Cyclone Asna Shifts From Karachi, But Winds, Heavy Rains Forecast Remains For Coastal Areas

KARACHI: As Cyclone Asna on Saturday steered away from Pakistan's coastline—lying about 300 kilometres away from Karachi—residents still braced for expected heavy rains brought by the weather system.

A deep depression (a very strong low-pressure area), which the Pakistan Meteorological Department (PMD) warned on Thursday would bring widespread rainfall, intensified into Cyclone Asna on Friday.

According to a PMD alert issued at 5:30pm today, the cyclone over the northeast Arabian Sea off the Sindh coast has kept moving further west-south-westward during the past six hours and now lies at around about 300km southwest of Karachi, 230km south of Ormara and 300km southeast of Gwadar.

"The system is likely to track further west-south-westward," the Met Office added.

It said torrential rains may generate pluvial flood/inundation in low-lying areas of south Sindh, south Balochistan and possible flash flooding in local nullahs/streams of Karachi, Hyderabad, Dadu, Kalat, Khuzdar, Jaffarabad, Sibbi, Naserabad, Barkhan, Lorlai, Awaran, Panjgur, Washuk, Mastung and Lasbella from Saturday-Sunday.

According to rainfall figures as of 3pm, it rained 39 millimetres in Karachi's Quidabad, 24mm in Surjani, 18.4mm in Korangi, 17mm in North Nazimabad, 16.5mm in North Karachi, 6mm each at University Road and Jinnah Terminal, 15mm at PAF Faisal Base, 13mm at PAF Masroor Base, 12.4mm in Old Area Airport, 11.8mm each in Keamari and Gulshan-i-Maymar, 5mm in Gulshan-i-Hadeed, 4.2mm in Gadap and 1mm in Saddar.

According to an update on Zoom Earth at 8am—provided via the Joint Typhoon Warning Center (JTWC)—Cyclone Asna was expected to minimally intensify to 85km/h in around 12 hours and in 24 hours, a weakening trend will start.

"Weakening to tropical depression strength is expected to occur in around two days," the JTWC was quoted as saying.

Met officials have described the formation of a cyclone in the monsoon season as a "rare phenomenon".

In Sindh, at least nine people lost their lives in rain-related incidents in Jamshoro, Dadu and Mirpurkhas districts on Friday. More than 30 people were injured as the deluge ruptured sewers, breached dykes and swept away countless mud houses.

In Balochistan, two persons were missing after 13 people were swept away in flash floods in Lorlai, Qila Saifullah, Duki, Har-nai and Jhal Magis areas.

In the north, 13 of a family died when the roof of their home collapsed due to a landslide induced by incessant rainfall in Dir Div.

Meanwhile, in India, where at least 31 people have died this week from rain-related incidents, authorities evacuated more than 8,700 people from ten districts in the Gujarat state yesterday, officials said.—RT/Agency

Not In Favour Of Talks With PTI: Khawaja Asif

ISLAMABAD: Defence Minister Khawaja Asif has expressed his opposition to engaging in negotiations with Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI).

During a key advisory meeting of the Pakistan Muslim League (Nawaz) held under the chairmanship of Nawaz Sharif at the party secretariat in Model Town, Lahore, Asif made his position clear.

Responding to media queries after the meeting, Asif stated, "I am not in favour of talks with PTI."

Recent media reports suggest that the Pakistan Muslim

League (N) has been in contact with Mahmood Khan Achakzai to explore indirect negotiations with PTI, with the party leadership assigning Rana Sanaulah, the Prime Minister's advisor on political affairs, to engage with Achakzai for this purpose.

Achakzai, representing PKMAP, was elected in April as head of an alliance—the Tehreek-e-Tahaffuz-e-Aim—also comprising the PTI, the SIC, the MWM, and the BNP-M. The PTI had later announced expanding the alliance to include all opposition parties.

Moody's Upgrades Ratings Of 5 Pakistani Banks

KARACHI: International rating agency Moody's on Saturday upgraded the ratings of five major Pakistani banks, citing improved economic conditions in the country.

The long-term deposit ratings of the five banks have been upgraded from Caa3 to Caa2.

The banks include Habib Bank Limited, National Bank of Pakistan, United Bank Limited, Allied Bank Limited, and MCB Bank Limited.

