Sajid Khan Praises Selection Committee For 'Supportive' Pitches In Pakistan's Favor

Imran Slams 26th Amendment As A 'Constitutional Assault'

ISLAMABAD: In a meeting with Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) lawyers held on the Islamabad High Court (IHC) orders, party founder Imran Khan termed the newly enacted 26th Constitutional Amendment, which empowers parliamentarians to pick chief justice, an "attack on Constitution of Pakistan."

Speaking to journalists after the meeting, PTI lawyer Faisal Chaudhry said that the incarcerated former prime minister has expressed displeasure over the 26th Constitutional Amendment.

"The PTI founder said the nation has been tyrannised by this act," the lawyer said, adding that Khan refused to comment on appointment of Justice Yahya Afridi as next Chief Justice of Pakistan (CJP).

Faisal further said that the deposed premier has lauded the PTI workers and supporters for their sacrifices. "PTI founder is not afraid of any adversity," he added.

He noted that they were making efforts to reduce hardships being faced by the PTI founder.

Chaudhry claimed that the PTI founder is kept in a six by eight cell, adding that he has been subjected to psychological torture.

"An application will be filed in IHC against the circumstances the former premier is being kept."

Furthermore, he said Imran has instructed the leaders to lead from the front.

For his part, PTI leader Shoaib Shaheen said that such "state terrorism" is unprecedented, adding that the jailed party founder was unaware of the passage of 26th Amendment and Justice Yahya's appointment.

"We informed him about the developments, including the bail of his wife Bushra Bibi," he said, adding that Imran expressed satisfaction over his spouse's release. —RT/Agency

Bushra Bibi Walks Free On Bail After Months Of Incarceration

RAWALPINDI: Bushra Bibi, the wife of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) founder Imran Khan, is finally out of prison on bail after remaining behind bars for around nine months.

The release from Rawalpindi's Adiala Jail came a day after the Islamabad High Court (IHC) granted her bail against surety bonds worth Rs1 million in the new Toshkhana case.

The former first lady was arrested after a court on January 31 convicted and sentenced the couple to 14 years in prison after finding them guilty of retaining and selling state gifts in violation of government rules (Toshkhana case) while Khan was in power.

Her release was expedited compared to the usual legal process, as typically, when a rokbar (release order) is issued, the imprisoned person is released within two hours. However, Bushra Bibi was released in just 20 minutes.

While media personnel and PTI workers waited outside the prison to engage with Khan's wife, the former first lady quickly departed without speaking to anyone. However, the workers showered her car with flowers as it sped away.

Adviser to Chief Minister Paktunkhwa Khyber Muhammad Ali Saif said that Bushra Bibi reached Peshawar safely after her release and will stay there for some time.

The IHC granted her bail on Wednesday, but due to the absence of a judge to sign the release order, she remained behind bars. Today, Judge Shahrul Arjumand signed her rokbar.

The former first lady was arrested in the said case along with her husband, who remains behind bars in the same facility, soon after their acquittal in the iddat case — also known as the un-Islamic nikah case.

However, her legal woes have seemingly witnessed a respite as she exited the Adiala jail via its gate number 5.

They said the case is not to be mixed with the first Toshkhana case wherein the couple was sentenced to 14 years in prison and was handed down a fine of Rs1.57 billion — Rs787 million each — in January.

The ex-first lady was then placed under house arrest at her Bani Gala residence. However, she was later transferred to the Adiala jail in May at the IHC's orders which came in response to her petition that challenged the Islamabad Commissioner's decision that declared Bani Gala a sub-jail.

It is to be noted that the couple's sentence in that case was suspended by the IHC in April but both remained behind bars due to being embroiled in various cases. —RT/Agency

Ex-Attorney General Exposes Critical Flaw In 26th Amendment

ISLAMABAD: The constitutional package passed by parliament in the form of the 26th Amendment has some drafting issues and a "serious anomaly" has been pointed out by a legal expert which, if not addressed through a 27th Amendment, may become a hurdle in the formation of constitutional benches in the Supreme Court.

A former attorney general, who left his office not long ago and who does not wish to be named, told media that because of the serious anomaly, the new Judicial Commission of Pakistan (JCP) cannot be created and no constitutional benches can be appointed unless this provision is amended via any other constitutional amendment.

