KP Government To Form Commission To Investigate Bannu Incident

PESHAWAR: The Khyber Pakhtunkhwa government on Saturday announced to form a commission to conduct a transparent investigation into the Bannu incident in which at least four people were killed while several others sustained injuries.

The development comes a day after the civilians were killed in a firing incident during a protest rally in Bannu district against the worsening law and order.

The protest was staged on the call of the trader community, where a complete shutter-down strike was observed. They were demanding action against the armed groups operating in the city and its adjoining areas.

Many people were also injured due to the stampede. KP Chief Minister Ali Amin Gandapur has taken notice of the ongoing situation in Bannu and announced the formation of a commission for transparent investigation of the incident, said Adviser on Information Barrister Muhammad Ali Saif.

The adviser said that the commission will conduct a transparent and impartial investigation and submit its report which will be made public and legal action will be taken against those responsible.

He also said that the commission's report would identify those who were involved in the incident, stressing that rumours and unverified allegations should be avoided before the report.

Barrister Saif said that the security is usually on high alert in sensitive places. He highlighted that the sensitive nature of the area was also the reason behind the incident. He advised the people to remain careful amid the ongoing wave of terrorism. —RT/Agency

Teflon Nawaz Admits Power Bills Are Unaffordable For Many, Laments Current State Of Affairs

LAHORE: Criticising the decisions of the previous rulers, ruling Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) President Nawaz Sharif said Saturday that the country "is not being treated well which was achieving development goals and got rid of the International Monetary Fund (IMF)."

"Justice is offered to a man roaming in the street," said Nawaz who stepped down as prime minister in 2017 after the Supreme Court disqualified him for not declaring a receivable salary.

"What is the need [of such decisions] which increased sufferings of this country," the former premier questioned, lamenting that the country was unsuccessfully achieving the milestones of development and prosperity before his ouster from power.

He made the statement while chairing a high-level session alongside Punjab Chief Minister Maryam Nawaz to review matters related to the CM Solar Panel Scheme 2024 in Lahore today.

"Electricity bills become a trouble for everyone [...] not only for poor people but for everyone," he added. The PML-N president claimed that his government "eliminated loadshedding and controlled electricity rates."

He also took credit for maintaining a low inflation rate and a stable currency, as well as "getting rid of the IMF" programme but all positive efforts went in vain after the change of regime in 2018. "All of us know well, who bring the IMF to this country, again."

"The decision-makers will have to think now and care about our people," he insisted.

He asked Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif-led administration "to do everything to provide relief to the masses."

Nawaz's statement came after cash-strapped Pakistan and the global lender reached a three-year, $7 billion bailout programme "endorsed by the federal and provincial governments", the Washington-based institution announced last week.

Regarding the new loan, PM Shehbaz, in his address to the nation, pledged that the new bailout package with the global lender will be the last in the country's history.

"The new programme, which needs to be validated by the IMF's Executive Board, should enable Pakistan to cement macroeconomic stability and create conditions for stronger, more inclusive and resilient growth," according to a statement issued by the global lender. Subsequently, tough measures in line with the IMF conditions such as raising tax on agricultural incomes and lifting electricity prices have prompted concerns about poor and middle-class Pakistanis grappling with rising inflation and the prospect of higher taxes. —RT/Agency

Pakistani Students In Bangladesh Moved To Safety Amid Deadly Protests: FO

ISLAMABAD: As the ongoing deadly protests in Bangladesh widened, Pakistani students present in the South Asian country have been moved to safety to keep them from harm, a Foreign Office spokesperson said on Saturday.

Student-led protests against the job quota have killed at least 110 people this week, with the government deploying army to quell the deadly events.

For five days police bullets have fired tear gas, rubber pellets and hurled sound grenades to scatter protesters throwing bricks and setting fire to vehicles.

Assuring the safety of the Pakistani students present in Dhaka and other cities of Bangladesh, the FO said that they had been shifted to secure locations.

The spokesperson said that Pakistan's mission in Dhaka is in contact with all the Pakistani students and the deputy head of the mission has met some of them present in Chitagon.

"All students are safe," the FO spokesperson said, adding that the Pakistani High Commission has accommodated them at safe sites.

"These include the high commission building, the Pakistani ambassador's residence, and some other safe places," the statement added.

The demonstrations — the biggest since Bangladesh Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina was re-elected for a fourth successive term this year — have also been fuelled by high unemployment among young people, who make up nearly a fifth of the population.

With the death toll climbing and police and other security forces unable to contain the protests, Hasina's government imposed a national curfew and deployed Soldiers patrolled the deserted streets of Bangladesh capital Dhaka on Saturday, setting up roadblocks during a curfew imposed in response to the protests.

