May 9 Cases: LHC Renders Imran's Physical Remand Verdict 'Null And Void'

LAHORE: The Lahore High Court (LHC) on Thursday declared a verdict, allowing the physical remand of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) founder Imran Khan in May 9 cases, "null and void".

A two-member bench comprising Justice Tariq Saleem Sheikh and Justice Anwar-ul-Haq Pannu reserved the verdict on the petitions challenging the former prime minister's physical remand. The high court also declared the notification of the PTI founder's appearance via the video link null and void. During the hearing today, Justice Saleem said that the suspect cannot be forced to undergo photogrammetry test. Meanwhile, Pannu questioned the prosecutor when did he get the idea that he should move towards the modern devices now. Prosecutor General Punjab Farhad Ali Shah told the court that the facility to conduct the photogrammetry test is inside the jail and it would be an injustice to not give prosecution a "full chance".

ECP Designates 39 MNAs As PTI Members In Compliance With SC Order

ISLAMABAD: The Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) on Thursday declared 39 lawmakers who contested the February 8 elections as independent candidates and later joined the Sunni Ittehad Council (SIC) — as members of the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) in line with the Supreme Court's July 12 verdict in reserved seats case.

The ECP uploaded the notification on its website to declare 39 NA lawmakers as the former ruling party's members who had shown their affiliation with the PTI in their nomination papers for the February 8 nationwide polls. The decision was taken in a key session held under the chair of the Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) Sikandar Sultan Raja today in which they reached a conclusion to upload the notification of 39 lawmakers' affiliation with the Imran-founded party. Asad Qaiser, Sher Afzal Khan, Latif Khan Khosa, Zartar Gul, Shandana Gulzar Khan, Zain Hussain Qureshi, Malik Aamir Dogar, Ali Afzal Sahi, Ali Khan Jadoon, and others were among the notified PTI MNAs. The PTI MNAs who have been notified by the ECP today were those who had shown their party affiliation with the Imran-founded party before the 2024 general elections. Having been deprived of its election symbol, the PTI's candidates contested the February 8 elections as independents. However, these independents were directed by the party to join the Sunni It-tehad Council (SIC) to be eligible for the reserved seats. After winning the most seats in the general polls earlier this year, PTI was denied reserved seats by the ECP while its decision was also upheld by the Peshawar High Court (PHC), citing the party's inability to submit list of candidates for reserved seats in the stipulated time. The apex court had on July 12 ruled that PTI was and is a political party that won general seats in the national and provincial assemblies in the February 8 elections, thus, is entitled to reserved seats. The SC full bench headed by Chief Justice of Pakistan (CJP) Qazi Faez Isa, by a majority of 8, set aside the Peshawar High Court's judgment of March 25 and declared the ECP order of March 1 to be ultra vires the Constitution, without lawful authority and of no legal effect. Following the SC directives, the electoral body held multiple sessions to deliberate on the verdict. Regarding the independent candidates' issue, the ECP stated in a session last week that 39 candidates of the embattled party had shown their affiliation with the PTI in their nomination papers. However, 41 candidates who had been declared independents hadn't mentioned PTI in their nomination papers neither they disclosed their affiliation with the party nor submitted the ticket of any party, it added. "Therefore, the ROs allowed them to contest the election as independents. Later, these MNAs voluntarily joined the Sunni Ittehad Council (SIC) within three days as required by law after winning the election," the statement read. The party appealed the decision of the Election Commission and the PHC in the Supreme Court, but it was rejected. It further added that the PTI was neither a petitioner in the case against the ECP in the apex court nor the PHC. It is noteworthy to mention here that the ruling parties, Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) and the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP), have filed a review petition in the apex court against the reserved seats' verdict, which came as an unexpected legal victory for the main opposition party. This not only paved the way for the PTI's return to parliament, which was kicked out of the February 8 polls owing to the ECP's December 2023 ruling but has also increased the pressure on the coalition alliance by changing the composition of the National Assembly.—RT/Agency

Pakistan Comments China For Facilitating Palestinian 'Declaration Of Unity'

ISLAMABAD: The Foreign Office on Thursday welcomed the 'Declaration of Unity' signed by Palestinian political factions in Beijing, recognising and commending China's role in facilitating meaningful negotiations. "Unity among the Palestinian people is of paramount significance given the ongoing war crimes against the Palestinian people, particularly in Gaza, and the blatant disregard for international law by the Israeli occupation forces," Foreign Office spokesperson Mumtaz Zahra Baloch stated during her weekly press briefing.

