Imran's Sisters Among 30 Arrested As PTI Uprising Paralyzes Islamabad

ISLAMABAD: At least 30 protesters have been arrested as mobile networks and internet services remain suspended in Islamabad and Rawalpindi amid a planned PTI rally at the capital's D-Chowk. The PTI today shared updates of its caravans departing various cities, despite being warned by Interior Minister Mohsin Naqvi a day ago not to hold any rally in Islamabad due to several high-profile visits by foreign dignitaries. Jamiat Ulama-i-Islam-Fazl Maulana Fazlur Rehman, with whom the PTI has been in frequent amicable contact recently, has also urged the party to postpone its planned gatherings till the foreigners have left. The police have blocked all entry and points to the cities and tear gas shelling has also begun in an attempt to disperse protesters. Talking to the media at lamabad and Lahore earlier this month, the government had issued a set of strict guidelines, which the PTI failed to follow fully, sparking clashes between its workers and the authorities. The PTI today shared updates of its caravans departing various cities, despite being warned by Interior Minister Mohsin Naqvi a day ago not to hold any rally in Islamabad due to several high-profile visits by foreign dignitaries. Jamiat Ulama-i-Islam-Fazl Maulana Fazlur Rehman, with whom the PTI has been in frequent amicable contact recently, has also urged the party to postpone its planned gatherings till the foreigners have left. The police have blocked all entry and points to the cities and tear gas shelling has also begun in an attempt to disperse protesters. Talking to the media at

D-Chowk, Islamabad Inspector General of Police Syed Ali Nasir Rizvi said: "Proceedings are under way wherever there are attempts to hurt police or damage property. Till now, there have been over 30 arrests. We are updating the exact numbers. It is very clear that we have a clear message that we will not allow the law to be taken into own hands." Footage shared by the PTI showed arrests of its supporters. "Release Imran! Release Imran!" dozens of protesters chanted, holding pictures of Imran and PTI flags, less than a kilometre from the red zone. Visuals also showed Imran's sister Aleema Khanum being taken away by the police while the party claimed that she was arrested. KP government spokesperson Barrister Saif alleged that Uzma Khanum was also arrested. The party also alleged that the police had laid caltrops on the roads, sharing footage as well.

According to a media correspondent in Islamabad, mobile network and internet services have been suspended across the twin cities since the morning, causing problems for the public, especially those relying on them for their work. As of 4:42pm, outage tracking website Downdetector showed possible problems in accessing Zong and PTCL services since around 5am, with most of the complaints located near Rawalpindi and Islamabad. A media correspondent reported that roads leading to the Red Zone and D-Chowk were sealed from all sides, including at Serena, Jinnah Avenue, Nadra Square, Marriott Hotel and Zero Point. Entry points of the twin cities, Srinagar Highway at Bus Stop 26, Faizabad Chowk, Sanjani Toll Plaza, Margalla Road, and 9th Avenue were also closed.

Rawalpindi City Police Officer (CPO) Khalid Hamdani said in a statement that security was on high alert and pillion-riding was banned, adding that mobile network and metro bus services were suspended indefinitely. The officials also said that other routes within Islamabad were likely to be blocked after 2pm to prevent the entry of PTI workers. Islamabad Police also posted a reminder on its X account of Section 144 being "in force" in the federal capital. "Citizens are requested not to be part of any illegal activity. The law will act against those who disturb peace and order," the police said, adding that police should observe traffic advisories for road closures while travelling. On Wednesday, Islamabad Capital Territory (ICT) authorities had enforced Section 144 and the Peaceful Assembly Act across the federal capital, prohibiting gatherings and processions in restricted areas as part of tightened security measures. According to the ICT police, the high-security zone, Red Zone and surrounding areas have been designated as restricted. Meanwhile, Naqvi said no one would be allowed to damage public property. "We have made arrangements for the security of our foreign guests. Apologies for the inconvenience to the citizens of Islamabad. Protesters should take stock of their senses. Visitors should feel that they are visiting a safe country," said a statement issued by state broadcaster PTV. He visited D-Chowk with the Islamabad police chief and instructed personnel to maintain law and order. The interior minister also conducted an aerial inspection to review the overall security arrangements and expressed his satisfaction with them. He gave instructions to strictly deal with any miscreants. "No one will be allowed to disturb the law and order situation in the capital. Islamabad administration and police are ready to deal with every possible situation. All possible steps will be taken to maintain law and order and protect lives and property of the citizens," he said. Separately, the federal government authorised the army's deployment in the federal capital from Oct 5-17 for the security of the upcoming Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit and to maintain law and order. The notification from the interior ministry said the exact area of deployment along with the number of troops would be determined later.—RT/Agency