Internet and text message services have remained suspended since Thursday, cutting the nation off as police cracked down on protesters who defied a ban on public gatherings. Overseas telephone calls mostly failed to connect while websites of Bangladesh-based media organisations did not update and their social media accounts remained inactive. —RT/Agency

Imran Rules Out Talks With PPP On No-Confidence Motion

ISLAMABAD: Former prime minister and PTI founder Imran Khan firmly ruled out any possibility of discussions with the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) regarding a no-confidence motion.

During an informal conversation with journalists at Adiala Jail on Saturday, Khan expressed his unwavering stance, asserting that PPP and Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) were indistinguishable and both were products of "manipulated" electoral processes.

Khan criticised the current political climate, describing it as detrimental to democracy.

He highlighted the restrictions placed on his party, stating that key leaders, including the chairman and vice chairman, were already imprisoned, yet the government still threatened further bans on the party.

He condemned this as an attack on democratic principles.

Addressing the conditions in Adiala Jail, Khan detailed the harsh treatment he faced, including unsanitary conditions and inadequate food.

He called for an investigation into the alleged poisoning and mistreatment during his imprisonment.

Khan also voiced his strong condemnation of the Bannu incident, where he claimed the military fired on unarmed civilians during a peace march.

He demanded a judicial inquiry to ensure accountability.

On the economic front, Khan criticised the government's fiscal policies, questioning the increase in the presidential budget and accusing the ruling elite of burdening the public while avoiding personal sacrifices.

He emphasised that transparent elections and economic reforms were essential for Pakistan's recovery from its current crisis.

Khan dismissed allegations related to his involvement in dissolving assemblies, stating that actions were taken in response to foreign interference, specifically referencing Donald Trump's statement.

He called for an investigation into the events of May 9, questioning why CCTV footage had not been released and why a judicial commission had not been established.

Despite facing potential lifelong imprisonment, Khan declared his readiness to stand by his principles. —RT/Agency

Assigning Political Cases To Retired Judges Is Inappropriate: Fawad

LAHORE: Former federal minister Fawad Chaudhry raises objection to the appointment of retired judges for the adjudication of political cases.

Speaking to media outside the anti-terrorism court, Lahore, where the ex-minister was due to attend the hearing of the arson case, he said it's a good gesture that the Election Commission of Pakistan was not going to file a review petition against the Supreme Court's ruling on reserved seats.

He urged the ECP to follow the Lahore High Court chief justice's decision regarding tribunals. He claimed that Punjab Chief Minister Maryam Nawaz would be in a hot seat if Form 45 is opened.

He emphasised that only serving judges, not those who retired, should be at the helm of political cases. Meanwhile, the anti-terrorism court extended the interim bails of Fawad Chaudhry and others in the arson case until Aug 7. —RT/Agency

UK Court Orders MQM-P To Pay £65,000 To Altaf Hussain

LONDON: Three Lord Justices of the UK Court of Appeal have ordered the Muttahida Qaumi Movement-Pakistan (MQM-P) to pay £65,000, which amounts to around Rs23,333,855 or Rs23.3 million, to the MQM founder Altaf Hussain before July 30, 2024, in legal costs.

Hussain won at the Court of Appeal against his former devotees at MQM-P, who defected from him in August 2016.

According to the order released by the court following a unanimous decision by three judges accepting Hussain's appeal and overturning an earlier decision favouring MQM-P, the Court of Appeal's Civil Division has ordered the MQM-P to pay £65,000 towards the costs of the appeal.

Generally, the courts order the losing party to make such payments to the claimants or winning side when such applications or petitions are opposed, to begin with, by the defendants.

The court has also permitted Hussain for the release of £77,760 into his lawyer's account — the amount he was asked to deposit earlier after the single bench judge gave a decision against him.

MQM spokesperson Mustafa Azizabadi told media that Hussain will soon be launching a claim of over £100,000 at the court against MQM-P for the legal costs incurred during the first part of the trial before the Insolvency and Companies Judge Jones. MQM-P leader and the claimant in the case Syed Aminul Haque told media over the phone from Karachi that he will instruct his lawyer in London to comply with the court orders.

The former federal law minister said: "We are a rule of law party. We will comply with all court orders. We won unequivocally before the Insolvency and Companies Judge Jones and we will win again. MQM-London is making it as if the case is over. It's not." The UK Court of Appeal has sent the case back to the lower court to look at a few unresolved issues. We are confident we will win there, again.