"In my view, until then the old benches will continue and there will be no constitutional benches," he said.

The former AG also pointed out confusion and some drafting mistakes in the latest constitutional amendment's language but his view about the constitutional benches is really alarming.

Given this, media repeatedly tried to contact both Law Minister Azam Nazir Tarar and Attorney General Mansoor Awan but neither of them responded.

The view of the former attorney general was also shared with them via WhatsApp, but they did not reply nor offer any comment. —RT/Agency

Pakistan Seeks Urgent $1 Billion Relief From IMF, Confirms Finance Minister

WASHINGTON: Pakistan is targeting around $1bn in a formal request for funding from the IMF facility that helps low and middle income countries manage external shocks, its finance minister told Reuters.

"We have formally requested to be considered for this facility," Finance Minister Muhammad Aurangzeb said in an interview on the sidelines of the IMF/World Bank autumn meetings in Washington.

The International Monetary Fund had already agreed a $7bn bailout for Pakistan, but has further funding available via its Resilience and Sustainability Trust (RST).

The RST, created in 2022, provides long-term concessional cash for climate-related spending, such as adaptation and transitioning to cleaner energy.

The South Asian nation is one of the most vulnerable countries to climate change according to the Global Climate Risk Index.

Floods in 2022, which scientists said was aggravated by global warming, affected at least 33mn people and killed more than 1,700.

The country's economic struggles and high debt burden impinged its ability to respond to the disaster.

Pakistan is also in talks with the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank for a credit enhancement for a planned Panda bond, with an initial issue of $200-250mn, Aurangzeb said.

A Panda bond issuance would be Pakistan's first foray into China's capital markets. Aurangzeb said they were talking to "a few other institutions" in addition to the AIIB for a credit enhancement.

Credit enhancements provide some level of guarantee for bonds, which can boost their rating, attract more investors and thus cut the government's borrowing costs.

Issuing in the world's "second largest and the second deepest" capital market, Aurangzeb said, was the key aim, rather than a particular issuance size.

"From our perspective it is diversification of the funding base," Aurangzeb. "Even if the inaugural issue is not significant in size, for us it is important that we print that and of course then we can keep it on tap."

Aurangzeb said Pakistan has engaged with Middle Eastern banks regarding commercial loans, and one had submitted "a relatively significant proposal."

Pakistan's foreign exchange reserves should reach $13 billion by the end of March, Aurangzeb said, which would help with commercial lending, and potentially its credit rating. The foreign exchange reserves reached $11.04 billion in the week ending Oct. 18, the central bank said.

Moody's upgraded Pakistan's ratings to "Caa2" in August, citing improving macro-economic conditions, and Fitch boosted its rating to CCC+ in July following the IMF staff level agreement. But both ratings are sub investment grade. —RT/Agency

Bilawal Declares That 26th Amendment Would Have Been Unthinkable Under Any Other Chief Justice

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan Peoples Party (PPP) Chairman Bilawal Bhattu-Zardari has said that enacting the 26th Constitutional Amendment was not possible under any other chief justice, as he praised outgoing CJP Qazi Faez Isa.

The Shehbaz Sharif-led government, with the assistance of allies including the PPP, passed the contentious legislation in both lower and upper houses of parliament, which changed the procedure for the Chief Justice of Pakistan's (CJP) appointment, fixed the post's tenure, and formed constitutional benches.

In his interview with BBC Urdu, Bilawal defended the timing of the legislation, which the opposition says did not only come at a "questionable time" but was also "person-specific".

When asked about the timing, he said: "In the judicial history of Pakistan, there's one man [...] that has shown us that he's willing to obey parliament even at the cost of his personal power."

The PPP top leader, who also served as the foreign minister during the previous government under PM Shehbaz, said that the allies had a window while CJP Isa was in power and they availed it.

"We did have a window because we have seen how other judges have moulded the Constitution whether it's [Article] 63-A or the reserved seats case, to serve their personal interests.

"On the other hand, we had a chief justice who could withstand pressure from other judges also that may have tried to investigate him that this is not a question about you, but about the power [of the judiciary]."