She urged the international community to intervene immediately to halt the ongoing illegal and relentless aggression in Gaza. Baloch reiterated Pakistan's support for the Palestinian people's inalienable right to self-determination, their right of return to Palestine, and the establishment of an independent Palestinian state with Al-Quds Al-Sharif as its capital. Addressing the periodic report of the Human Rights Committee in Geneva on India, FO spokesperson noted that important questions were raised regarding arrests under draconian laws like the Public Safety Act and Public Security Act, as well as the frequent suspension of mobile internet services in Indian Illegally Occupied Jammu and Kashmir

Imran Khan Wants Nation To Prepare For Elections, Says Omar Ayub

ISLAMABAD: Leader of the Opposition in the National Assembly and Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) leader, Omar Ayub Khan, has conveyed incarcerated party founder Imran Khan's message that the nation should "prepare for new elections". Speaking to the media after a meeting with beleaguered former premier Imran Khan in Adiala Jail on Thursday, Ayub conveyed Imran's message, saying, "The nation should prepare for new elections because they will lead to the country's development."

He continued, "The current government has failed and has pushed the army against PTI and the public," noting that Imran urged the nation to be ready for elections. Ayub, joined by leaders including Allama Raja Nasir Abbas and Sahibzada Hamid Raza Kazmi, described today's meeting with Imran as "positive". He relayed Imran's message to army chief General Asim Munir, claiming that Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif and the current government aim to create a rift between the Pakistan Army and PTI. "90% of the public stands behind PTI," Ayub asserted. He also pointed out the alleged disappearance of footage from the May 9 protests at the Corps Commander's House and GHQ. Ayub noted that footage from the March 14 raid at Zaman Park and the March 18 incident at the judicial complex is also missing, which he explained, has prompted Imran to seek legal action. He stated that the Islamabad commissioner had cancelled PTI's rally permit, but PTI plans to hold another rally on August 5, led by Khyber-Pakhtunkhwa Chief Minister Ali Amin Gandapur. The general secretary of PTI said that during the meeting with the party supreme, PTI members proposed names for reserved seats to Imran, who suggested that women who stood firm during challenging times should be given these seats. Kanwal Shauzab will finalise the details, he added. Criticising the DG ISPR, Ayub stated that the press conference held by him highlighted the government's failure. He also called for the Chief Election Commissioner and provincial commissioners to resign, accusing them of misinterpreting the apex court's decision. At a hunger strike camp outside the Parliament House, Ayub emphasised that General Asim Munir should understand the government's attempt to pit the army against PTI and the people.—RT/Agency

Sheikh Rashid Warns Political Landscape Of Country Is Heading Towards Destruction

RAWALPINDI: Awami Muslim League chairman and former federal minister Sheikh Rashid said on Thursday the political landscape of the country was moving towards destruction. Speaking to media after appearing in court in a case, he voiced concern over the public crisis. He said inflated electricity bills and inflation had compelled the public to take to the street and the government was responsible for the hue and cry.

All these injustices wouldn't affect the PTI but the government would ultimately pay the price, he added. He lambasted the government, saying their acts would benefit PTI founder Imran Khan. He said politics was going towards destruction and things would be pretty clear by August 31. He once again clarified that Lal Haveli was around three marlas and his personal property. He said he was being thrown away from his home and 19 houses had been built over there.—RT/Agency

Imran Seeks Court Intervention To Prevent Possible Custody Transfer To Military

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) founder Imran Khan has filed a petition against his potential handover to military custody, arguing that detainees involved in the events of May 9 should remain under the jurisdiction of civilian courts, and sought an injunction to this effect. The petition was submitted by Khan's lawyer, Uzair Karamat, to the Lahore High Court (LHC). The federal government and the Inspector Generals (IGs) of all four provinces have been made respondents in the case. Khan stated that a false narrative had been constructed, accusing him of inciting protests at the General Headquarters (GHQ).—RT/Agency