The UK properties belong to MQM-P and we will get these properties for the benefit of the families or our workers and our martyrs." —RT/Agency

Business Community Condemns Excessive Power Tariffs

KARACHI: Pakistan's business community leaders on Saturday unanimously demanded of the government for decreasing power rates, media reported.

"We have to pay 2,100 billion rupees for capacity charges this year," the chambers of commerce of Karachi, Lahore, Multan and Faisalabad have said. "Either the government save 240 million people of the country or 42 IPPs," the chambers of officials said while commenting over the inflated power tariffs in the country.

Senior Vice President of Faisalabad Chamber of Commerce and Industries (FCCI) Sajjad Arshad said that the traders are not rioters, but the water has now gone above the head. "If the problem not resolved promptly, it could go beyond the control," he warned.

"There are 130 independent power producers (IPPs) operating in the country," he said.

LCCI's Vice President Zafar Mehmood Chaudhry while calling agreements with the IPPs as 'cruel', said that 25% industries have been shut down in two years. The electricity price in the country has been 25 to 30 rupees per unit, he said.

"It is surprising that this big secret that we have to pay 2,100 billion rupees for capacity charges this year, had remained under the carpet till now," another chamber official Johar Ali said.—RT/Agency

KATI President Calls For Forensic Audit Of IPPs And Electricity Market Reforms

KARACHI: Johar Qandhari, President of the Korangi Association of Trade and Industry (KATI), has called for significant economic reforms during an emergency press conference. He demanded that electricity prices be set at 9 cents per unit, criticizing the high payments to Independent Power Producers (IPPs).

Qandhari highlighted that IPPs receive more money than Pakistan's defense budget, arguing that the interests of the 240 million Pakistani citizens should come before the 40 families running the IPPs. He called for the cancellation of unnecessary private company contracts and a forensic audit of the IPPs.

Joined by Senator Abdul Haseeb Khan, Senior Vice President Nighat Awan, Standing Committee Chairman Danish Khan, and other notable figures, Qandhari pointed out that while Pakistan has an installed electricity capacity of 45,000 megawatts, only 22,000 megawatts are utilized. The cost of electricity for consumers is Rs. 35 per unit before tax and Rs. 60 after tax, with Rs. 18 per unit going to capacity charges for unused electricity.

He urged the government to halt new IPP projects, improve capacity through negotiations with existing IPPs, and lower electricity prices from 16.5 cents to 9 cents. This reduction would lower production costs, reduce inflation, boost exports, decrease circular debt, and reduce import dependence, ultimately driving Pakistan's economic growth.

Senator Abdul Haseeb Khan, Standing Committee Chairman Danish Khan, and Rehman Javed echoed Qandhari's sentiments, calling for Federal Minister for Energy Sardar Owais Laghari to examine IPP contracts under government supervision and ensure they are audited by international companies.—RT

Establishing an electricity market in Pakistan to foster competition and allow consumers to choose their electricity providers.

Qandhari proposed several measures to alleviate economic pressure: Changing capacity conditions for government-owned IPPs to reduce management costs.

Shifting from LIBOR to KIBOR for payments.

Renegotiating privately-owned IPP contracts from "Take or Pay" to "Take and Pay" agreements.

Persuading China to negotiate debt restructuring and extend repayment periods for IPPs under CPEC.

Expanding transmission lines to fully utilize surplus capacity.

The power utility requested the National Electric Power Regulatory Authority (NEPRA) for the hike under the monthly fuel adjustment.

The KE asked the NEPRA to approve Rs 2.53 per unit for May's monthly fuel adjustment and Rs 2.92 per unit for the month of June.

The NEPRA will hold a hearing on July 30 on the KE's plea.

Sindh CM Urges For Urban Flood Control System In Karachi

By Rahib Gho

KARACHI: Sindh Chief Minister Syed Murad Ali Shah stressed the need for an urban flooding control system in Karachi. He called for identifying low-lying areas prone to flooding and designing sewer tunnels to channel water to the main interceptor tunnels at Lyari and Malir Rivers.

In a meeting at CM House on Saturday, attended by Local Government Minister Saeed Ghani, Mayor Karachi Muratza Wahab, Chief Secretary Asif Hyder Shah, PSCM Agha Wasif, Secretary LG Khalid Hyder Shah, CEO Salahuddin, and KMC Municipal Commissioner Afzal Zaidi, the CM highlighted the main causes of urban flooding: clogged drains, lack of outfall infrastructure, and growing encroachments.

Efforts to address these issues by removing unauthorized settlements and cleaning drains have been ineffective long-term. The CM proposed constructing new sewage tunnels in flood-prone areas to carry sewage to treatment plants. These plants, being built based on city wastewater output, could use by-products for agriculture and horticulture.