Bilawal said that the allies had a window "of a man who would not undermine what

Nine Terrorists, Including Mastermind, Eliminated In Bajaur Operation

RAWALPINDI: The security forces on the night between October 23 and 24 eliminated nine terrorists — or "khawarij" — including two suicide bombers and a ring leader in an intelligence-based operation (IBO) in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's Bajaur district.

During the operation, high-value target (HVT) and terrorist ring leader Said Muhammad alias "Qureshi Ustad" was also killed following an intense exchange of fire with the troops, said the Inter-Services Public Relations (ISPR) on Thursday.

With the sanitisation operation underway to eliminate any further militants in the area, the security forces also recovered large quantities of weapons, ammunition, and explosives from the terrorists.

The militants, the military's media wing added, remained actively involved in numerous terrorist activities against the security forces as well as innocent civilians.

The ISPR further reaffirmed the security forces' resolve to wipe out the menace of terrorism from the country.

Last week, at least five militants were arrested in an IBO in Balochistan's Pishin district.

Whereas two terrorists were killed in a separate IBO in the province's Zhob district.

The IBOs are part of the concerted efforts by the government, security forces and law enforcement agencies (LEAs) to tackle the menace of terrorism which has witnessed an increase in recent months.

As per the third quarterly report (Q3) issued by the Centre for Research and Security Studies (CRSS), the total fatalities from three quarters of this year have surpassed the total fatalities recorded for the entire of 2023 with 1,534 deaths compared to last year's 1,523.

A total of 722 people were killed, including civilians, security personnel, and outlaws, while 615 others were wounded in as many as 328 incidents recorded during the third quarter.

Food Department's Negligence Leads To Spoilage Of Thousands Of Wheat Bags In Thul

By Khair Muhammad Golo

THUL: A shocking case of negligence by the local Food Department has resulted in the spoilage of thousands of wheat bags, raising serious concerns among residents and officials alike. The mishap occurred at a food center situated in a rice mill on Colleague Road, where thousands of purchased grain sacks were left exposed to the elements, leading to significant damage from recent rainfall. Eyewitness reports indicate that the bags of wheat, which were meant to be stored securely, were carelessly abandoned without proper protection. The lack of oversight and maintenance has resulted in the deterioration of these essential supplies, which are crucial for local food security. In an alarming development, it has come to light that the Food Department officials are now attempting to transfer the spoiled wheat bags to the Pipri warehouses in Karachi. Within just two days, 25,000 out of the 50,000 wheat sacks have already been moved, many of which were found to be damaged and unsuitable for use. This swift action has raised questions about the accountability of the officials involved and the fate of the remaining wheat bags. Azmat Khan, a driver at the food center, confirmed the situation, stating, "We have been instructed to transfer 50,000 wheat sacks to Karachi, and in just two days, we've sent half of them." His comments underscore the urgency of the situation, as the ongoing transfers seem to prioritize moving the damaged goods rather than addressing the underlying negligence that led to the spoilage. Attempts to reach the food inspector for comments on this troubling matter have proven unsuccessful, leaving the community in the dark regarding the official response to this significant lapse in duty. The residents of Thul are now calling for immediate action to rectify the situation and hold accountable those responsible for the mishap, which has jeopardized their food supply. As the situation unfolds, the need for transparency and accountability in the Food Department is more critical than ever.

President Reaffirms Pakistan's Unwavering Commitment To UN's Charter

ISLAMABAD: President Asif Ali Zardari has reiterated Pakistan's full support for the UN Charter and its multilateral system and said Pakistan stood ready to collaborate with all the UN member states to achieve a peaceful and prosperous world for all.

In his message on the occasion of the United Nations (UN) Day being observed on October 24 (today), the president said Pakistan joined the international community in commemorating the 79th UN Day.

"The UN Charter embodies our collective determination to uphold international law and peaceful co-existence. It also provides for the development of friendly relations among nations, based on respect for the principles of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, and to take other appropriate measures to strengthen universal peace," President Secretariat Press Wing, in a press release, quoted the president as saying.

Guided by the vision of founding father, Quaid-e-Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah, the president said, Pakistan has consistently championed the principles of the UN Charter.

