albiceleste following their 2021 Copa win and their World Cup triumph the following year.

The 36-year-old winger had announced in November that he would retire from international duty after the tournament.

"I dreamt it, that's why I said it was the last Copa America and it ended here. I dreamt that I would reach the final, I dreamt that I would win it, that I would retire like this," he said.

Argentine coach Lionel Scaloni took Di Maria off in the final minutes of extra-time, ensuring he received a huge farewell from the team's fans which his eyes showed he was moved by. "I have so many beautiful feelings. I am eternally grateful to this generation, they gave me everything, they made me achieve what I wanted so much, and today I am leaving in this way, how better than this?" he said.

Di Maria, had been part of a generation with Lionel Messi who won the Olympics in 2008 but then struggled for silverware, missing out in the final stages of tournaments to the frustration of the nation.

But the 'Triple Crown', which also hands Argentina a record 16th Copa, confirms Lionel Scaloni's team's place among the greats of South American football.

"It seems easy but it is very difficult. I know because I lived on the other side too for ten, 11 years, fighting for it," said the Benfica winger.—Agency

Sublime Spain strike late to win record fourth Euro crown

Spain's Mikel Oyarzabal scored four minutes from time as they capped a dominant Euro 2024 campaign with a deserved 2-1 win over England in Sunday's showpiece for a record fourth title and condemned their opponents to a second straight final defeat.

Oyarzabal finished off a swift counter-attack for the winner after England had fought back from a goal down for the fourth successive match and seemingly earned extra-time.

"I have done my job," said Oyarzabal, who came on for captain Alvaro Morata after 67 minutes. "Just the fact of being in the 26, you value it a lot. It happened to me but could have happened to anyone." Spain manager Luis de la Fuente added: "I couldn't be happier. A real but England's Phil Foden managed the only shot on target, the Spaniards struck two minutes after the restart, despite losing influential midfielder Rodri to injury at the break. Teenager Lamine Yamal, who had been shackled completely in the first half, finally found space down the right and crossed for Nico Williams to slot home past goalkeeper Jordan Pickford.

Spain then enjoyed a purple patch with a series of sharp attacks as England's previously watertight defence lost its shape and Dani Olmo, Morata and Williams all had good chances.—Agency

Spain players always believed in me, says Euros winner De la Fuente

BERLIN: Spain coach Luis de la Fuente celebrated his players for delivering a record fourth European Championship on Sunday, saying they always believed in him, while others didn't.

De la Fuente replaced Luis Enrique after Spain crashed out of the 2022 World Cup in the last 16 but many doubted whether the 63-year-old had the experience or quality to help La Roja end a decade-long trophy drought.

After a humiliating Euros qualifying defeat by Scotland in March 2023 in his second match in charge, some Spanish media suggested the coach, who had worked with Spain's youth sides, could even be on the brink of the sack already.

However, Spain recovered well and have not lost a competitive match since, beating prior holders Italy, hosts Germany and one of the pre-tournament favourites in France on the way to the Euro 2024 final, where they edged England 2-1. "I was sure that my players believed in me... For a year and a half they have been infallible," De la Fuente told reporters. "The only thing that I was worried about was that the players believed in me and were convinced by what we said."

"Now it's all happiness, pride and enjoying this moment that we have earned -- nobody gave us anything for free."—Agency

On Sunday, July 14, the songstress took to her official X account (formerly known as Twitter), and wished good luck to team England before their Euro 2024 finale but things did not go in the right direction for Katy.

"She penned down on social media, 'FOOTBALL IS COMING HOME,' and closed the sentence with a flag emoji that does not belong to England, squashing her spirit of enthusiasm. It seems like the singer got confused while selecting emojis as she opted for the flag of the United Kingdom instead.

However, before any clarification would have come, fans rushed to correct her mistake.

One social media user pointed out, "This is the flag (England flag) You're welcome." Another wrote, "Thanks sis next time try to use the correct flag." "Katy, it's (England flag emoji). Quite sure that the rest of the UK won't be cheering for England," a third follower corrected her.

Civil society slams PTI ban, treason reference against Imran and Arif Alvi KARACHI: The federal government has announced that it plans to ban Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) in its bid to intensify measures against the former ruling party.