Murad Shah suggested a modern tunneling system using earth pressure balance machines that prevent surface settlement issues. This system, along with pipe jacking, would collect floodwaters and restore natural streams of Lyari and Malir Rivers.

The CM instructed the Karachi Water & Sewerage Corporation (KW&SC) to propose a combined sewerage system for Karachi. Industrial effluent discharge should be treated alongside domestic wastewater.

Murad Shah called for a master plan study to control urban flooding, including a tunneling option, to be completed in six months. A financial model would be developed based on the study's findings.

The KW&SC proposed a pilot study for wastewater management until 2047, aligning with their Master Plan. Mayor Muratza Wahab suggested using old city areas as pilot projects for the urban flooding control system.

LHC to Hear Imran's Petition Against ATC's 10-Day Physical Remand In May 9 Cases

LAHORE: The Lahore High Court on Saturday fixed for hearing petitions filed against an anti-terrorist court's (ATC) order to grant PTI founder Imran Khan's 10-day physical remand for investigation over his alleged involvement in violence on May 9.
 The hearing scheduled for Monday will be presided over by a bench comprising Justice Tariq Saleem Sheikh and Justice Anwarul Haq.
 Countrywide protests erupted on May 9 last year after the paramilitary Rangers whisked away Imran from the Islamabad High Court in a corruption case. While the protests were underway, social media was flooded with footage of rioting and vandalism at various spots, including the Lahore Corps Commander's residence and General Headquarters, the army's head office in Rawalpindi.
 A 13-member team of the Lahore police's investigation wing visited Adiala Jail last week to quiz the former prime minister regarding the violence and arrested him in 12 out of the total 16 cases registered by the Lahore police over the May 9 attacks.
 On Monday, a Lahore ATC granted police Imran's 10-day physical remand in the 12 cases against a request for a 30-day remand.
 The former premier had petitioned the LHC on Thursday against the ATC's decision. He filed the writ petition through his counsel, Barrister Salman Safdar, arguing that on July 15, the ATC had granted his custody to police in a hearing which he attended on a WhatsApp video call from Adiala jail.
 He argued that the order issued by the court was tantamount to "misreading" established principles on the law of remand and urged the court to set it aside for being "unlawful".—RT/Agency

Bangladesh should be a wake-up call for our indifferent stakeholders in Pakistan

The current crisis in Bangladesh should serve as a significant wake-up call for the rulers and stakeholders in Pakistan, highlighting the potential volatility and dangers present within our own country. In Bangladesh, widespread unrest has gripped the nation, with anti-government protests leading to violent confrontations and numerous casualties. This upheaval stems from deep-seated issues of economic stagnation, political disenfranchisement, and controversial policies, such as the reinstatement of job quotas for the descendants of freedom fighters.

The situation in Pakistan shares unsettling similarities. We, too, face economic challenges, political polarization, and a youth population increasingly frustrated with limited opportunities. The events unfolding in Bangladesh underscore the precarious nature of relying on heavy-handed tactics and ignoring legitimate grievances. In Pakistan, ignoring these warning signs could lead to similar unrest, with dire consequences for national stability.

Our leadership must take proactive steps to address economic disparities, ensure political inclusiveness, and foster transparent governance. The discontent brewing among Pakistan's youth, much like their counterparts in Bangladesh, needs to be channeled constructively through meaningful engagement and opportunities. Economic reforms must be prioritized to create jobs and spur growth, while political reforms should aim to strengthen democratic institutions and protect civil liberties.

The tragic events in Bangladesh highlight the urgent need for Pakistan to reassess its approach to governance. By addressing the root causes of discontent and promoting a more inclusive and transparent political environment, we can avert a similar crisis and ensure a more stable and prosperous future for our nation. It is imperative for our rulers and stakeholders to heed this wake-up call and act decisively to safeguard Pakistan's stability.