Indian External Affairs Minister Jaishankar Set To Attend Pivotal SCO Summit In Pakistan

ISLAMABAD: Minister of External Affairs of India S Jaishankar will travel to Pakistan to attend the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation's Council of Heads of Government (SCO-CHG) meeting, scheduled for October 15 and 16. "The external affairs minister will lead our delegation to Pakistan to participate in the SCO summit which will be held in Islamabad on 15 and 16 October," said Randhir Jaiswal, a spokesperson for Indian foreign ministry, but did not say if Jaishankar would meet any Pakistani leaders on the sidelines. This will be the first visit by an Indian foreign minister to Pakistan in nearly a decade. Speaking to media, Indian journalist Umashankar Singh, citing an Indian external ministry spokesperson, affirmed that Jaishankar would attend the SCO summit in the federal capital of Pakistan. However, according to Singh, Indian foreign ministry official in his statement also emphasised that Jaishankar's upcoming visit should be seen in the context of regional summit.

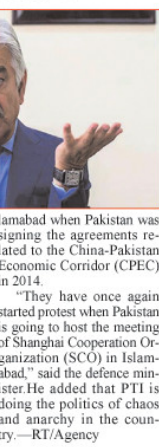

Islamabad extended invitations to all the government heads of the member states, including Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi, for the upcoming SCO-CHG meeting in Islamabad, Foreign Office Spokesperson Mumtaz Zahra Baloch confirmed in a statement in July. Pakistan currently holds the rotating Chairmanship of the SCO-CHG, which is the regional organisation's second-highest decision-making forum. "Islamabad has also received some confirmations for the moot to be hosted by Pakistan on October 15-16," Baloch said addressing a news briefing. Last year in May, the then-foreign minister, Bilawal Bhutto-Zardari visited India to attend the two-day meeting of the SCO Council of Foreign Ministers.

It was the first visit to India by a top Pakistani official since then-prime minister Nawaz Sharif attended Indian Prime Minister Narendra Modi's swearing-in in 2014. "Pakistan downgraded its ties with India after the Modi-led government unilaterally changed the special status of the Indian Illegally Occupied Jammu and Kashmir (IOJK) in August 2019 — the decision that Islamabad believed undermined the environment for holding talks between the neighbours. Islamabad has linked its decision to normalising ties with New Delhi with the restoration of the special status of the IOJK. Despite the frosty ties, the two countries agreed to renew the 2003 ceasefire agreement along the Line of Control (LoC) in February 2021.—RT/Agency

"They have once again started protest when Pakistan is going to host the meeting of Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO) in Islamabad," said the defence minister. He added that PTI is doing the politics of chaos and anarchy in the country.—RT/Agency

Closure Of Arif Alvi's Clinic Sparks Legal Battle In Sindh High Court

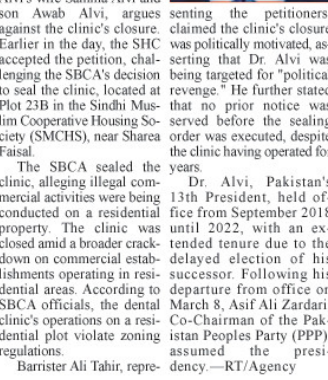

KARACHI: The decision by the Sindh Building Control Authority (SBCA) to seal the dental clinic of former President Dr. Arif Alvi in Karachi has been contested in the Sindh High Court (SHC). On Friday, a two-member bench of the court took up the case, issuing notices to the provincial government, SBCA, and the Sindh Healthcare Commission, seeking their responses by October 7.