Information Minister Attaullah Tarar made the announcement during a press conference in Islamabad where he also revealed the government's plans to file references against PTI founder Imran Khan and former president Arif Alvi for treason under Article 6.

The decision was based on a number of factors including the proven charge that Khan's PTI had received foreign funds from sources that are illegal in Pakistan, as well as the party's involvement in May 9 riots.

Analysts and experts have also given their take on the ban on PTI.

'Not an unprecedented measure' Reacting to the government's decision to ban PTI, veteran journalist Hamid Mir said that it was "not an unprecedented measure."

Mir said: "Several government ministers have previously signalled that PTI and Pakistan can't work together and they have discussed a ban as well.

"This discussion began when Shehbaz Sharif became PM in 2022, and talks over this were intensified especially after May 9."

He said that previously, the government believed that if a reference were to be filed against PTI, it would have been difficult with PTI leader Arif Alvi serving as president at the time and the reference would not be forwarded.

However, with Alvi no more serving as president, this decision to ban PTI seems to have been taken yesterday during a meeting led by former PM Nawaz Sharif.

'Desperate move' Anchorperson Shahzeb Khanzada said the government's announcing to ban the PTI, just two days after the Supreme Court ruling that declared the former ruling party a parliamentary party, was a desperate move.

He said 11 out of 13 judges of the apex court, including the chief justice, had recognised the PTI as a parliamentary party.

'Are you responding to the PTI (through this move) or the SC. If you are responding to the SC then you are responding to the current chief justice, the next CJ and the CJ after that as well," he said.

The journalist said the government would itself have to approach the top court for implementation of the government decision, as it has already announced.—RT/Agency

K-Electric apprises SHC about Karachi load shedding

KARACHI: K-Electric submitted its reply in the Sindh High Court (SHC) on Monday over loadshedding during the "heatwave" in Karachi, media reported.

The court hearing a petition of Jamaat-e-Islami with regard to the loadshedding and unannounced power outages in Karachi during the heatwave by the city's sole power utility.

The K-Electric in its reply said that technical faults could not be counted in loadshedding. The power utility repeated its claim that 70 pct feeders of Karachi have been exempted from loadshedding.

"The power supply affected at 30 pct feeders over action against power theft," the company claimed.

The KE in its reply further claimed that loadshedding did not happen from June 24 to 27 from 1:30 to 4:30.

K-Electric also arranged relief camps in different areas during loadshedding," the company said.

"A plan for increasing power generation has been submitted to the NEPRA," the power company stated.

"Under the plan 95% feeders will be free from power outages and loadshedding by 2029-30," the reply read.

The court summoned arguments over the reply of the company and adjourned further hearing of the case until August 15.

The petitioner had pleaded to the court to direct the K-Electric to ensure an uninterrupted power supply especially during the heatwave.

"K-Electric's claim of 71% power feeders as loadshedding free in the city has been wrong," JI petition read.

"Technical faults are also the responsibility of the power supplier, which required to be addressed."

"The city has been undergoing average 16 hours loadshedding daily," The Ministry of Energy, NEPRA and K-Electric have been made respondents in the petition.—RT/Agency

SC Cannot Amend Constitution, Only Parliament Can: Rana Sanaulah On Reserved Seats Verdict

ISLAMABAD: Commenting on the recent Supreme Court's verdict on reserved seats' case, Prime Minister's Adviser on Political and Public Affairs Rana Sanaulah has said that the ruling does not match the clear orders written in the Constitution for independent candidates who are willing to join political parties.

The senior leader of the ruling Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) criticised the top court's verdict for which he claimed that it violated Article 51 and relevant clauses which clearly bound independent candidates to join political parties within three days after elections. Sanaulah was talking to Geo News programme Naya Pakistan on Sunday in which he emphasised that the Constitution provides clear instructions for dealing with independent candidates and the allocation of reserved seats among political parties without any vagueness.

The decision has not only paved the way for the PTI's return to parliament, which was kicked out of the February 8 polls owing to the ECP's December 2023 ruling, but has also increased the pressure on the coalition alliance by changing the composition of the National Assembly.

He said that the prosecution had an equal right to pursue trials like the former premier possessed the right to defend himself. The lawyer-cum-politician said that no one had stopped the PTI founder from knocking on the doors of the courts against his arrest.