People of Shahdadpur being cheated by illegal housing societies

By Sajjan Jani

SHAHDADPUR: In Shahdadpur, the Town Planning Department has initiated investigations following revelations of the illegal sale of welfare plots designated for schools, dispensaries, parks, and community halls in residential schemes. The sale of these amenity plots is illegal, and those involved in buying and selling such plots in our scheme will be held responsible, stated Ali Muhammad Keerio, the owner of Kazim Bungalows, while speaking to the media. It has been found that in Shahdadpur and surrounding areas, many housing schemes are causing distress to the public instead of providing them with facilities. Promises of clean drinking water, electricity, gas, hospitals, schools, drainage systems, roads, and boundaries are made, but the public is deceived as these facilities are not provided. The illegal housing schemes are selling plots under false pretenses, exploiting the poor and underprivileged, shattering their dreams of a better life. Many people, who bought plots in installments, have been misled by false promises and have migrated from various villages to settle in these housing schemes in the city. Today, thousands of people in these colonies are forced to live in conditions worse than those in rural areas. Ali Muhammad Keerio, owner of the prominent residential colony Kazim Bungalows, clarified to the media that their colony is registered and most plots have been sold legally. He emphasized that in their scheme, anyone involved in selling or buying such plots will be held accountable. He stated that they do not sell amenity plots, which are a trust for the residents of the colony. Any broker selling such plots for commission or buyers purchasing them do so at their own risk. He also mentioned that they have no connection with other colonies where such illegal activities are taking place. In response to public complaints, the Town Planning Department has taken notice of the illegal sale of welfare plots in these housing schemes and has started investigations.

Shami appeared at a local YouTube podcast and addressed the speculation about his alleged marriage to tennis star Sania Mirza, labelling the rumours as "unfounded" and "harmful."

Shami's response came after manipulated images and social media posts fueled speculation about the alleged union.

"It's weird and done purposely for some lame fun. But what can be done?" Mohammed Shami said. "If I open my phone, I see those memes. PCB confirms denying NOCs to Babar, Rizwan, Shaheen to play Global T20

LAHORE: The Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) has confirmed rejecting skipper Babar Azam, pacer Shaheen Shah Afridi and wicket-keeper-batter Mohammad Rizwan's request for a no-objection certificate (NOC) to feature in the upcoming league Global T20.

"The PCB had received NOC requests from Babar, Rizwan and Shaheen for the Global T20 event. Following consultations with the three players as well as the national selection committee, it has been decided to decline their requests," the PCB said in a press release on Friday.

The board's confirmation comes after sources have told Geo News that the trio were unlikely to get the PCB's nod to participate in the said tournament which is scheduled from July 25 to August 11 in Canada.

The sources had said that the PCB wasn't in favour of issuing NOCs to all-format players due to the busy international schedule.

This has now been confirmed by the board which has said that the decision to reject the players' request for the NOCs has been made in light of the team's "packed cricket calendar in the period from August 2024 to March 2025, which includes nine ICC World Test Championship matches and next year's ICC Champions Trophy 2025".

The PCB maintains that in line with its workload management policy, it is in the best interest of Pakistan cricket and the players that they skip the upcoming event in Canada so that they are in their best mental and physical shape for the season, which commences with the two-Test series against Bangladesh.

"The three are all-format cricketers and their services are expected to be required in the upcoming eight months during which Pakistan will play nine Tests, 14 ODIs, and nine T20Is," read the PCB's statement.

The development comes days after the cricket board decided not to grant fast-bowler Naseem Shah the NOC to play in The Hundred league due to being an all-format player.

However, the board has approved NOCs for Asif Ali, Iftikhar Ahmed, Mohammad Amir, and Mohammad Nawaz as they are "predominantly white-ball cricketers", while Iftikhar and Nawaz are centrally contracted players.

It is to be noted that PCB Chairman Mohsin Naqvi, earlier this week, had said that it would work out a technical process to issue NOC to the players and those who would fulfil the requirements would be granted the NOC.—Agency

Alcaraz declares Djokovic 'greatest of all time'

Carlos Alcaraz recently clinched his second Wimbledon title and his fourth Grand Slam title after beating Novak Djokovic in straight sets at the Centre Court.

The Spaniard claimed his first Wimbledon title in 2023 where he also beat Djokovic in five sets but his battle with the Serb in 2024 was not very tough as Alcaraz managed to cruise to victory in just three sets.

Despite defeating Djokovic in two Grand Slam finals, Alcaraz still believes that the Serb is the Greatest of All Time (GOAT) because of his unmatched numbers.

In a Q&A interview with the ATP Tour released after Wimbledon, Alcaraz was asked which tennis player is the GOAT (Greatest of All Time).

"As far as numbers go, it's Novak Djokovic without a doubt," Alcaraz said. "The other two: Federer and Rafa. For me, they're tops."

After the Wimbledon final, Alcaraz expressed his desire to "sit at the same table as the big guys", but ruled out specifying a specific Grand Slam target.

"I don't know what is my limit. I don't want to think about it," the world No 3 in his post-tournament press conference.

"I just want to keep enjoying my moment, just to keep dreaming. So, let's see if at the end of my career, it's going to be 25, 30, 15, four. I don't know. All I want to say is I want to keep enjoying, and let's see what the future brings for me."