Former Sindh Governor Mohammad Zubair Criticizes Government's Effort To Ban 'Popular' PTI

KARACHI: Former Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) leader Muhammad Zubair has spoken against government's move to ban Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI), saying that it is the most popular political party. "No political party including PTI should be banned," Zubair told a private TV channel on Wednesday, stressing to remove the "restrictions" for the country's development as they had hindered progress. His remarks came after Information Minister Attaullah Tarar doubled down on the government's decision to ban the PTI, saying the government had made up its mind to go ahead with its "principled" decision. "[We] have consulted with the Pakistan Peoples Party with regards to the PTI ban and are currently in talks with the Mutahida Qaumi Movement-Pakistan [...] the trash". He claimed that the PML-N used the May 9 incident for political purposes. PML-N leader Mian Javed Latif also said that no matter if a party has 70% support or 5%, it should not be banned. "If a political party was banned before then it was wrong," he stressed. Latif said that Punjab Chief Minister Maryam Nawaz was wrongly arrested but the wrong cannot be corrected by justifying that.—RT/Agency

Illegal fishing continues unabated at Bahawalpur's Head Panjnad

By M Siddique

BAHAWALPUR: Illegal fishing at Head Panjnad has surged despite government restrictions, reportedly due to collusion with local authorities. Makhdoomzaad Syed Zain Haider Bukhari, along with Syed Ghulam Mustafa and Malik Siddique Ahmed, revealed these concerns to journalists, accusing local fishermen of exploiting extortion practices to deplete fish stocks in the area.

However, the financial allure appears to have compromised the enforcement of these restrictions. Bukhari warned that if this illegal activity is not addressed promptly, it could result in significant government revenue losses and threaten the extinction of local fish species. He called on the Chief Minister of Punjab and the Secretary of the Fisheries Department to urgently address the issue.

The Fisheries Department is alleged to be receiving bribes, including paper fish, saji fish, grill fish, and tandoori fish, as daily offerings to officials and in the name of higher authorities. This purported corruption has led to inaction from senior officials, who remain passive in the face of the illegal fishing activities.

Sources indicate that this period is crucial for fish spawning and egg-laying, which is why a fishing ban is in place to protect natural balance.

Draconian measures from our colonial past like Section 144 have no place in a modern day democracy

The recent imposition of Section 144 in Islamabad and Punjab ahead of the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) protests is a stark reminder of the draconian measures inherited from our colonial past. The British colonial administration employed such measures to suppress dissent and stifle the voices of those who yearned for freedom. Today, in an era where democracy should flourish and the will of the people should be paramount, the reimposition of these antiquated laws is profoundly troubling.

Section 144, which bans gatherings of five or more people, has been enforced to maintain law and order and to prevent potential terrorist threats, as stated by the Punjab Home Department. While the intent to safeguard public safety is understandable, the method chosen is deeply flawed. Restricting the right to assemble and protest, especially in a democratic society, is counterproductive and undermines the very principles upon which our nation was founded.

The PTI, leading a peaceful protest for the release of their incarcerated members and addressing issues such as inflation and peace, is exercising a fundamental democratic right. The imposition of Section 144 not only curtails this right but also sets a dangerous precedent. It suggests that the government is more inclined to silence dissent than engage in meaningful dialogue with its citizens.

In the modern era, where the genuine will of the people should reign supreme, resorting to colonial-era tactics is unacceptable. Democracy thrives on the free exchange of ideas and the ability of people to voice their concerns without fear of retribution. It is imperative that the government reconsiders such measures and seeks to engage with its citizens constructively.

The imposition of Section 144 in Islamabad and Punjab must be condemned. It is an obsolete relic of our unceremonious colonial past, and it has no place in a contemporary democratic society. The government must prioritize the democratic rights of its citizens and ensure that the will of the people is respected and upheld.

In a conversation with renowned cricketing figures, England's Michael Vaughan and Australia's Adam Gilchrist, Hafeez claimed that the players used to sleep in the dressing room during Test matches.