The petition, filed by Dr. Alvi's wife Samina Alvi and son Awab Alvi, argues against the clinic's closure. Earlier in the day, the SHC accepted the petition, challenging the SBCA's decision to seal the clinic, located at Plot 23B in the Sindh Muslim Cooperative Housing Society (SMCHS), near Sharea Faisal.

The SBCA sealed the clinic, alleging illegal commercial activities were being conducted on a residential property. The clinic was closed amid a broader crackdown on commercial establishments operating in residential areas. According to SBCA officials, the dental clinic's operations on a residential plot violate zoning regulations.

Barrister Ali Tahir, representing the petitioners, claimed the clinic's closure was politically motivated, asserting that Dr. Alvi was being targeted for "political revenge." He further stated that no prior notice was served before the sealing order was executed, despite the clinic having operated for years.

Dr. Alvi, Pakistan's 13th President, held office from September 2018 until 2022, with an extended tenure due to the delayed election of his successor. Following his departure from office on March 8, Asif Ali Zardari, Co-Chairman of the Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP), assumed the presidency.—RT/Agency

Must We Constantly Humiliate Ourselves

The events unfolding in Islamabad, as police clash with PTI supporters ahead of the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit, are nothing short of an embarrassment for Pakistan. This should have been a moment to showcase our ability to host high-level international gatherings, presenting a united and orderly front. Instead, we find ourselves in a repeat of chaotic confrontations that reflect poorly on our nation's governance and political maturity. How can we expect to gain respect on the global stage when we cannot maintain basic law and order during such critical events?

The deployment of the army for security purposes underscores just how precarious the situation has become. Relying on military force to manage what should be civil affairs is a troubling indicator of our failure to strike a balance between political expression and public safety. Yes, citizens have a right to protest, but must it always descend into tear gas and arrests? Must we continually disrupt lives, shut down mobile services, and lock down cities whenever tensions flare?

It feels reminiscent of the May 9th protests—another instance where the country's internal strife stole the spotlight. At this rate, will we ever reach a point where political parties like PTI can voice their grievances without it devolving into violent stand-offs with law enforcement? Or are we doomed to repeat this cycle of chaos indefinitely? For the sake of our future and our reputation, Pakistan must find a way to maintain law and order while allowing space for political discourse. Otherwise, we will continue to tarnish our image, both at home and abroad, at crucial moments like the SCO summit.

The event featured notable speaker Atta Chanhio and was attended by many young participants.

During the session, Atta Chanhio explained various aspects of Bhittai's poetry. Numerous questions regarding the poetry were posed by the youth, to which Atta Chanhio provided detailed responses. He expressed concern that instead of promoting Bhittai's poetry through the state, the focus has shifted to presenting favored individuals at the annual Latif Award ceremony, often those with little connection to Bhittai's work. In response to a question, Atta Chanhio noted that while Bhittai celebrated seven heroes linked to Hindu culture, his thoughts transcended religious boundaries, emphasizing truth, love, principles, and honesty.

He stressed that if the state were to understand and implement Bhittai's philosophy, it could lead to a better society, although he doubted such intentions due to existing deficiencies in their approach. Chanhio encouraged the youth to read and understand Bhittai, as there is much to learn from his work. The session also saw the participation of Qazi Javed Sanai, Khair Muhammad Lakho, Bashir Lashari, Zeeshan Soomro, Gulam Nabi Mallah, and Parvez Soomro, among others.