"I'm really happy with the work that I'm doing with my team. I'm really proud of myself, all the things that I'm doing great. I'm really proud of the people around my team."

"Everything we have done already has been unbelievable, an amazing journey so far. As I said, I really want to keep going, to keep improving, to keep growing up, trying to keep winning. That's all that matters to me right now."

"It doesn't matter if I already won four Grand Slams at the age of 21. I really want to keep going. I will try to keep winning and end my career with a lot of them."—Agency

Harbhajan Singh fumes over Rizwan-Dhoni comparison

Former cricketer Harbhajan Singh slammed a Pakistani sports commentator for drawing a comparison between Mohammad Rizwan with former India captain MS Dhoni.

In a post on X, Farid Khan, asked his followers to draw a comparison of Rizwan with Dhoni to decide who is better.

Sharing a collage of the two cricketers, he wrote, "MS Dhoni or Mohammad Rizwan? Who is better? Tell me honestly."

However, Harbhajan Singh who played under the captaincy of Dhoni, was irked by the post and blasted Farid Khan for attempting to compare the two cricketers.

"What r u smoking nowadays ??? What a silly question to ask. Bhaiyo isko batiao. DHONI bhut age hai RIZWAN se (Tell him that Dhoni is far ahead of Rizwan, saying that the Pakistani wicketkeeping batter Rizwan he will give u an honest answer for this," Singh wrote in a reply to the X post.

"DHONI no 1 even today in world cricket. None better than him behind stumps," wrote Harbhajan Singh in reply.

It is pertinent to mention that Dhoni led India to victory in the inaugural edition of the T20 World Cup 2007 in South Africa. He also led the team that won the ODI World Cup trophy in 2011 in India.

In 2013, he became the first-ever captain to have won all ICC trophies after guiding India to a Champions Trophy 2013 victory in England.

Chelsea, Napoli in talks to finalize permanent deal for Lukaku

Chelsea and Napoli are in discussions regarding the permanent transfer of Romelu Lukaku. Sky Sports reported on Saturday.

The 31-year-old rejoined Chelsea in the summer of 2021 for a then club-record fee of €97.5 million but soon fell out of favour after a challenging first year back at Stamford Bridge.

Lukaku signed a five-year contract upon his return to Chelsea, having played a key role in Inter's Serie A title win in the 2020/21 season. His substantial wages have hindered a permanent move, despite it being evident that he has no future at Stamford Bridge.

Inter took Lukaku on loan during the 2022/23 season, and Roma did the same last season—stints that produced 23 goals in 57 Serie A appearances. However, Chelsea are not prepared to consider another temporary departure. It has been reported that a long-rumoured move to Napoli, which would reunite Lukaku with his former manager Antonio Conte, is now firmly on the cards, with the two sides discussing the details of a permanent transfer.

The Belgian has already agreed personal terms with Napoli and is eager to work with Conte once more, having played arguably the best football of his career under the Italian's management.

A deal could finally enable Victor Osimhen to leave Napoli - a player Chelsea have long targeted and who is also a primary focus for Ligue 1 giants Paris Saint-Germain. Lukaku will need to accept a substantial wage reduction for Napoli to afford the deal, but it's said he is prepared to do whatever it takes to bring his time at Chelsea to a close.—Agency

Punjab Government Appeals Sanam Javed's Case Dismissal In Supreme Court

LAHORE: The Punjab government has challenged the Lahore High Court's decision to discharge Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) leader Sanam Javed from a Gujranwala case in the Supreme Court. This appeal, led by Maryam Nawaz, seeks to overturn the ruling made by a two-member bench headed by Justice Asjad Ghural. The Lahore High Court had previously ordered the release of Sanam Javed, citing insufficient evidence to proceed with the charges related to the events of May 9.

After the high court's decision, the Islamabad High Court also intervened, preventing her transfer to Quetta police custody and ordering her release. The Punjab government argues that the High Court's decision to discharge Javed was premature and seeks a review by the Supreme Court to ensure a thorough examination of the charges against her. This appeal underscores the ongoing legal challenges faced by PTI leaders amidst the current political climate. The Supreme Court's forthcoming decision will determine whether the High Court's ruling will be upheld or overturned, potentially impacting the broader legal landscape for political cases in Pakistan.—RT/Agency

Fazl Claims PTI Is Prepared To Step Down From Assemblies And Dissolve KP Legislature

ISLAMABAD: After forming a committee to hold dialogue with the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI), Jamiat Ulema-e-Islam-Fazl (JUI-F) chief Maulana Fazlur Rahman on Saturday claimed that the embattled party agreed to step down from the assemblies and dissolve the Khyber Pakhtunkhwa (KP) legislature to force the government into elections.