"We have maintained a firm and abiding commitment to multilateralism, with the UN playing a central role for the promotion of international peace and security, sustainable development and human rights for all. We have also made invaluable contributions to international peace and security, including by serving as a leading military and police contributor to UN peacekeeping operations," he added.

Despite its remarkable achievements over the past 79 years, President Zardari said, the UN Charter's vision of universal peace, development and human rights for all was currently under threat by the blatant violations of its principles and purposes - nowhere more egregiously than in Occupied Palestinian Territory, and the Indian Illegally Occupied Jammu & Kashmir (IIOJK).

The UN remained an indispensable partner in addressing the pressing challenges being faced by the world today, and for shaping a more equitable future for all, he observed.

"We must revitalize the values enshrined in the UN Charter, by prioritizing peace and actively resolving conflicts, as well as by fulfilling the hopes and aspirations of billions around the world," the president opined.—RT/Agency

ARI And TDP Call For Urgent Strengthening Of National Quit-Line And Anti-Smoking Services

ISLAMABAD: The Alternative Research Initiative (ARI), in collaboration with the Transparent Development Program (TDP), is urging immediate measures to enhance the national smoking quit-line and smoking cessation services. They emphasize the importance of ensuring these services are supported by adequate human and financial resources to help adult smokers quit. The statement highlights that effective cessation programs are vital for achieving a smoke-free Pakistan. This dream cannot be realized if effective cessation services are not widely accessible across the country, said Arshad Ali Syed, Project Director of ARI. In addition to making the quit-line functional, there is a pressing need to support it with adequate resources. The statement points out that local stop smoking services in the UK, including England, Scotland, Wales, and Northern Ireland, provide advisers to assist individuals in their quit journey. These services involve evaluating smoking habits, assessing the urge to quit, and conducting breath tests to measure carbon monoxide levels, an indicator of smoking exposure. NHS-endorsed treatments, including nicotine replacement products, are also provided, and advisors offer guidance on using e-cigarettes as a cessation tool. Advisors play a crucial role in helping individuals identify challenging situations that may lead to relapse into smoking. The statement urges Pakistan to research and implement smoking cessation services from developed nations, stressing that without assisting adult smokers in quitting, the goal of a smoke-free Pakistan will remain unattainable. According to the WHO, approximately 80% of the world's 1.3 billion tobacco users reside in low- and middle-income countries. Currently, Pakistan has over 31 million tobacco users, with more than half identified as smokers.—RT

Are we a nation of carnivores or bibliophiles?

The recent book fair in Lahore, intended as a celebration of literature, turned into a culinary spectacle, raising serious concerns about our nation's misplaced priorities. Reports revealed that only 35 books were sold throughout the event, while food stalls thrived, selling over 1,200 shawarmas and 800 plates of biryani. This overwhelming focus on food rather than books highlights a troubling trend in Pakistan, where we seem more inclined to satisfy our stomachs than nourish our minds.

Lahore, known as the cultural heart of Pakistan, has produced some of the greatest literary figures, from Saadat Hasan Manto to Faiz Ahmed Faiz. This city has been a beacon of intellectual thought and creativity, yet the dismal book sales at the fair signal a drift away from this rich legacy. When an event designed to promote reading and intellectual engagement turns into a food fest, it reflects a deeper cultural issue that needs urgent attention.

We must ask ourselves: why is there such a lack of enthusiasm for books and learning? Have we forgotten the importance of knowledge in shaping our future? The disparity between food and book sales is not just embarrassing; it is a wake-up call. If we continue to neglect intellectual pursuits, we risk losing our cultural and academic heritage.

It is time for Pakistan to prioritize education, reading, and intellectual growth. We must foster a culture where the love of books is cherished and celebrated, not overshadowed by fleeting culinary delights. Only then can we hope to build a prosperous future, driven by knowledge and informed thinking.

By Muhammad Bachal

UMERKOT. The safety of journalists in Umerkot has become a pressing issue, with senior journalist Zahid Hussain Khatak highlighting the dangerous conditions faced by reporters in the area. His remarks came during a meeting organized by the Trust for Democratic Education and Accountability (TDEA) at the Umerkot Press Club, where a range of issues affecting the local media landscape were discussed.