Sirbaz Khan Etches His Name in History by Conquering All 14 Eight-Thousanders

KARACHI: Pakistani mountaineer Sirbaz Khan has made history by becoming the first Pakistani to summit all 14 of the world's 8,000-metre peaks, a feat accomplished by only a few elite climbers globally.

Khan's latest triumph came on Friday when he scaled Shishapangma, an 8,027-metre peak in Tibet without O2, marking the completion of his 14th "eight-thousander." This remarkable achievement places him in the ranks of the world's most accomplished high-altitude mountaineers.

Hailing from Hunza, Khan began his 14-peaks journey in 2017 when he successfully summited Nanga Parbat, a notoriously dangerous 8,126-metre peak. This marked the start of his journey to scale all of the world's highest mountains. Over the years, he has conquered some of the most challenging peaks, including K2 in July 2018 and Lhotse in May 2019, where he became the first Pakistani to summit the world's most accomplished high-altitude mountaineers.

In July 2019, Khan added Broad Peak to his list of accomplishments, reaching its 8,051-metre summit without the use of supplementary oxygen, a feat that would become a hallmark of his climbs. Later that same year, in September, he scaled Manaslu in Nepal, becoming only the second Pakistani to reach its 8,163-metre summit. Khan's determination was unwavering, and in April 2021, he became the first Pakistani to summit Annapurna, one of the deadliest mountains in the world. The following month, he successfully summited Mount Everest, the highest peak on the planet, standing at 8,849 metres. In July 2021, Khan led an all-Pakistani team to the summit of Gasherbrum II, standing at 8,035 metres, further cementing his reputation as a leader in high-altitude mountaineering. Just a few months later, in October 2021, he became the first Pakistani to summit Dhaulagiri, an 8,167-metre peak. Khan continued to break barriers in 2022, summiting Kangchenjunga in May and Makalu later that month, becoming the first Pakistani to conquer both of these formidable mountains. In August of the same year, he led another successful expedition to Gasherbrum I, marking his 12th summit of an 8,000-metre peak. In October 2023, Khan added Cho Oyu to his list of conquests, becoming the first Pakistani to summit the 8,188-metre peak. Finally, with his successful ascent of Shishapangma on Friday (October 4), Khan completed his mission, becoming the first Pakistani to conquer all 14 of the world's highest peaks.—Agency

Ancelotti Admits Lille Defeat Was a Harsh Wake-Up Call for Real Madrid

Real Madrid manager Carlo Ancelotti is hoping the shock preparation time he has had with his players following the shock Champions League loss at Lille will be enough for his team to return to winning ways.

As they prepare to host Villarreal in LaLiga on Saturday, Ancelotti said Wednesday's match was a reality check after a penalty scored by Jonathan David earned the French side a 1-0 victory over the holders, ending the 15-times European Cup winners' 36-game unbeaten run in all competitions.

"(Villarreal) are doing really well, tomorrow it's an opportunity for us to reconnect, to get back to playing good football," Ancelotti told a press conference on Friday.

"(The mood) is fine, as always. (Wednesday's) defeat is an opportunity, if we take it and react well. We are self-critical. There are times when you have to reconnect and you need to do it quickly."

"Sometimes a good run makes you think you're invincible, but a defeat brings you back to reality. We are still not at our level, we have players who are not at their best. We are not far from where we want to be. There is a lack of defensive intensity and, offensively, a lack of ball circulation."

Coming off a remarkable 2023-24 season in which they won the LaLiga and Champions League double, Real are second in the Spanish league standings on 18 points, three behind leaders Barcelona and one ahead of Villarreal. Ancelotti expects to get Kylian Mbappe back into the starting team after the forward missed last week's 1-1 derby against Athletic and came off the bench at Lille due to a hamstring injury, which led to

France manager Didier Deschamps leaving his captain out of the squad for next week's internationals against Israel and Belgium.—Agency

New Contenders Emerge for Pakistan's White-Ball Captaincy After Babar's Departure

LAHORE: After star batter Babar Azam's recent resignation as Pakistan's white-ball captain, speculation is rife over who will take up the mantle next.

