With rising sea levels and a depleting Kotri downstream, Palijo warned that the lack of water has led to conflict, destruction of agriculture, and a fisheries crisis. Police Clamp Down On Spread Of Shocking Unverified Reports In Lahore Rape Case

By Abid Mehmood Ch

LAHORE: Soon after a high-level committee, formed by the Punjab government, published its preliminary findings concerning the alleged rape of a first-year female student at a private college in the city, the police registered a first information report (FIR) at the Defence A Police Station citing the spread of misinformation and unverified news on social media. The case has been registered by the police under section 20 of the Prevention of Electronic Crimes Act, 2016, which deals with "offences against dignity of a natural person", while other charges include section 354 (assault or criminal force to woman with intent to outrage her modesty), 500 (punishment for defamation), 501 (printing or engraving matter known to be defamatory); and 505 (statements conducing to public mischief). The development comes after social media was flooded with public outcry over the alleged rape incident, with the matter going viral across various platforms with photographs of some female students also being widely shared. The matter surfaced on the internet after students of a private college took to streets on Monday to protest against the alleged rape. The demonstration turned violent after dozens of the protesters were injured in violent clashes with protesters and law enforcers. The protests also continued on Tuesday and Wednesday in difference of the province. According to the FIR, the news of the alleged rape of the student went viral on social media. It added that various students were asked to confirm the incident, while the concerned girl and her parents completely denied its occurrence. The FIR further stated that the girl's parents said that their daughter fell in the house on October 2 and suffered deep injury. The weaponization of social media

The recent uproar over the alleged rape incident at a private college in Lahore has brought to light the enormous influence of social media—both its power to inform and its potential to mislead. In today's digital age, information travels at lightning speed, often without verification, leading to a dangerous mix of truth, misinformation, and speculation.

Last week, social media was ablaze with reports of an alleged rape on a Lahore campus. The news went viral, sparking protests and demands for justice. However, Punjab Chief Minister Maryam Nawaz has now debunked these allegations, calling the incident a "fabricated story" meant to incite unrest and tarnish the government's image. She further accused political rivals of exploiting the situation for their own agenda. The father of the alleged victim also denied any assault, clarifying that his daughter's injuries were the result of an accident at home, not a crime.

The incident serves as a grim reminder of how social media can be weaponized. While it can spread awareness and rally people to just causes, it can also become a breeding ground for rumors, leading to panic, unrest, and the unfair targeting of individuals. In this case, a family's privacy was invaded, and the community was stirred by unsubstantiated claims.

It is hoped that restraint and common sense will prevail, allowing authorities to address legitimate concerns without the noise of misinformation. While social media remains a vital tool for connectivity and advocacy, its users must exercise responsibility and verify facts before sharing. Only through careful discernment can we ensure that such platforms serve to inform rather than deceive.

Sajid Khan's Rampage: England Crumbles To Pakistan's Spin Wizard

MULTAN: Pakistan bounced back in the game as four English wickets fell in a span of a few overs including robust opener Ben Duckett leading England to finish the second day's play of the second Test against Pakistan at 239/6 at the Multan Cricket Stadium on Wednesday.

Pakistan's Sajid Khan got his team back in the game as he grabbed the all-important wickets of century Dockett, Harry Brook and Joe Root. Earlier, he had dismissed Ollie Pope. The visiting side were pretty much leading the game from the top with Duckett's smashing hundred to lead England's robust reply to Pakistan's first-innings 366. Duckett reached his fourth Test hundred on 129 balls - his slowest-ever hundred comparing to his ton on 88 balls vs India, 105 balls vs Pakistan and 106 balls vs Ireland.

Root was with Duckett, cheering him on but failed to replicate his partner's score and was dismissed by Sajid Khan after scoring 34 off 54 balls, leaving England at 211/3. Within the next couple of overs, Pakistan's bowlers found their rhythm and dismissed Duckett at bowler Sajid Khan had broken the stumps before he could collect the ball. Sajid appeared to have redeemed himself in the next over when his lbw appeal against Crawley was upheld.