"You tell me, Gilly [Gilchrist] if a player is sleeping in the dressing room while we're playing Test cricket 4-5 players are sleeping in the dressing room. Should I allow that as a team director?" Hafeez questioned.

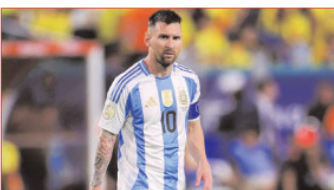

Vaughan wittily asked, "Are they tired?" to which Hafeez continued with a serious tone, "I really don't know. I went into the dressing room and found 4-5 players sleeping while playing Test cricket. I was like, 'How come you guys can do that? If you do something like this, you cannot be a part of this team.'"

Meanwhile, Hasan Ali, in an interview denied Mohammad Hafeez's claims before going on to share that the previous management had allowed players, especially fast bowlers, to take naps if needed to recover.

"I don't know, actually, but it should be the way Hafeez said. I don't think anyone slept in the dressing room after that. When Hafeez said that I was not part of the first game, all the players who were not part of the playing XI were sitting in the dugout watching the game. Even the management was sitting there. But I would say especially for the fast bowlers, when you bowl for one and a half days you need to recover, and you could take a 20-30 minute nap, but for those who feel like they need it," Hasan said.—Agency

Hijab-wearing French sprinter faces exclusion from Olympics opening ceremony

PARIS: French government and Olympics officials are seeking a solution to allow Muslim French sprinter Sounkamba Sylla to wear her hijab at the opening ceremony while still complying with the country's secularism laws, they said on Wednesday.

This effort comes after the 26-year-old member of France's 400-metre relay team recently took to her Instagram to reveal that her hijab - a head covering worn by many Muslim women - would prevent her from appearing in Friday's blockbuster opening ceremony.

She wrote: "You are selected for the Olympic Games, organised in your country, but you can't take part in the opening ceremony because you wear a scarf on your head."

Thousands of athletes, including some who wear a hijab, are placing an international spotlight on tensions in France over national identity and perceived discrimination against Muslims, Reuters reported.

France, home to Europe's largest Muslim minority, enforces laws to protect the principle of secularism under which state employees and school pupils are banned from wearing religious symbols and clothing in public institutions.

Rights groups say these rules effectively discriminate against Muslims.

French government and Olympics officials said they were willing to find a solution for Sylla, although it remains unclear what that could be.

"Our citizens expect us to follow these principles of secularism, but we also need to be inventive about solutions to make everyone feel good," Amelia Oudea-Castera, minister for sport and the Olympic and Paralympic Games, said on Wednesday, adding that Sylla "understands our principles, our rules."

Shoab Malik lost 'interest' in playing for Pakistan

LAHORE: Veteran all-rounder Shoab Malik on Thursday shared that he has lost interest in playing international cricket for Pakistan again.

Malik, who is already retired from two formats, during an interview with a local sports outlet, hinted that his days in international cricket are over.

"No, I am happy and satisfied after playing for so many years. I have no interest in playing for Pakistan again," Malik stated.

"I have already announced retirement from two formats. I have been playing league cricket, and enjoying my time, wherever I get an opportunity to play, I try to avail it."

Upon being asked about his retirement from T20 international cricket, the former captain stated that he would hang his boots from all forms of cricket altogether.

"I have no interest but as I said in my previous interviews I will announce my retirement from all forms of cricket once and for all," he said.

He also suggested that Pakistan's white-ball captain, Babar Azam, should step down from captaincy and focus solely on his batting.

Shoab Malik believes that the star batter can perform better without the burden of captaincy on his shoulders. "As for my captaincy, my firm stance is that he [Babar Azam] should play only as a player. That's my opinion. When he plays as a player, he can do wonders for the team. He should stay away from leadership," he added.—Agency

Major Australia players likely to skip Pakistan T20Is to prepare for India Tests

LAHORE: Key Australia players may likely miss the three-match T20I series against Pakistan, scheduled later this year, in a bid to prepare for the five-match Test series against India, ESPN Cricinfo reported Thursday.