Khan and his wife Bushra Bibi were arrested in a new NAB reference related to Toshakhana gifts yesterday soon after getting acquitted in the iddat case — also known as the un-Islamic nikah case — which was the last hurdle in the couple's release from jail.

The couple was sentenced to seven years in prison and awarded a fine of Rs500,000 each, in February this year after a trial court found their nikah to be fraudulent as Khawar Maneka, Bushra's ex-husband, moved the court against the couple's marriage. —RT/Agency

PTI MPs Being Coerced To Defect: Gohar

ISLAMABAD: Seeking the Supreme Court's intervention to resolve the matter, Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) Chairman Gohar Ali Khan said Sunday parliamentary members of his party were being forced to switch their loyalties, media reported.

Talking to media, Gohar condemned the "abduction" of PTI officials and their family members — including MNA Sahibzada Ameer Sultan, PTI media wing member Rizwan Malik, Mian Fayyaz Ahmad Chajra's son Mian Tajamal Hussain and brother Mian Imtiaz Hussain and other social media activists.

On this occasion, the PTI chairman was flanked by PTI Information Secretary Raaf Hasan, MNAs Atif Khan and Sheikh Waqas. The PTI leadership urged the top court to ensure implementation of its historic judgment pertaining to the reserved seats, taking notice of the harassment and abduction of PTI parliamentary members and their relatives.

He emphasised that the party remained united despite adversarial circumstances, enjoying 70% public support because of Imran Khan's 27-year-long political struggle. Gohar urged the Supreme Court to fix the PTI's petition on abductions and ensure the release of kidnapped individuals.

Meanwhile, Gohar apprised media that 25 independent MNAs had submitted their affidavits to join the PTI, while the remaining would submit theirs by Monday (today). The ECP should upload their candidates list and notify the reserved seats instantly, he asked.

Aiif emphasised that the country must be governed in accordance with the law and Constitution, as reliance on the use of brute force, coercion and harassment would only lead to a surge in barbarism. Waqas said that after May 9, a reign of terror was unleashed to force defections, alleging even children being abducted. Raouf reiterated his party's demand to try the chief election commissioner (CEC) under Article 6 for conducting the "most fraudulent" elections in the country's history. —RT/Agency

PML-N Seeks Review Of SC's Reserved Seats Ruling

ISLAMABAD: The Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) on Monday filed a review petition in the Supreme Court against reserved seats verdict that declared the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) eligible for the reserved seats for minorities and women.

The ruling party has nominated 11 respondents in the plea including the Sunni Ittehad Council (SIC) and its chairman Hamid Raza, praying the court to suspend its ruling dated July 12, 2024, on the reserved seats.

The petitioner claimed the apex court's verdict was silent on some points. The review petition asked a number of questions including whether the SIC should be granted the reserved seats.

It questioned if reserved seats could be granted to a political party who had not submitted a party list within the prescribed time, whether a political party can be given reserved seats whose candidates have not even filed nomination papers within the time provided by the Election Commission of Pakistan and if independents could even join a political party which did not win a single general seat in parliament. The plea also raised question if the seats could be left vacant or have to be distributed amongst the political parties contesting for the said seats.

The decision not only paved the way for the PTI's return to the parliament, which was kicked out of the February 8 polls owing to the ECP's December 2023 ruling, but has also increased the pressure on the coalition alliance by changing the composition of the National Assembly.

Hang Me, But Save The Country: Rashid Appeals To Leaders

RAWALPINDI: Awami Muslim League leader and former interior minister, Sheikh Rashid, has raised serious concerns about the worsening state of the country and its economy.

Speaking to the media outside Rawalpindi's Adiala Jail, Rashid emphasized the gravity of the situation, noting that during his five-year tenure as a minister, he had shown leniency and now appeals to the establishment for a general amnesty.

Earlier in the day, the federal government and its coalition partners decided to file a review petition against the Supreme Court's ruling, which declared the PTI eligible for reserved seats, a decision that dashed its hopes of gaining a two-thirds majority in Parliament.

Addressing a press conference on Monday, Federal Minister for Information Attaulah Tarar stated, "In the recent decision, undue relief was granted to Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI), prompting us to seek a review."