Journalist Naheed Hussain Khatak underscored the critical need to prioritize the security of journalists, emphasizing that without proper protection, those in the field are at significant risk. Muhammad Iqbal Bhatti pointed out a worrying trend in the media industry, where owners have transformed institutions into profit-driven businesses, often sidelining experience and education. This shift has led to a situation where anyone with a smartphone can be labeled a journalist, diluting the standards of reporting.

Utam Sangrasi highlighted the importance of training journalists on sensitive issues, advocating for education that empowers them to report responsibly while minimizing risks to their safety. He noted that, without adequate training, journalists may inadvertently put themselves in harm's way while covering crucial stories.

Ali Murad Dal raised alarms about the lack of salaries for journalists in Umerkot, stating that poor economic conditions hinder their ability to serve society effectively. He lamented the absence of unity among journalists, arguing that this fragmentation weakens their collective voice and undermines their efforts to advocate for their rights and safety.

The meeting also addressed broader issues of injustice faced by journalists in the region. Jaipal Malhi pointed out the existence of five press clubs in the Samaro area of Umerkot, none of which are officially registered. He criticized the declining standards of web channels, suggesting that this further complicates the media landscape.

Senior journalist and leader of the Pakistan Federal Union of Journalists (PFUJ), Nasir Zaidi, discussed the government's measures for journalist protection, emphasizing the need for systemic change to safeguard those in the profession. TDEA representative Abdul Ahad informed attendees about the Safe Media Program, which aims to enhance journalists' professional skills, empower them, and strengthen their collective advocacy.

As concerns about journalist safety continue to grow, this meeting served as a crucial platform for addressing the challenges faced by media professionals in Umerkot, advocating for necessary reforms and support to ensure a safer environment for reporting.

Arrest Of Shopkeeper Allahyar Lund's Murderers Demanded In Qazi Ahmed

By Mumtaz Ali Soomro

QAZI AHMED. The family of Allahyar Lund, a shopkeeper tragically murdered nine months ago by unidentified gunmen during a robbery, continues to seek justice as the main suspects remain at large. Today marks the fourth day of protests outside the Qazi Ahmed police station, where the victim's family, holding photos of Allahyar Lund, has staged a symbolic hunger strike while chanting slogans demanding accountability and action.

Together, they have expressed their deep frustration over the lack of progress in the investigation. Allahyar Lund was shot dead in broad daylight while seated in his shop, a shocking act of violence that has left the family and community in mourning.

Despite a case being filed against the suspects nearly nine months ago, the police have yet to make any arrests, which has only heightened the family's sense of injustice. The protesters have openly criticized SSP Shaheed Benazirabad Tanveer Hussain Tunio for failing to act on directives from Deputy Speaker of the National Assembly Syed Ghulam Mustafa Shah, which called for the immediate apprehension of the suspects.

As the protests continue, the Lund family and their supporters are calling on local authorities to take decisive action. They demand not only the arrest of the culprits but also a thorough investigation into the circumstances surrounding Allahyar Lund's death. The community stands united in their plea for justice, urging law enforcement to fulfill their duty to protect and serve. Without swift action, the family fears that the case may fade into obscurity, leaving them without closure and justice for their beloved Allahyar.

Sajid Khan Praises Selection Committee For 'Supportive' Pitches In Pakistan's Favor

RAWALPINDI: Right-arm spinner Sajid Khan lauded the new selection committee for making a spin-friendly pitch for the third Test between Pakistan and England, underway here at Pindi Cricket Stadium.

Sajid once again troubled the English batters with his mastery of spin and claimed a six-wicket haul, helping Pakistan to book England on 267 despite wicketkeeper batter Jamie Smith's 89-run knock.

The right-arm spinner reflected on the eventful day, which saw 13 wickets fall as Pakistan got to 73/3 in response to England's 267.

He claimed that the pitch at the Pindi Cricket Stadium is different to that of Multan, explaining that he used variations and utilized the crease to take six wickets. "This pitch is different

[to that of Multan]. After 25-30 overs, when the ball softens, we used to get something there [on the previous surface] by hitting the patches but we do not get it on this pitch," said Sajid.