Moody's also changed the outlook for all five banks from stable to positive. The decision comes after Moody's upgraded Pakistan's credit rating from CAA3 to CAA2 and changed the country's outlook from stable to positive.

The international ranking agency noted that Pakistan's improved economic conditions, including a reduction in default risk, were key factors in the upgrade. The agency also cited the country's $7 billion deal with the International Monetary Fund (IMF) as a positive development.

"Moody's said that this upgrade reflects Pakistan's improved macroeconomic conditions and moderately better government external positions from very weak levels."

"We have also upgraded the rating for the senior unsecured MTN programme to (P)Caa2 from (P)Caa3. Currently, the outlook for Government of Pakistan is changed to positive from stable," read the statement.

Accordingly, Pakistan's default risk has been reduced to a level consistent with a Caa2 rating.—RT/Agency

Jamshoro Struggles with Persistent Flooding and Health Risks After Recent Heavy Rains

By Munawar Chandio

JAMSHORO: Four days after a heavy rainfall inundated Jamshoro, the city continues to grapple with extensive flooding that has disrupted daily life and raised serious concerns among residents. The rainwater remains stagnant in residential areas and on major roads, exacerbating the challenges faced by local communities. The heavy downpour that struck the city has left a lasting impact, with residential neighborhoods and key thoroughfares still submerged under several inches of water. The ongoing inundation has created significant difficulties for the residents, who are struggling to navigate through the floodwaters. The persistent flooding has also caused widespread damage to property and infrastructure, further compounding the residents' woes.

In addition to the inconvenience caused by the standing water, there is growing concern about the public health implications. The spread of these illnesses has added to the urgency of addressing the flooding situation. Local residents have expressed frustration with the performance of the local authorities, who they believe have not adequately addressed the issue. The community's concerns were voiced in a series of public complaints and demands directed at higher authorities. Kaiser Bengali Resigns From Three Government Committees

KARACHI: Prominent economist Dr. Kaiser Bengali has resigned from three key government committees, citing concerns over the federal government's austerity measures, media reported on Saturday.
In his resignation letter addressed to Finance Minister Muhammad Aurangzeb and Cabinet Secretary Kamran Afzal, Dr. Bengali expressed his dissatisfaction with the government's cost-cutting strategies. While acknowledging the government's efforts to reduce expenses, he criticized their approach as flawed.
Dr. Bengali had previously proposed significant measures for cost reduction, including the closure of 17 divisions and 50 government departments. His recommendations focused on addressing inefficiencies by reducing the number of smaller government employees rather than targeting senior officers.
However, he criticized the current policy of terminating lower-grade employees (Grades 1 to 16) while retaining higher-ranking officers (Grades 17 to 22). Dr. Bengali argued that removing senior officers could save up to Rs 30 billion annually, but this approach is not being pursued.
The committees from which Dr. Kaiser Bengali resigned are the Austerity Committee, the Right-Sizing Committee, and the Government Expenditure Reduction Committee.

Flooding in Sindh: An Urgent Call for Preparedness

The rising floodwaters in Sindh have once again highlighted the urgent need for robust disaster preparedness at all levels of government. The recent submersion of 70 villages in the Sehwan and Manjhand areas, as reported by the Sindh irrigation department, is a grim reminder of the recurring crisis that floods have become in the province. With the Indus River's water levels surging and reaching the Indus Highway at Sehwan and Jamshoro, the situation is rapidly deteriorating. This is not just a natural calamity; it is a crisis exacerbated by inadequate infrastructure, poor planning, and a lack of timely intervention.

Year after year, the people of Sindh find themselves at the mercy of floodwaters, with their homes submerged, their livelihoods destroyed, and their lives thrown into chaos. The current situation, where 30 villages in Manjhand and 40 in Sehwan have been cut off from nearby cities, is a tragic testament to the failure of the authorities to learn from past disasters. The rising water levels in Manchhar Lake, compounded by the inflow from streams and torrents from Kachho, Larkana, and Qambar-Shahdadkot, only add to the severity of the situation.

It is imperative that the federal and provincial governments, along with relevant local authorities, take immediate and comprehensive action. This includes reinforcing embankments, improving drainage systems, and ensuring that emergency response teams are adequately equipped and ready to act. Long-term solutions, such as the construction of proper flood management infrastructure and the rehabilitation of affected communities, must also be prioritized.