Cricketer Australia (CA) on Thursday, announced the schedule of domestic summer including the Sheffield Shield, scheduled to commence on October 8.

Consequently, Australia's all-format players will have an ample opportunity to prepare for the Test series against India but their availability in the tournament will be mostly affected by the white-ball series against Pakistan.

Pakistan's white-ball Adelaide and Perth, respectively.

Pakistan and Australia will then engage in a three-match T20I series, scheduled to commence on November 14.

The T20I series will conclude on November 18, just three days prior to Australia's first Test of the five-match series against India.

As a result, only those Australia players, who will not participate in the Test series against India, will feature in the T20I series against Pakistan.

"Availability of multi-format players for the Shield will likely be impacted by the limited-overs visit of Pakistan with the ODI series starting on November 4," the report read.

"The proximity of the T20Is (November 14-18) to the start of the India series means only players not featuring in the Test will likely be selected," it added.—Agency

Andy Murray withdraws from Paris Olympics singles

PARIS: Andy Murray withdrew from the tennis singles at the Paris Olympics on Thursday but the two-time gold medalist will double in what will be the final event of his glittering career.

The British former world number one, who will retire at the end of his fifth Games, has still not fully recovered from back surgery last month.

He believes the men's doubles, where he is playing with Dan Evans, offers his best chance of another medal.

"I've taken the decision to withdraw from the singles to concentrate on the doubles with Dan," said the 37-year-old.

"Our practice has been great and we're playing well together. Really looking forward to getting started and representing GB one more time."

Murray won gold in singles at the London Olympics in 2012 and in Rio four years later, as well as silver in mixed doubles with Laura Robson in 2012.

His withdrawal means his final singles match was his brief second-round appearance at Queen's Club against Jordan Thompson last month before he was forced to pull out because of a spinal cyst.

For the unversed, Andy metal hip since 2019 and suffered ankle damage earlier this year.

Murray was not fit enough to play singles at Wimbledon this month due to his back surgery but played doubles with his brother Jamie and was defeated in the first round before an emotional tribute arranged by tournament chiefs.

"It's hard because I would love to keep playing, but I can't," admitted Murray at the All England Club.

"Physically it is too tough now, all of the injuries, they have added up and they haven't been insignificant."

Murray ended Britain's 77-year wait for a men's champion at Wimbledon when he triumphed in 2013, defeating rival Novak Djokovic in the final.—Agency

Weightlifter Nooh Dastgir But blames authorities over Paris Olympics absence

LAHORE: Pakistan weightlifter Nooh Dastgir But lamented the lack of support from the sports institutions of the country for his absence from the Paris Olympics, scheduled to run from July 26 to August 11.

Butt appeared at private tv and expressed his disappointment over not being able to represent Pakistan in the biggest sporting event.

"The athlete from New Zealand, whom I beat in the Commonwealth Games, is participating in the Olympics but I am not. All because of the [authorities], neither I participated in any qualifying event nor was sent for international training," said Butt.

"They should have sent me for international training right after the Commonwealth Games and also for qualifying events so that I would participate in the Olympics and win a medal for Pakistan," he added.

When probed about the difficulties in his professional career, Butt termed the sports institutions as the biggest hurdle before going on to appeal to the government for an ample platform.

"The biggest difficulty for me currently is the sports institutions of Pakistan, who did not send me for Olympics qualifiers. But now, all I can do is appeal to the government to provide me an international platform so that I can prepare for upcoming events like Commonwealth Games, Asian Games and Olympics," Butt said.

In May this year, weightlifter Nooh Dastgir But shared that he has been sidelined from this year's Asian Games and Paris Olympics 2024 for allegedly being part of a parallel weightlifting interim committee.—Agency

Karachi Markets To Shut Down In Massive Protest Against Skyrocketing Electricity Bills

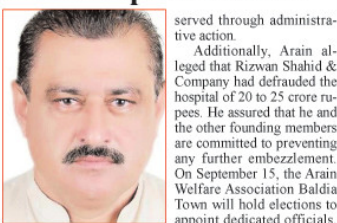

KARACHI: The traders and business community of Karachi have announced the closure of markets to protest against inflated electricity bills, media reported on Thursday.