Among the leading contenders for the role are Test vice-captain Saud Shakeel, dynamic opener Fakhar Zaman, and all-rounder Salman Ali Agha.

Reports indicate that wicketkeeper-batter Mohammad Rizwan and pace bowler Shaheen Afridi have slim chances of being considered for the role, despite their leadership experience in other formats.

Saud Shakeel, who recently replaced Rizwan as Test vice-captain during Pakistan's series against Bangladesh, is seen as a potential candidate.

Meanwhile, Fakhar Zaman, who has captained Lahore Qalandars in the Pakistan Super League (PSL), brings his own leadership experience to the table.

However, Salman Ali Agha, the least experienced

Cup campaign. In the aftermath, the Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) handed the T20 captaincy to Shaheen Afridi and the Test leadership to Shan Masood.

Babar returned as captain of the white-ball team in March of this year, but his latest resignation leaves the position once again up for grabs. Previously, following Babar Azam's resignation, Mohammad Rizwan has emerged as the top contender to take over Pakistan's ODI captaincy. Sources revealed that Rizwan's consistent performances and leadership experience make him a strong candidate for the position.—Agency

Wasim Akram Claims Babar Will 'Soar Higher' After Stepping Down as Captain

KARACHI: Former Pakistan cricketer, Wasim Akram has expressed his support for Babar Azam's decision, stating that stepping down from captaincy will allow him to focus more on his batting and eliminate unnecessary stress.

Babar informed fans of his decision to step down as captain of the white-ball teams through a social media post in recent days.

His leadership has seen Pakistan's team underperform, which has led to appreciation for his decision.

In response to an inquiry from the Cricket Pakistan representative, Akram said that Babar must have made his decision thoughtfully.

He liked consulted with his seniors, mentors, and friends, including his father. "This would not have been an easy decision, but we should respect it. I stand with Babar. He should enjoy his cricket. With reduced pressure, he will be able to focus more on his batting," he said.

"I believe that stepping down from captaincy will significantly improve Babar Azam's performance. He must have experienced unnecessary stress due to captaincy, and now he can fully concentrate on his game, win a few matches for Pakistan, and I am confident he will do just that," Akram said.

It's important to note that following Babar's resignation, Pakistan is now searching for a new captain for the white-ball format.

Names such as Mohammad Rizwan have come up in discussions.

The decision regarding leadership rests solely with the PCB Chairman, Mohsin Naqvi, who is currently busy with political matters and will take steps regarding this issue when time permits.

Gillespie Shares Insights on His Game-Changing Role as Pakistan's Red-Ball Coach

LAHORE: Jason Gillespie, who was appointed Pakistan's red-ball head coach in April this year, revealed that the start of his new job has not been easy.

"It's been a tough initiation, and Pakistan haven't been playing well for a while now. Look, it's a challenge. There's no doubt about that, but it's an exciting one," he told The Telegraph.

With the harsh defeat against Bangladesh by 2-0, that too at home, Pakistan's Test captain, Shan Masood has faced criticism and his leadership qualities and capabilities have been questioned.

However, Gillespie seems to be impressed with Masood's ability to communicate with his team and how he "has got a very clear plan on how the Test side should play and we are completely aligned on that."

"There are things people don't see and I've been really impressed by his communication with the players and how he's gone about doing his job," he added.

Gillespie also listed down key points through which chance against good teams.

"We know England are going to go hard. But if we can just keep hanging in there, keep being disciplined, strike at the right moments, get on for the gap, so to speak, and go on top in games then we can mix it with really good teams," Gillespie said.

The head coach also believes that Pakistan matches up "okay" against England, also thanking the team for visiting the country for a three-Test series.

"I'm very confident that we've got good quality players. We just need to show our faith and our belief in them, and we need to show a bit of patience," the red-ball coach stated.—Agency

Russia Moves To Officially Delist Afghan Taliban As Terror Group In Groundbreaking Decision

MOSCOW: Russia's Foreign Ministry said on Friday that a decision to remove the Afghan Taliban from a list of terrorist organisations had been "taken at the highest level", the state TASS news agency reported.