The religio-political party constituted a committee headed by Kamran Murtaza whose members include Maulana Fuzur Rahman, Mufti Fazal Ghafoor, Aslam Ghauri and Maulana Amjad to hold talks with the Imran Khan-founded party.

ter Gohar Ali Khan rejected the JUI-F supremo's claims that his party had agreed to resign from assemblies. "We have neither held any consultations with Maulana Fazl regarding resignations or dissolution of the assemblies nor had any decision in this regard," the PTI chief added.

He also slammed "powerless" ruling parties in the Centre — the Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) and the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) — and said that both the parties did not deserve to be in power.

After the 2024 nationwide polls, the religious party had developed differences with the PML-N and the PPP after they formed a coalition government as the former levelled serious allegations of election rigging, interference and manipulation of poll results and demanded fresh elections.

The PTI, which ruled the country from 2018 to 2022, had also formed a negotiation team comprising top party leaders including Barrister Gohar Ali Khan, Asad Qaiser, Shibli Faraz, and others for holding talks with the Fazl-led party earlier this month, sources told Geo News.

Both parties had also held multiple meetings since the February 8 polls due to their mutual concerns over the alleged interference and manipulation during the general elections.

They also found a common ground in their opposition to the recently announced anti-terror drive titled "Operation Azm-e-Ishtekham" announced by the Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif-led government.

"JUI-F desires peace and a stable economy in the country," said Fazl and announced forthcoming public events of his party in KP.

He announced that a kisan convention would be organised in Mardan district on August 10, a trader convention in Peshawar on August 11, and an aman (peace) jirga in Lakki Marwat on August 18. He expressed his views that all politicians should be provided level-playing field to continue political activities in the country. Fazl added that transparent election is only way to establish peace and stabilise the country's economy.—RT/Agency

Islamabad To Pursue Legal Action Against TTP Chief After Leaked Call Exposes Terror Plot

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan has decided to carry out a forensic analysis of the leaked phone call featuring Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP) Chief Noor Wali Mehsud and pursue strict legal action against him and terrorist Ghat Haji after their leaked call exposed the terror plots being planned by the banned organisation, sources told Geo News on Saturday.

Sources say that the government will not only seek the extradition of terrorists from Afghanistan but will also lodge a strong protest with the Afghan Taliban-led interim administration over the TTP head's presence in the country and his direct involvement in terrorist attacks inside Pakistan.

A day earlier a disturbing phone call featuring Noor came to the surface wherein he could be heard giving instructions to his henchmen for attacks in Pakistan.

The other voices in the audio call were identified as local commanders Ahmad Hussain Mehsud alias Ghat Haji, and Saqib Gandapur.

The conversation revolves around the TTP chief's orders on how to inflame the security situation in the country. In that conversation, he can be heard outlining two main methods for disrupting peace and order in Pakistan.

Suggesting that one method is to target government schools or hospitals with bombings, the TTP leader orders his men to carry out attacks on one or two schools or hospitals without claiming responsibility for them.

Noor could also be heard hashing out a second method, which he says involves destroying the homes of police officers and soldiers.

He instructs his lieutenants to keep the conversation confidential and ensure that no one else is aware of the plan and stresses that if questioned, he should not be linked to the operations and nothing should be traced back to TTP.

Ahmad Hussain, while affirming the TTP chief's deadly plans, can be heard telling Gandapur to target the homes of high-ranking police, army, and FC officers with bombs and to either close down or blow up schools secretly — without taking credit for the attacks.

The leaked telephone call effectively reaffirmed Islamabad's stance wherein it had time again called on Kabul to prevent its land from being used by TTP and other terrorist organisations against Pakistan. The legal action against the terrorists, the sources added, will be taken in light of the report of the phone call's forensic analysis.—RT/Agency

Opposition Alliance To Hold Nationwide Protest On July 26

ISLAMABAD: Opposition alliance of Tehreek Tahafuz Aeen-e-Pakistan (TTAP) announced on Saturday that it will hold a countrywide protest on July 26 (Friday) for the release of all political prisoners, including PTI founding chairman Imran Khan and reclaiming the "stolen mandate".