Faheem Noori of the All Sadr Alliance of Market and Mall Association stated that the markets will be closed from 12 PM to 3 PM as a form of protest. If the situation does not improve, they plan to escalate their protests to include demonstrations outside the markets after a week. The decision follows an earlier announcement by the All Sadr Alliance of Market and Mall Association to close Sadr markets in response to soaring electricity and capacity charges.

The traders are set to hold an emergency meeting on Friday to discuss further actions regarding the high electricity tariffs. Noori emphasized that the current electricity rates make it impossible to run a business. He urged the government to reduce the electricity tariff, as the traders are under significant financial pressure.—RT/Agency

ECP Seeks SC Guidance Over Challenges In Implementing Reserved Seats Verdict

ISLAMABAD: After notifying 39 out of 80 Members of the National Assembly (MNAs) as Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf members, the Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) on Thursday approached the Supreme Court seeking legal and constitutional guidance on the matter of the remaining PTI lawmakers in the national and provincial assemblies.

The electoral body submitted a plea to the top court's registrar via its secretary Omar Hamid Khan to seek an elaborated version of its July 12 order regarding the PTI-backed independent candidates in which the SC declared the former ruling party eligible for reserved seats.

Following the apex court's ruling, PTI lawmakers in the national and provincial assemblies had submitted their affidavits of allegiance to the Imran-founded party to the ECP.

However, the ECP raised some queries before the top court despite receiving the relevant party association particulars from the PTIbacked independent legislators.

In its civil miscellaneous application related to the SC order, the electoral body stated that the PTI lacked an organisational structure as per the ECP's record, which "is statutory obligation of every enlisted political party to conduct intra-party elections in terms of Section 208 of the Election Act 2017".

It further read that the SC order directed the PTI to confirm the statements of the MNAs and Members of the Provincial Assembly (MPAs).

However, the ECP was facing difficulty in implementing the order as the "PTI at the moment has no organisational structure for confirmation of the statements of MNAs and MPAs, purportedly belong to PTI". Pointing towards ECP's records which did not authorise Barrister Gohar Ali Khan as the party chairman, the ECP also questioned the legal status of the PTI's confirmation of statements regarding the lawmakers in the assemblies by an "unauthorised person" on behalf of the party in absence of the "validly elected organisational bodies".

The poll organising body solicited the SC's guidance on the legal points to implement the top court's order in its true spirit.

In a relevant development today, the poll organising body notified 39 out of 80 MNAs on general seats as PTI members who had shown their party affiliation with the Imran-founded party before the 2024 general elections.

However, the fate of the remaining 41 candidates in the NA is yet to be decided by the ECP who had not mentioned PTI in their nomination papers neither disclosing their affiliation with the party nor submitting the ticket of any party.

Having been deprived of its election symbol, the PTI's candidates contested the February 8 elections as independents. However, these independents were directed by the party to join the Sunni Itehad Council (SIC) to be eligible for the reserved seats.

After winning the most seats in the general polls earlier this year, PTI was denied reserved seats by the ECP while its decision was also upheld by the Peshawar High Court (PHC), citing the party's inability to submit list of candidates for reserved seats in the stipulated time.

The SC full bench headed by Chief Justice of Pakistan (CJP) Qazi Faez Isa, by a majority of 8, set aside the Peshawar High Court's judgment of March 25 and declared the ECP order of March 1 to be ultra vires the Constitution, without lawful authority and of no legal effect.

It is noteworthy to mention here that the ruling parties, Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) and the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP), filed a review petition in the apex court against the reserved seats' verdict, which came as an unexpected legal victory for the main opposition party.

This not only paved the way for the PTI's return to parliament, which was kicked out of the February 8 polls owing to the ECP's December 2023 ruling but has also increased the pressure on the coalition alliance by changing the composition of the National Assembly.—RT/Agency

FO: No Trade-Offs On Relations With China And The US

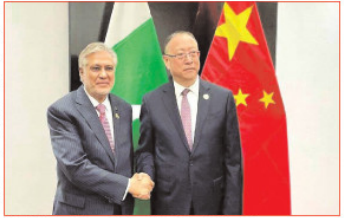

ISLAMABAD: In a policy statement, the Foreign Office on Thursday made it clear that Pakistan would continue to forge closer ties with China days after a senior Biden administration official told the US Congress that Washington wanted to prevent Islamabad's "further overreliance" on Beijing.