"Some deliveries were bowled well and they played a few bad shots," he added. "So, the wicket is not like that as if one hits a certain patch and would benefit immediately. So, I varied the pace and utilized the crease and it helped me to take wickets." Sajid also shared his experience of bowling long spells alongside Noman Ali, stating the latter is well-experienced and guides him. "Noman Ali is very experienced. I enjoy bowling with him a lot. He always guides me during my spells and it's a wonderful feeling to bowl alongside him," said Sajid.—Agency

Former Pakistani Cricketer Slams ICC For 'Blatantly Biased' Pitch Ratings In Explosive Rant

LAHORE: Former Pakistan cricketer and renowned spinner Saad Ajmal has shed light on the development of spinners and their performance in international cricket.

In an exclusive interview with a local sports platform, Ajmal, famous for his mastery over spin bowling, pointed out that most successful spinners tend to be over the age of 30, as that's when they truly mature and reach their peak.

"Spinners are typically played after 30 when they've lost some of their initial edge. A spinner starts to mature after 25, but it's after 30 that they truly understand their skills and begin performing at their best," Ajmal explained.

He further emphasized that spinners need experience, particularly in first-class cricket, to learn the spin on or flat tracks, but not when teams face similar conditions in India, Australia, or England," he concluded.—Agency five years in first-class cricket, you begin to understand how to deceive batsmen with variations. White-ball cricket can be unpredictable, but red-ball cricket demands skill and cunning to take wickets," he said.

"The off-spinner was vocal in his criticism of the International Cricket Council (ICC) for what he perceives as bias in pitch rating standards.

He argued that Pakistan's pitches are often customized for visiting teams, giving them an advantage, but when Pakistan benefits from favorable conditions, the ICC raises concerns.

"Pakistan's pitches are tailored to visiting teams, giving them an advantage. We win when we choose the pitch. Yet, the ICC only raises issues when we play on spin or flat tracks, but not when teams face similar conditions in India, Australia, or England," he concluded.—Agency

Protests Erupt In Sehwan Against Excessive Load Shedding

By Qaimuddin Memon

SEHWAN SHARIF: Residents of Sehwan have taken to the streets in protest against severe and unannounced electricity load shedding, which has escalated to an alarming 14 hours per day. In a show of solidarity, members of the Sindh United Party (SUP) and local citizens initiated a symbolic hunger strike outside the WAPDA office, demanding an immediate end to the load shedding and the removal of the local Sub-Divisional Officer (SDO). AC Jhol Leads Anti-Encroachment Campaign

By Mehtab Shar

JHOL: In response to directives from the Supreme Court of Pakistan, the Sanghar district administration has initiated a comprehensive anti-encroachment operation, spearheaded by Assistant Commissioner Jhol and supported by the Mukhtiar, Town Officer, and DSP Jam Nawaz Ali. The campaign primarily targets illegal structures along the main road extending from Rahmat Cotton Factory to Jhol, where numerous shops had established makeshift stalls, infringing on public space. During the operation, tensions flared as confrontations broke out between the police and shopkeepers. Eyewitness accounts described heated verbal exchanges, with some instances escalating to physical pushes. Police reportedly resorted to force to manage the situation, although the SHO of Jhol insisted that no shopkeepers were harmed during the operation. He clarified that the police's presence was solely based on a request from the local administration to assist in the removal of encroachments. The administration has issued stern warnings to shopkeepers, stating that any attempts to reconstruct the removed stalls and awnings would lead to legal consequences. Affected vendors, including those selling ice and fruit, voiced their frustration, arguing that they had previously been instructed to keep their stalls within designated pathways along the road leading from Sanghar to Hyderabad.

Just three days prior to the operation, the Assistant Commissioner, Mukhtiar, and Town Officer had visited the area to inform shopkeepers about the need to remove their encroachments voluntarily. They cautioned that failure to comply would result in strict legal action. The Town Officer of Jhol emphasized that the administration does not see shopkeepers as adversaries but rather as partners in complying with the Supreme Court's orders. The operation aims to restore order and ensure that public spaces are accessible and safe for all citizens. As the anti-encroachment campaign unfolds, local residents and business owners are left grappling with the immediate consequences, while the administration strives to balance enforcement with community needs.