The people of Sindh deserve better than to live in perpetual fear of floods. The time for half-hearted measures has long passed. It is time for decisive, coordinated action to protect lives, property, and the future of the province.

Ramiz Raja offers a piece of advice to Babar Azam amid rough patch

KARACHI: Former Pakistan captain Ramiz Raja offered a piece of advice to star batter Babar Azam, who is going through a rough patch with the bat, particularly in Test cricket.

Babar has thus far managed to score 250 runs in seven matches of the ongoing World Test Championship (WTC) 2023-25 at a dismal average of 22.72 and the highest score of just 41.

He bagged a two-ball duck in the first innings of the home series opener against Bangladesh while managing just 22 in the second innings as Pakistan succumbed to a 10-wicket defeat.

Meanwhile, former Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) chairman Ramiz Raja, speaking on his YouTube channel, Ramiz Speaks, defended under-fire Babar Azam, stating that the star batter receives severe criticism with each of the national team's defeats.

"It seems the entire nation does not have a problem with anything except the form of Babar Azam. Unfortunately, what happens is when you lose a match and you have not scored runs and if you are Babar Azam, then you become a headline - How did we lose? What did he do? What was his contribution? And then this is the era of social media. Anybody can criticize and ridicule anyone, this should be discouraged as much as possible," said Raja.

"Cricket is in our blood but don't know for how long if we continue to lose matches like this in Test cricket. Fan following increases with wins and fans identify themselves with success stories. Babar Azam has had a famous success story. There is no doubt that he has been a big player in all three formats," he concluded.

For the unversed, Babar Azam finished as the fourth-highest run-scorer in the previous cycle of the WTC with 1527 in 14 matches.

However, in the ongoing edition, the star batter is ranked 48th, behind some of the bowlers and bowling all-rounders like Chris Woakes, Jason Holder, Pat Cummins, Mehidy Hasan Miraz and Ravindra Jadeja.—Agency

PSB rejects PHF's allegations of withholding fund for participation in Asian Champions Trophy

KARACHI: The Pakistan Sports Board (PSB) has dismissed claims by the Pakistan Hockey Federation (PHF) alleging that PSB is withholding funds for the national hockey team's participation in the Asian Champions Trophy in China.

In a strongly worded statement, the PSB criticised the PHF for its "baseless allegations" and clarified that the delays in releasing funds were due to the federation's failure to provide necessary documentation on time.

The PSB pointed out that the PHF had submitted a request for a budget exceeding Rs 55 million, in addition to US $60,000 in foreign exchange, and sought funding for 27 players and six officials.

The Pakistan Sports Board called this demand "excessive" and "beyond international standards," adding that it had agreed to finance air tickets for 19 players and four officials in line with global norms.

"Despite this, the PHF claimed it had already booked tickets, to which PSB agreed to reimburse upon receipt of original tickets," the team's participation in the tournament scheduled from September 6 to 18.

"PSB remains fully committed to supporting the national hockey team and ensuring its successful participation in international tournaments," the statement read.

The PSB also added that they supported the three-week training camp at the Naseer Bunda Hockey Stadium and provided accommodation at the Sports Complex in Islamabad.

The sports board accused the PHF of failing to provide the required documentation on time, including lists of players and officials, computer clearance forms, undertakings, and surety bonds.—Agency

Cristiano Ronaldo to join Portugal squad for upcoming UEFA Nations League

Portuguese football legend Cristiano Ronaldo is set to take to the field with his national team once again as they prepare for the upcoming UEFA Nations League matches against Croatia and Scotland.

According to Goal, Ronaldo managed to retain a place in Portugal's squad for the upcoming league despite his underwhelming performance in the national team during Euro 2024.

This year, the 39-year-old Al Nassr striker endured a disappointing European Championship, as he failed to score a goal with Portugal losing to France on penalties in the quarter-finals.

The five-time Ballon d'Or award winner is still Portugal's captain and is in line to win his 213th cap for his country, during which he has scored 130 goals, and will be out to add to that tally as the campaign begins.

Additionally, the former Manchester United, Real Madrid and Juventus star is reportedly determined to play at the 2026 World Cup, so his continued selection may not be surprising.

Ronaldo is one among a list of attacking choices for Roberto Martinez to choose from, including Joao Felix, Pedro Neto, Diogo Jota, Rafael Leao, and Pedro Goncalves. However, it is yet to be known who will be selected.