Pakistan's joy was short-lived, however, as Crawley, convinced by Duckett, reviewed the decision, which was reversed after replays confirmed the ball would have narrowly missed the stumps. Crawley could not make the most of the reprieves, though, and fell to Noman Ali.

After the caught-behind against Crawley had been turned down, left-arm spinner Noman cajoled his captain Shan Masood to review the decision and replays confirmed an edge.—Agency

Cricket Showdown: ECB Warns India Pullout Could Shatter Champions Trophy

ENGLAND: As the Board of Cricket Control in India (BCCI) is yet to decide on sending a team to Pakistan for the upcoming ICC Champions Trophy 2025, the England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) Chair Richard Thompson said: "It would not be in cricket's interests for India not to be playing [in the event]".

Pakistan is scheduled to host the prestigious ICC tournament in February next year, however, India's participation remains uncertain as the BCCI seeks the New Delhi's approval to visit the country.

India has not travelled to Pakistan since 2008 and both the historical rivals have not had any bilateral series since 2012-13.

Urging both South Asian nations to reach a decision amicably, Thompson said that BCCI Chairman Jay Shah is going to have a big role to play in this situation. "There's geopolitics, and then there's cricketing geopolitics. I think they'll find a way. They have to find a way."

Thompson and ECB Chief Executive Richard Gould are currently in Pakistan where they interacted with British journalists in Multan during the ongoing second Test between Pakistan and England. The ECB senior leadership's statement came ahead

Explosive Video: Haris Rauf's Heated Clash With Kamran Ghulam Resurfaces

LAHORE: Pakistan's batter Kamran Ghulam made an outstanding debut, scoring a brilliant century against England on the first day of the second Test in Multan. The 29-year-old hit 118 off 224 balls, which included 11 fours and one six, guiding Pakistan to a solid 259-5 by stumps. Ghulam's impressive performance came after Pakistan faced early trouble, losing two wickets for just 19 runs.

Ghulam, who replaced the out-of-form Babar Azam in the line-up, formed a crucial 149-run partnership with Saim Ayub (77) for the third wicket. He also built a 65-run stand with Mohammad Rizwan (37*), helping Pakistan recover and finish the day in a strong position. Ghulam reached his century after 280 minutes at the crease, hitting a boundary off Joe Root, becoming the 12th Pakistani batter to score a century on Test debut. This achievement comes after Ghulam's long wait for a place in the national team, following his record-breaking performance in the 2020 domestic season, where he amassed 1,249 runs. However, as Ghulam's name trended on social media, an old controversial video from the Pakistan Super League (PSL) resurfaced. In 2022, fast bowler Haris Rauf slapped Ghulam on the field after the latter dropped a catch during a Lahore Qalandars match. Though the incident drew attention, the two players quickly made peace, with Rauf hugging Ghulam later in the match.

Despite this past controversy, Ghulam's Test debut has now overshadowed the incident, with his century hitting a boundary off Joe Root, becoming the 12th

On the other hand, another alleged stressor Angelina is going through is the poor reception of her upcoming directorial film Without Blood. "Angelina is a little annoyed that she's having to juggle the solid success of Maria, which has firmly put her in the Oscar race and back into business with Netflix, and her passion project, Without Blood," the mole squealed to In Touch. "A movie Angelina thought could change the world when she first initiated it, but which now is stained by apathetic reviews and a weak audience response at its film festival debut."

KCCI President Calls For FBR To Delay Affidavit Rule For Sales Tax Returns

KARACHI: Muhammad Jawed Bilwani, President of the Karachi Chamber of Commerce & Industry (KCCI), has recommended that the Federal Board of Revenue (FBR) defer the requirement for taxpayers to submit an affidavit with their Sales Tax Returns. He argued that while taxpayers must affirm the accuracy of their information, they could still face penalties for vendors' wrongdoings.