Additionally, the protesting doctors highlighted the ineffectiveness of both Punjab and Sindh police in addressing the rising insecurity that threatens the safety of medical professionals. Traffic And Price Control Issues Irk Tando Jan Muhammad's Residents

By Narain Das

MIRPURKHAS: Residents of Tando Jan Muhammad are expressing their frustration over ongoing traffic disruptions and skyrocketing food prices, which they attribute to the apathy of district and local administration. The main streets have become severely congested due to encroachments by shopkeepers, hotels, and parked vehicles, causing significant difficulties for school children and parents during school hours, as well as for ambulances during emergencies. In addition to traffic woes, the community is grappling with rampant inflation, particularly in the prices of essential food items. Chicken, mutton, and fish have become prohibitively expensive, with many vendors engaging in profiteering. The lack of price control mechanisms has left residents struggling to afford basic necessities. Compounding these issues is the absence of a slaughterhouse in the city, which has led to many meat vendors selling sick and stale meat without any oversight from local administration or veterinary officers. Despite repeated notifications, the Assistant Commissioner has failed to conduct inspections, leaving the community to contend with various administrative challenges. Local residents are now demanding immediate intervention from the Commissioner and Deputy Commissioner of Mirpurkhas to address these pressing issues.

IHC Orders Imran To Be Brought To Court Today, Directs Adiala Jail

ISLAMABAD: The Islamabad High Court (IHC) on Thursday ordered the Adiala jail administration to present the incarcerated Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) founder Imran Khan before the court today at 3pm.

"Bring the PTI founder, he will have a meeting with his lawyers," said the IHC during the hearing of a contempt of court case against the Adiala jail superintendent for not allowing the lawyers to meet the ex-PM.

The development comes as the jailed politician has been behind bars at the Adiala facility for more than a year due to being embroiled in a plethora of legal cases — of which only one remains, i.e., the New Toshkhana security relating to alleged illegal state gifts.

Khan, along with his wife Bushra Bibi were arrested in the said case soon after their acquittal in the Iddat case — also known as the un-Islamic nikah case.

The incarcerated former premier had appeared before the Supreme Court via a video link in the National Accountability Bureau (NAB) amendments case in May.

IHC's orders come against the backdrop of the party's ongoing strenuous efforts to secure its founder's release.

Apart from PTI's demand for Khan's freedom, more than 60 members of the United States House of Representatives have also written a letter to President Joe Biden seeking the ex-PM's release.

In their letter, the Democpresent reasons if he fails to ensure Khan's presence before the court.

"The court does not accept the security threats [...] the lawyers were not allowed to meet, this is contempt of the court," remarked Justice Ishaq while directing the jail official to provide the Interior Ministry's report and explain what precise threats were there.

The judge also said that reasons will have to be given and the court will have to be satisfied as to what exact threats existed if the PTI founder is not presented before the court.

During the course of the proceedings of the case filed by Advocate Faisal Chaudhry, the applicant's lawyer stated that Khan's lawyers have not been able to meet him since October 3.

"If we go to jail, are there any security threats from us?" he questioned.

In response, the state counsel informed the court that the Punjab government has imposed a ban on meetings inside the jail facility due to concerns related to the law and order situation.

"Is there a ban on lawyers meeting him? If the Punjab government has prohibited the meeting of the lawyers, it would have committed contempt of court; whoever issued this notification has also committed contempt of court," remarked the court.

In response to the additional attorney general's objection to the court's initial instructions directing the Adiala jail superintendent to facilitate a meeting between Khan and his lawyer via a video link, the court then ordered the authorities to present the PTI founder before the court instead.

The court also summoned the joint secretary of the Interior Ministry along with the relevant records and issued a notice to the attorney general's office to assist the court. —RT/Agency

US Lawmakers Urge Biden To Demand Imran's Release From Prison

WASHINGTON: Around 60 Democratic lawmakers from the US House of Representatives have written to President Joe Biden urging him to pressure Pakistan into releasing Imran Khan, the jailed founding chairman of the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI).

"We write today to urge you to use the United States' substantial leverage with Pakistan's government to secure the release of political prisoners including former Prime Minister Khan and curtail widespread human rights abuses," the lawmakers wrote in a letter on Wednesday.

US Representative Greg Casar, who led the letter, said it marked the first such collective call from multiple members of the US Congress for the release of Khan, who otherwise has had testy relations with Washington as a long standing critic of US foreign policy.