While passing a unanimous resolution seeking immediate release of political prisoners, the TTAP leadership also demanded an empowered judicial commission to probe firing on peaceful marchers in Bannu. The opposition alliance also sought resignation from the ruling party and demanded fresh elections. It lauded the recent Supreme Court's decision on reserved seats as well. The meeting of the opposition alliance was presided over by senior politician and head of the movement Mahmood Khan Achakzai, which was attended by PTI Chairman Barrister Gohar Ali Khan, PTI secretary general and Leader of Opposition National Assembly Omar Ayub Khan, Leader of Opposition in Senate Senator Shibli Faraz and PTI Central Information Secretary Raouf Hasan. Chairman Sunni Ittehad Council Sahibzada Hamid Raza, Chairman Majlis Wahdat Muslimin Allama Nasir Abbas and JUI Shirani Group leader Syed Qasim Agha also participated in the meeting. In the meeting, the participants held a detailed discussion over the prevailing political and economic situation of the country along with the future course of action. They also passed a unanimous resolution demanding an immediate release of Imran Khan, his wife Bushra Bibi and all other PTI's leaders and workers, stating the cases framed against Imran Khan and other party leaders and workers were a violation of laws and the principles of justice. They also demanded that an independent judicial commission should be constituted immediately to probe into the deaths and injuries caused by the firings on Bannu Aman March. The participants stressed the need that a judicial commission should be headed by a serving judge, which should be free from any external pressure, to ensure a transparent investigation into the violent incidents in Bannu. They demanded that the incumbent IG and Chief Secretary of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa (K-P) miserably failed in restoring peace in the province, hence "they should be dismissed forthwith." Law Minister Tarar Calls PTI's Letter To Judicial Commission A 'Political Stunt'

ISLAMABAD: Federal Law Minister Azam Nazeer Tarar described the letter of PTI leaders Omar Ayub and Shibli Faraz to judicial commission as "political stunt".

"It is against the parliamentary traditions to use the constitutional forums for political benefits," said the law minister.

He added that ad hoc judges were appointed on the demand of bar councils to resolve the pending cases in Supreme Court.

"It is sheer politics to write a letter to the head of Judicial Commission," said Tarar.

According to the law minister, the appointment of ad hoc judges was made according to the constitution.

Earlier, PTI leaders Omar Ayub and Shibli Faraz wrote a letter to the members and chairman of Judicial Commission to express their reservations over the appointment of ad hoc judges.

Leader of Opposition in Senate Shibli Faraz had urged Chief Justice Qazi Faez Isa, who also heads the Judicial Commission of Pakistan, to reject appointment of ad hoc judges in the Supreme Court. In a letter addressed to the chief justice, the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) senator said the "appointment of ad hoc judges gives the impression that all this is being done for a party".—RT/Agency

CJP Stresses Importance Of Timely Hearing For PTI's Reserved Seats Review Petition

ISLAMABAD: Chief Justice of Pakistan Qazi Faez Isa stressed the importance of promptly scheduling review petitions regarding reserved seats, highlighting the constitutional right to a timely hearing.

During the 17th meeting of the Supreme Court Practice and Procedures Committee, chaired by Justice Isa, a consensus emerged about the urgency of these cases.

Justice Isa argued that judges should prioritise constitutional duties over personal convenience, stating that delaying the hearing would be unjust.

He emphasised that the right to review is enshrined in the Constitution and should not be hindered by judges' vacations.

Justice Mansoor Ali Shah and Justice Muneeb Akhtar, however, contended that only the 13 judges who originally heard the case could conduct the review, noting that many judges are currently on summer break or abroad.

They suggested that the review petitions be scheduled after the holidays.

Justice Isa opposed this majority decision, insisting that the hearings should proceed immediately, even if it meant cancelling the summer break.

He cited the urgency stipulated in the Practice and Procedure Act, which requires review petitions to be scheduled within 15 days.

Justice Muneeb Akhtar pointed out that judicial rules allow for vacation periods, and once announced, they cannot be easily revoked.

He added that the new judicial year starts in the second week of September, making it challenging to accommodate the review petitions immediately.

Chief Justice Isa warned that delaying the review petitions would render the cases ineffective and violate constitutional principles.

He argued that awaiting a detailed decision while postponing the review hearings would strip individuals of their rights and undermine the law.

The committee ultimately decided, by a 2-1 majority, to schedule the review petitions post-holidays, despite Justice Isa's dissent.

He maintained that the delay would lead to a miscarriage of justice, stressing the need for immediate action to uphold constitutional integrity.—RT/Agency

During the conversation, a journalist questioned Bushra Bibi about claims of adding toilet cleaner to food and her accusations against the authorities.

She responded firmly, asserting that these claims are true, despite lacking physical evidence.

Imran Khan intervened briefly, cautioning his wife about the limitations of the media, which led to a brief protest from the attending journalists.

Khan attempted to stop Bushra Bibi from speaking, stating, "Censored media won't broadcast your words."

This remark prompted the journalists to protest, asserting that all his statements are aired.