Rashid also criticized the impending increase in electricity rates, warning that the country is on the brink of chaos, stating, "You want to create such turmoil that it becomes unmanageable. This is not the job of politicians. The poor are suffering immensely. The country is heading towards a state similar to Kenya. Conditions in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa and Balochistan are dire. People are cursing this government. For God's sake, save your honour and the country."

He further commented on the current administration's inability to stabilize the economy, predicting that Nawaz Sharif would introduce a new narrative, leaving the public humiliated. Questioning the release of Rashid. —RT/Agency

Imran Khan, Rashid stated, "They keep saying he's coming, but he isn't. One grave and three bodies: Nawaz, Shehbaz, their fate will soon be decided. One will flee to the East, the other to the West."

Shah Mahmood Indicted In May 9 Case By Anti-Terrorism Court

LAHORE: An anti-terrorism court on Monday indicted Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) top leader Shah Mahmood Qureshi in a May 9 riots case.

Qureshi, who was brought to Kot Lakhpat jail from Adiala jail under tight security, has several cases related to May 9 including arman filed against him at the Shadman police station.

The court had summoned the PTI leader to initiate indictment proceedings against him.

The court has ordered to present witnesses in the next hearing, which is scheduled to take place on July 22.

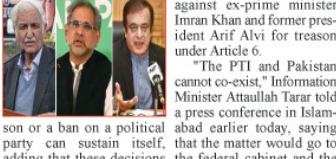

However, the Islamabad High Court (IHC) in June nullified Qureshi's conviction in the cipher case registered under the Official Secrets Act.

The May 9 riots were triggered almost across the country after the deposed prime minister Imran Khan's arrest in the £190 million settlement case. Hundreds of PTI workers and senior leaders were put behind the bars for their involvement in violence and attacks on military installations last year.

During the protests, the mercenaries targeted the civil and military installations including — the Jinnah House and General Headquarters (GHQ) in Rawalpindi. The military termed May 9 "Black Day" and decided to try the protesters under the Army Act. —RT/Agency

"Childish And Unconstitutional": Parties Slam PML-N's PTI Ban Plan

ISLAMABAD: Several political forces have joined the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) in strongly condemning the ruling coalition's potential move revealed by Federal Information Minister Attaulah Tarar to ban the Imran Khan-founded party, terming it "childish" and "unconstitutional".

Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) leader Farhatullah Babar dubbed banning a political party "absurd", saying, "It is also absurd to talk about launching a treason case against a political leader."

The former foreign minister, currently imprisoned in Rawalpindi's Adiala jail on multiple charges, was indicted in eight more cases related to the May 9 unrest earlier this year. In addition to those cases, against ex-prime minister Imran Khan and former president Arif Alvi for treason under Article 6.

"The PTI and Pakistan cannot co-exist," Information Minister Attaulah Tarar told a press conference in Islamabad earlier today, saying that the matter would go to the federal cabinet and the Supreme Court. The information minister said the decisions were taken in light of the former ruling party's involvement in the May 9 riots and the PTI's former or current leaders' attempts to sabotage Pakistan's deal with the International Monetary Fund (IMF). —RT/Agency

Democracy Or Civil Martial Law? PTI Urges Clarity From Government Allies On Ban Plan

ISLAMABAD: The PTI, without naming the PML-N, demanded invoking Article 6 of the Constitution against those who undertook the unconstitutional steps despite the fact that there is a Constitution in the country, calling on allies of the ruling coalition government to clear their position on plan to ban the former ruling party.

Addressing a press conference in Islamabad on Monday, the party leadership also condemned the federal government's decision to ban the Imran Khan-founded party. Earlier today, the federal government decided to impose a ban on the former ruling party after filing references against ex-prime minister Imran Khan and former president Arif Alvi for treason under Article 6.

he claimed, predicting the power tariff would touch Rs100 per unit. "The dollar has been artificially pegged at Rs275, the greenback will surmount to Rs350."

The PTI and Pakistan cannot co-exist," Information Minister Attaulah Tarar told a press conference in Islamabad earlier today, saying that the matter would go to the federal cabinet and the Supreme Court. The information minister said the decisions were taken in light of the former ruling party's involvement in the May 9 riots and the PTI's former or current leaders' attempts to sabotage Pakistan's deal with the International Monetary Fund (IMF). Leader of the Opposition in the National Assembly Omar Ayub Khan claimed the allies of the ruling coalition, including the Pakistan Peoples Party