Imran has been in jail since August 2023 and has faced dozens of cases after he was removed from the prime minister's position in April 2022 through a parliamentary vote of no confidence. His party has said that the more than 200 cases are politically motivated.

He has been acquitted or granted bails in most of the cases filed against him.

The pending cases against him mostly pertain to the May 9 violence. Khan has denied responsibility and has been acquitted or granted bail in many of those cases.

He also faced the 190 million pound Al Qadir v. US case, which alleged engineering of his ouster from power through a vote of no-confidence.

The US and Pakistani military both had denied any involvement in Imran Khan's arrest calling his removal a democratic process. The political turmoil surrounding Imran escalated following his arrest on May 9, 2023, on PJI government in 2019.

Imran says cases against him, which disqualified him from contesting the February 2024 elections, are politically motivated. A UN human rights working group said in July Imran's detention violated international law.

Barrister Gohar Reveals Bushra Bibi Would Be Free If Release Deal Was Struck

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) Chairman Barrister Gohar stated that if Bushra Bibi's release had been the result of a deal, she wouldn't have remained in jail.

Speaking to the media outside Adiala Jail, Barrister Gohar mentioned that Bushra Bibi's release after nine months was possible because she endured tough conditions in prison while standing firm with Khan's ideology.

He said, "We salute her courage and congratulate all PTI voters and supporters. Khan sahib will also be released soon."

Barrister Gohar stated that keeping his wife in jail was intended to put pressure on Khan. He assured that the founder's release would happen and it would be on merit, adding that claims of a deal are unfounded. "If that were the case, she wouldn't be in jail," he remarked.

He said, "What is it that you haven't arrested? For? Toshi Khana 1, Iddat, Toshi Khana 2?"

He further said "Arrests have happened, and all have seen releases based on merit." The chairman of PTI emphasized that Bushra Bibi has no connection to the Toshkhana case or any other case. "No matter what you do, the public stands with Khan. He has confidence in us, and we are following his orders. He will soon be among the people, everyone is united under the founder's leadership."

He further stated, "I deny any claims of Imran Khan expressing anger during meetings with party leaders. There is no truth to that; it is misinformation. We did not accept the 26th amendment before, and we do not accept it now." —RT/Agency

Foreign Office Challenges OHCHR's Claims On Constitutional Amendment

ISLAMABAD: The Foreign Office of Pakistan rejected a statement made by the High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) regarding the 26th constitutional amendment, labelling it as based on inaccurate information, as reported by Radio Pakistan.

Foreign Office Spokesperson Mumtaz Zahra Baloch addressed the media during a weekly briefing in Islamabad, asserting that the High Commissioner had drawn unwarranted conclusions from media reports, social media posts, and politically motivated speculative analysis.

She urged the OHCHR to focus on the actual and severe human rights violations occurring globally, where international human rights standards have been rendered ineffective or where draconian laws have been enacted to oppress occupied peoples.

When asked about the recent backlisting of approximately two dozen companies by the United States, the spokesperson described the action as biased and politically motivated. She noted that similar listings in the past were based on mere suspi-

The spokesperson also confirmed that Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif had written to US President Joe Biden, requesting consideration of Dr Aafia Siddiqui's mercy petition on humanitarian grounds. She stated that Pakistan has been in contact with the US to provide all possible support for Dr Siddiqui's welfare.

Responding to questions regarding the Kashmir issue, Baloch reiterated that Pakistan has never accepted the validity of the Indian constitution in Indian illegally occupied Jammu and Kashmir. She affirmed that the people of Jammu and Kashmir should decide their future based on UN Security Council resolutions. —RT/Agency

LAHORE: Jamaat-e-Islami (JI) Emir Hafiz Naeemur Rehman to challenge the 26th constitutional amendment in the court.

He was talking to media in Lahore on Thursday.

He said that Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf was trapped in the constitutional amendment.

"PTI first gave the names for the parliamentary committee and then decided not to participate in the meeting," said Hafiz Naeem.

The JJ Emir also urged the government to release the political prisoners to send a positive message.

Earlier in the day, a petition challenging the 26th amendment was filed in the Supreme Court by Afrasiab Khattak.