The decision needs to be followed up with various legal procedures in order to make it a reality, President Vladimir Putin's special representative on Afghanistan, Zamir Kabulov, was quoted as saying.

Putin said in July that Russia considered Afghanistan's Taliban movement an ally in the fight against terrorism.

Russia has been slowly building ties with the Taliban since it seized power in Afghanistan in August 2021 as US-led forces withdrew after 20 years of war but the movement is still officially outlawed in Russia.

No country has formally recognised the Taliban-led government as the country's legitimate leadership, although China and the UAE have accepted its ambassadors.

Russia added the Afghan Taliban to its list of terrorist organisations in 2003. Removing it would be an important step by Moscow towards normalising relations with Afghanistan.

The Taliban's acting foreign minister Amir Khan Muttaqi said in a speech in Moscow that recent decisions by Kazakhstan and Kyrgyzstan to remove the former insurgents from a list of banned groups was a welcome step.

"We also appreciate the positive remarks by the high-ranking officials of the Russian Federation in this regard and hope to see more effective steps soon," he said. In separate comments on Friday, Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov said Moscow was convinced of the need to maintain "pragmatic dialogue" with the current Afghan government.

"It is obvious that it is impossible to solve problems or even discuss an Afghan settlement without Kabul," Lavrov said. "Moscow will continue its course on developing political, trade and economic ties with Kabul," he added, speaking at a meeting in Moscow with Muttaqi and representatives of neighbouring countries.

While he did not mention the Taliban by name, he praised the current Afghan leadership for its efforts to curb drug production and fight Daesh which is outlawed in Russia.

Muttaqi said that countries in the region should cooperate against the Daesh, which he said had established training centres outside Afghanistan.

Lavrov said the United States should return confiscated assets to Afghanistan and the West should acknowledge responsibility for the post-conflict reconstruction of the country.

The Russian foreign minister also called for an increase in humanitarian aid to Afghanistan, and said Russia would keep sending it food and essential goods.

Russia has a troubled history in Afghanistan, where the Soviet army invaded in 1979 to support a pro-Moscow government but withdrew 10 years later after sustaining heavy casualties at the hands of mujahideen fighters.

Russia and its post-Soviet neighbours have suffered recurrent attacks from militant groups linked to Afghanistan — most recently in March, when 145 people were killed in an attack claimed by Daesh at a concert hall near Moscow.—RT/Agency

COAS Munir also attended the investiture ceremony and state banquet held in the honour of the prime minister of Malaysia at the presidency.

During the ceremony, it was highlighted that the Malaysian prime minister was an avid reader of Allama Iqbal and acknowledged that his work had been a source of inspiration for him.

ATC Grants 4-Day Remand For PTI Lawyer Accused Of Threatening CJ Isa

ISLAMABAD: An Islamabad anti-terrorism court has granted a four-day physical remand for Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) lawyer Mustafin Kazmi, following accusations of misbehaving with Chief Justice Qazi Faez Isa.

The ruling was delivered by Judge Tahir Abbas Supra during a court hearing on Friday.

Kazmi was presented before the court, represented by lawyers Eman Mazari and Rizwan, among others. During the hearing, prosecutor Raja Naveed read out the First Information Report (FIR) detailing the charges against Kazmi.

The defence argued that all individuals named in the FIR were lawyers, to which the prosecutor responded, "No one is above the law."

Judge Supra questioned who has the authority to determine who is above the law, following which the prosecutor requested a nine-day physical remand for Kazmi. However, the court approved a four-day remand and adjourned the case until October 8.

Kazmi's arrest came following allegations of inappropriate behaviour towards Chief Justice Isa, leading to the current legal proceedings.

Day before yesterday, lawyers belonging to the PTI gathered outside the Supreme Court to protest the formation of a bench hearing the review petition on the court's interpretation of Article 63-A of the Constitution.