"Pakistan has said on several occasions that it does not believe in zero-sum relationships. For us, relations with the United States and relations with China are both important," Mumtaz Zahra Baloch told reporters in Islamabad.

"We do not believe in situations where relationship with one country can be sacrificed on the altar of relations with another. China is an all-weather strategic cooperative partner of Pakistan, and Pakistan will continue to strengthen this relationship going forward," she explained when asked to comment on the recent statement made by US Assistant Secretary of State for South Asia Donald Lu.

Lu sought $101 million in assistance on behalf of the Biden administration to support democracy, human rights and Pakistan's efforts to stabilise the economy.

Commenting on Pakistan's economic relations with China, Lu said the US was seeking to prevent Islamabad's "further overreliance" on Beijing.

He said Washington's "strong and growing influence" in Pakistan, adding that the US would supersede Chinese investments. "China is the past in terms of investment, we are the future," he claimed.

The spokesperson said Pakistan took note of the congressional briefing but added that it was an internal debate between the US Congress and the administration. Pakistan values its close relationship with the United States and believes in constructive engagement. We would like to develop this relationship on the basis of sovereign equality, mutual respect, and non-interference in each other's domestic af-airs," she said. "We believe that deliberations of legislative bodies should contribute to promoting positive dynamics in bilateral ties and should be based on mutual respect and understanding," she added.

"We do not comment on the State Department's budgetary requests. Traditionally, such allocations are made for support to civil society in areas of strategic priorities of the United States government," she further said.

"Regarding the discussions or negotiations that took place between individuals who were doing a sit-in in Chaman and our authorities, we would advise you to contact the relevant authorities, including the government of Balochistan, for any details of the understandings reached between the protesters and the authorities," she said.—RT/Agency

Arshad Sharif Killing: Scotland Yard Drops Investigation Into Nawaz And Maryam

LONDON: Scotland Yard has decided not to investigate former prime minister Nawaz Sharif, his daughter Maryam Nawaz Sharif and their colleagues after allegations were made against them linking them to the killing of journalist Arshad Sharif in Kenya and a gun attack on PTI founder Imran Khan in Wazirabad around two years ago.

Scotland Yard has told media that it's Counter Terrorism Command Unit has decided not to commence an investigation after establishing that there are no grounds to begin a formal investigation as the complainant Sayed Tasnim Haider didn't produce evidence to back up his claims against the Sharifs and their colleagues Mian Saleem Raza, Nasir Mahmood, Zubair Gull and Rashid Nasrullah. In November 2022, PML-N senior UK activist Haider made headlines when he claimed he had evidence that Sharif, Mahmood, Raza, Gull and Nasrullah were involved in hatching a murder plot against Arshad in London — that year on Eid day, July 8, 2022. Responding to Haider's allegations, the Metropolitan Police started what it called a "scoping exercise" to assess the allegations and examine the evidence. Haider had made the allegations at a press conference in London with his solicitor Mahtab Anwar Aziz and both had attended the police station and media talks to stress there is enough evidence for the case linking the Sharifs and their colleagues. The police took the allegations so seriously that Scotland Yard's Central West Command Unit passed the matter to its Counter Terrorism Command Unit — SO15. After an assessment lasting nearly 18 months, the police have told Geo News they "will not be commencing an investigation here in the UK" due to lack of evidence. A Metropolitan Police spokesperson told media: "In November 2022, the Met Police received reports from a complainant, which related to allegations of conspiracy to commit murder in Pakistan, and in Kenya." The information was initially reviewed by officers from the Central West Command Unit, but due to the nature of the allegations, including the international aspect of them, the matter was passed to the Met's Counter Terrorism Command. Specialist detectives carried out a full and thorough review of the allegations and information provided in order to determine whether an investigation should be launched. "The police confirmed that the "scoping exercise" has been completed and "it was determined that there were insufficient grounds upon which to launch an investigation here in the UK, and therefore no further action will be taken. The complainant has since been informed of this outcome."