In a statement, Bilwani noted the confusion surrounding the current purchasing process, urging the FBR to clarify which vendors are trustworthy or establish standard operating procedures (SOPs) for purchases. He recalled that FBR officials previously advised businesses to check vendor compliance on their website, a practice now complicated by the affidavit requirement, which could be used against businesses in cases of vendor tax evasion.

Bilwani also expressed concerns over the FBR's increased audits, which he believes contradicts the Finance Minister's promise of an IT and AI-driven, streamlined audit process. He cautioned that more auditors could lead to corruption and inefficiencies. While he acknowledged some positive aspects of the FBR's transformation plan, he stressed the need for collaboration with the business community to address ongoing issues.

The announcement followed a visit by FBR Chairman Rashid Mahmood Langrial to FPCCI's headquarters in Karachi, where he engaged with senior trade, industry, and media representatives. Sheikh reiterated that taxation reforms should focus on broadening the tax base, simplifying the tax system, and rationalizing tax rates to foster a supportive taxation culture.

He also proposed simplifying the Export Finance Scheme (EFS), which currently takes 3-4 months due to its complexity, and warned against including Export Processing Zones (EPZs) in the regular tax scheme, as it would deter investors.

Khurram Ejaz, a member of the PMs committee, questioned why Pakistani ports do not operate 24/7 like their international counterparts and urged the implementation of FBR's LIVE project to improve customs procedures. Chairman Langrial acknowledged the need to reduce tax rates to alleviate burdens but stated it was not feasible under current conditions. He expressed optimism about potential interest rate cuts and emphasized that promoting a tax culture is essential for the economy's recovery. Pakistan Defiant: 'Kashmir Is Not India's, Never Was, Never Will Be'

UNITED NATIONS: Pakistan has rejected India's claim that Jammu and Kashmir was its "integral part" of India, and sought a UN-led plebiscite to determine the will of the Kashmiri people, as demanded by UN Security Council resolutions. "Jammu and Kashmir is not, never has been, and will never be an 'integral' part of India," Pakistani delegate Ansar Shah told the General Assembly's Special Political and Decolonization (Fourth) Committee. "This disputed status of Kashmir is acknowledged by the UN and the international community," Shah, a first secretary at the Pakistani Mission to the UN, said in a response to an accusation by an Indian delegate that Pakistan was misinterpreting the principle of self-determination which, he said, does not justify undermining a member state's territorial integrity. The Indian delegate, Eldos Mathew Punnoose, a counsellor at India's Mission to the UN, was reacting to a sharp statement by Pakistan UN Ambassador Muneer Akram who described the Indian occupation of Jammu and Kashmir as the "worst manifestation of modern-day colonialism." Akram called on the UN to push for a peaceful settlement of the Kashmir dispute in accordance with the UNSC resolutions and the Kashmiri people's wishes. "India is under a legally binding obligation under Article 25 of the UN Charter to implement the resolutions of the Security Council and enable the people of Jammu and Kashmir to exercise their right to self-determination," the Pakistani delegate said. He pointed out that Kashmir was being held by brute force, with all pro-freedom Human Rights Leaders remaining incarcerated and many having died in custody under suspicious circumstances.

Far from seeking a peaceful solution to the dispute, Ansar Shah pointed out that India has resorted to belligerence against Pakistan — threatening to "take over" liberated Azad Jammu and Kashmir, reminding New Delhi that Islamabad will respond decisively to any Indian aggression. The Pakistan delegate went on to call India the "mother" of terrorism in South Asia, having resorted to terrorism against all its neighbours as a tool of its hegemonic policies. "India's campaign of targeted terrorist assassinations in third countries is now common knowledge," he said, adding, its agents have been responsible for at least 22 targeted assassinations in Pakistan.—RT/Agency