Inside the courtroom, PTI's counsel warned the bench of consequences if an unfavorable ruling was issued.

Despite the noisy protest outside, the hearing of the review petition continued. The case was heard by a five-judge larger bench, also including Justice Aminuddin Khan, Justice Jamal Mandokhail, Justice Naem Akhtar Afghan and Justice Mazhar Alam Miankhal.

During the hearing, PTI's counsel, Tayyab Mustafin Kazmi, threatened the bench, stating that 500 lawyers were protesting outside and that he would see how the bench gave the decision against the PTI. Kazmi warned the bench of dire consequences if the verdict went against his party.

Chief Justice Qazi Faez Isa condemned the threat, asserting, "We will not tolerate insults." He asked the lawyer if he believed the country's institutions should be run through threats and intimidation, emphasizing his patience in the face of such behavior.

The chief justice then asked Kazmi, "How many members of parliament were sent to jail by former chief justice Saqib Nisar?" Kazmi replied that the current bench was not incorrect, adding, "The PTI is the victim in this case."

Angered, the chief justice called for the police. Tayyab Mustafin Kazmi was arrested by Islamabad police on Thursday.

Kazmi was taken into custody from F-7/4 and transferred to the Secretariat Police Station following his disruptive behaviour during proceedings on Article 63-A review petitions.—RT/Agency

Army Assumes Control Of Islamabad's Security Under Article 245 As PTI Protests Escalate

RAWALPINDI/ ISLAMABAD: Pakistan Army units have taken over security duties in Islamabad under Article 245 of the Constitution, following orders from the Ministry of Interior. The move comes as part of efforts to maintain law and order amid escalating Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) protests in the capital.

According to official sources, the deployment has been completed, with army troops now stationed across Islamabad and surrounding areas. Their role includes patrolling key locations to safeguard citizens and protect public property, especially with the upcoming Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) Summit in focus.

"These security measures are essential to protect lives and property, and to ensure peace during this critical period," a security official stated. The PTI protests have led to clashes with police, prompting authorities to take additional steps to control the situation.

The protests, which saw PTI workers gathering at D-Chowk, led to tear gas shelling by police to disperse the crowds. Several PTI workers were arrested at various points, including 26 Number Chungi.

"No one will be allowed to disrupt the peace or create unrest," the security source stressed, adding that the army's presence is crucial to neutralising any threats posed by the ongoing demonstrations.

with hoards of the PTI workers are travelling towards the federal capital amid visits of foreign dignitaries.

Naqvi said he had requested the PTI a day ago as well "not to hold rally for now". The minister added that he would not let anyone damage properties.

On Thursday, he also warned the PTI against holding the public gathering as visits of foreign dignitaries, including the Malaysian prime minister, were planned in Islamabad.

Amid its anti-government campaign, the former ruling party is holding protests for the "independence" of the ju-

The protest coincides with the final day of the Malaysian PM Anwar Ibrahim's visit to Pakistan and ahead of the upcoming Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit.

The authorities have already enforced Section 144 and "the Peaceful Assembly and Public Order Act, 2024", regulating holding of public assemblies at certain places in Islamabad.

"The PTI's top leadership should review its protest call [..] No one will be allowed for an outreach in Islamabad," the security czar had said while addressing a presser along with officials of the federal police.

In today's news conference, he said the security force deployed by the government did not wield guns, whereas "you could see in videos and pictures that those coming towards Islamabad are carrying arms". "The KP chief minister [Ali Amin Gandapur] is a Pakistani. He should think what he's doing. He has an entire province under his command; he should hold protest wherever he wants," Naqvi said, adding that they had the right to hold protest, but it was not the right way to do it.

"I am clear in my stance that they are storming Islamabad," he said. Meanwhile, the interior minister said the government had taken some extra measures for security of the foreign guests. "Providing security to those guests was crucial."—RT/Agency