The police source said that the first complaint was made in London on November 5, 2022, alleging that a Metropolitan Police spokesperson told media: "In November 2022, the Met Police received reports from a complainant, which related to allegations of conspiracy to commit murder in Pakistan, and in Kenya." The information was initially reviewed by officers from the Central West Command Unit, but due to the nature of the allegations, including the international aspect of them, the matter was passed to the Met's Counter Terrorism Command. Specialist detectives carried out a full and thorough review of the allegations and information provided in order to determine whether an investigation should be launched. Court Grants Three-Day Extension For Raof Hasan's Physical Remand ISLAMABAD: A court in the federal capital approved an extension to Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) spokesperson Raof Hasan's physical remand, handing him over to the Federal Investigation Agency (FIA) for three more days.

The FIA has booked the PTI information secretary and several other PTI media cell members for heading a digital media cell and its alleged involvement in running anti-Pakistan propaganda.

The police had said that the "PTI digital media centre had become a centre of inter-caste disinformation, from where anti-Pakistan propaganda is run throughout the world".

Hasan and others who were arrested were produced before the court today after the completion of their two-day physical remand.

During the hearing, the petitions of two arrested female members of the PTI Secretariat seeking bail were approved against surety bonds of Rs50,000 each.

FIA's prosecutor, during the hearing today, said that social media campaigns were staged against two state institutions.

The lawyer claimed that the two women nominated in the FIR were employees of the PTI's social media cell and that granting them bail would affect the case.

"Sections of the Peca (Prevention of Electronic Crimes Act) imposed on both women are also important; we also have evidence against them," the prosecutor said. In response, defence counsel Ali Bukhari said if the federal body has evidence, then it should furnish it before the court. The FIA prosecutor then alleged that the two women were employed for a "special purpose". Then, he asked the court to extend the physical remand of the suspects — 12, including Hasan.—RT/Agency

Imran To Campaign For Oxford University Chancellor From Adiala Jail

LONDON: Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) supreme Imran Khan will apply for the position of chancellor at Oxford University despite being incarcerated in corruption and other cases relating to incitement of violence during May 9 protests last year.

Sayed Zulfi Bukhari, Imran's adviser on international affairs, told media that the seat at Oxford University has become vacant following the resignation of 80-year-old Lord Patten, who served in the role, and Imran will be running for the post. Former prime ministers Sir Tony Blair and Boris Johnson are also among the candidates to become the university's chancellor.

Khan studied Economics and Politics at Keble College, Oxford in 1972, and also captained the university's cricket team. He debuted for Pakistan's Test cricket team in 1971 and served as the chancellor of Bradford University from 2005 to 2014.

Bukhari cited public demand for Imran's participation. "We will announce it publicly once we get a go-ahead from Khan and start the signature campaign for it. He's the most suited person right now for this post and we hope he will win the contest," Bukhari said.

Oxford University describes the chancellor's role as a ceremonial head, typically an eminent public figure elected for life, presiding over all major ceremonies. The election process for the new chancellor will be conducted online for the first time, allowing the university's 350,000-strong convocation to participate. The PTI founder is currently imprisoned on charges of inciting protests and violence against the military in May of the previous year, allegations which he denies. In a recent interview from jail, he stated, "I am confined in a 7ft by 8ft death cell, typically reserved for terrorists. People voted for me because they are fed up with the current system and how Pakistan is being run." This will be the first time the chancellor elections will be held online, instead of the traditional process requiring graduates to attend in full academic dress. The position typically goes to university graduates, often politicians.

Khan faces competition from former prime ministers Sir Tony Blair and Boris Johnson, making the competition tough but Bukhari said he was hopeful that the PTI founder will win. "We await approval from Khan and the campaign will begin," he said. Since Khan's imprisonment in August 2023, the UN has described his detention as having no legal basis, with hundreds of his supporters arrested and the government indicating its intention to ban PTI. His candidacy news was shared by Bukhari and Lord Hannan at an event this week in the House of Lords where nearly two dozen UK Parliament members called for his immediate release.—RT/Agency