Meanwhile, Ronaldo is on break from the Saudi Pro League for the upcoming international break. He will next be seen in action against Croatia on September 5.—Agency

Wrestler Ali Asad receives four-year ban for doping

Pakistani wrestler Ali Asad, a bronze medalist at the Commonwealth Games, has been handed a four-year ban for using prohibited performance-enhancing substances.

The International Testing Agency (ITA) offered him the opportunity to appeal and request a B sample test. However, due to his lack of response, a direct four-year ban was imposed.

Ali Asad denied using performance-enhancing drugs after his positive doping test.

Earlier on May 29, the International Weightlifting Federation (IWF) handed four-year bans to four Pakistani weightlifters for violating anti-doping rules.

Abdur Rehman, Sharjeel Butt, Ghulam Mustafa, and Farhan Amjad were suspended in 2022 after refusing to provide samples to the International Testing Agency (ITA) team on November 10, 2021.

According to sources, these four weightlifters took their case to the Court of Arbitration for Sports (CAS) to defend themselves, but they were unable to avoid the lengthy ban.—Agency

Cyclone Asna stays clear of Pakistani coastline, brings heavy rains to Sindh

By Khuda Bux Brohi

THATTA: The anticipated cyclone Asna, named by the Pakistan Meteorological Department, originated as a low-pressure area over the Bay of Bengal on August 16. Despite initial concerns, the cyclone remained at a safe distance from Pakistan's coastline. Asna intensified into a depression over the Saurashtra and Kutch regions of Gujarat, India, but did not make landfall in Pakistan. It maintained a distance of 200 to 220 km from Karachi, according to meteorological reports. According to TV channel reports that the India Meteorological Department (IMD) had indicated that the depression was likely to move west-southwest into the northeast Arabian Sea, potentially strengthening into a cyclonic storm by Friday. Although initial concerns had suggested a possible impact on Sindh's coastline, but by the blessings of God the cyclone did not make landfall. However, the coastal regions experienced significant rainfall and strong winds, leading to inundation in some cities, including Karachi. Makhdoom Jamil-uz-Zaman Criticizes Sindh Government's Failure to Provide Relief

By Sajjad Ali Abbasi

MATIARI: MNA Makhdoom Jamil-uz-Zaman, the prominent spiritual leader of the Sarwari Jamaat, has sharply criticized the Sindh Government for its failure to deliver adequate relief to the people. During his recent visit to Sarhandi House in Matiari, where he met with Sajjadnashin Pir Ghulam Mujaddid Sarhandi, and to the Dargah Pir Sarhandi, Jamil-uz-Zaman expressed his concerns about the governance and political dynamics in Sindh.

In a press briefing following his visit, Makhdoom Jamil-uz-Zaman delivered a scathing critique of Sindh Chief Minister Syed Murad Ali Shah, stating that the CM should focus on restoring peace and addressing issues in Kashmir, Kandhot, and Shikarpur. He argued that the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) has become increasingly confined to Sindh and warned that if the party does not revise its policies, it risks being limited to only Matiari and Garhi Khuda Bux.

The MNA accused certain factions within the PPP of undermining the party's foundational strength and conspiring against its interests. He suggested that loyalty to Pir Sahib Pagara should be a prerequisite for allegiance to the PPP, implying that some members who failed to support Pagara were now betraying the party's core values. Helicopter With 22 Aboard Goes Missing In Russia's Kamchatka

MOSCOW: A helicopter with 22 people aboard, most of them tourists, has gone missing in Russia's Kamchatka peninsula in the far east, regional authorities said Saturday.

"Today at about 1615 (0415 GMT) communication was lost with a Mi-8 helicopter... which had 22 people on board, 19 passengers and three crew members," Kamchatka Governor Vladimir Solodov said in a video posted on Telegram.

Rescue teams in helicopters have been searching the night for the missing aircraft, focusing on a river valley that the helicopter was due to fly along, Russian authorities said.

The Mi-8 is a Soviet-designed military helicopter that is widely used for transport in Russia. The missing helicopter had picked up passengers near the Vachkazhets ancient volcano in a scenic area of the peninsula known for its wild landscapes and active volcanoes.

A source in the emergency services told TASS news agency that the helicopter disappeared from radar almost immediately after taking off and the crew did not report any problems.

Accidents involving planes and helicopters are very frequent in Russia's far eastern region, which is sparsely populated and where there is often harsh weather.
