Tragic Kohistan Bus Crash: 2 Dead, 36 Injured, Rescue Operations Ongoing

KOHISTAN: Two people were killed and 36 others were injured when a Rawalpindi-bound passenger bus fell into a ravine in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's Upper Kohistan area on Sunday evening, according to a rescue official.

Rescue 1122 spokesperson Abdur Rehman told media that a private company's passenger bus carrying 38 passengers bound for Rawalpindi from Skardu fell into a ravine near the Shetial area in Upper Kohistan's Harban tehsil.

"The bus driver and a passenger died in the accident and 36 others were injured and had been shifted to district headquarters hospital Chilas in Diamer," he said.

The spokesperson identified the deceased passenger as Mohammad Nadeem, a resident of Vehari in Punjab and bus driver Sadaqat Hussain, a resident of Gilgit's Dinor area. Rehman told media that most of the injured hailed from Skardu, four from the Bisham Dandai area of Shangla, and two from parts of Punjab province.

Some patients in critical condition are undergoing surgeries while the rest are stable. Women and children were among the injured passengers, the spokesperson added.

Accidents are frequent in KP and northern areas due to rugged terrain, poor roads, overloaded vehicles, and minimal traffic regulation. Narrow, winding routes, harsh weather, and driver fatigue further increase the risk, making these areas particularly accident-prone. In September, three people, including two army personnel, died when a bus was injured after a landslide struck a bus on the Karakoram Highway (KKH) in the Dasu area of Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's Upper Kohistan district, officials said.—RT/Agency

Bilawal And Shehbaz Hail Landmark 26th Amendment Passage

ISLAMABAD: PPP Chairman Bilawal Bhutto Zardari has described the passage of the 26th Constitutional Amendment as historic during a meeting with Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif.

Bilawal Bhutto Zardari was accompanied by former Prime Minister Raja Pervaiz Ashraf and Punjab Governor Sardar Saleem Haider while Prime Minister's advisor Rana Sanaullah and National Assembly Speaker Sardar Ayaz Sadiq were also reported to have attended the meeting.

During the meeting, Bilawal emphasised the need to work together for the strengthening of democracy and parliament, stating that the 26th Constitutional Amendment will be effective in curbing undemocratic forces.

Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif credited the approval of the 26th Amendment to all coalition parties, reaffirming their commitment to public service. He noted that positive economic indicators are leading to a noticeable decrease in inflation.

It is important to note that just a few days ago, the government secured the passage of the 26th Constitutional Amendment in both the National Assembly and Senate, although opposition parties, including Jamiat Ulema-e-Islam (JUI), expressed reservations regarding the amendment.

Earlier this week, President Asif Ali Zardari, has officially approved the 26th of the official gazette, cementing its place within Pakistan's legal and constitutional framework.

Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif had earlier sent advice on Monday to President Asif Ali Zardari about ratifying the 26th Constitutional Amendment Bill into law.

President Zardari And Shehbaz Reaffirm Unwavering Support For Kashmiris On Black Day

ISLAMABAD: As Kashmir marks the 'Black Day' in condemnation of India's illegal occupation of the region, President Asif Ali Zardari and Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif in separate messages, expressed solidarity with the Kashmiris, pledging unwavering support until the achievement of their inalienable right to self-determination.

President Zardari said that Pakistan would stand shoulder-to-shoulder with its Kashmiri brothers and sisters until the final resolution of the Kashmir dispute and freedom of Kashmir.

The president urged the international community to pressurise India to halt its human rights abuses in the Indian Illegally Occupied Jammu and Kashmir (IIOJK), alleviate the suffering of Kashmiris and implement UN Security Council (UNSC) resolutions.

He also condemned India's ongoing atrocities in the illegally occupied territory and reaffirmed Pakistan's unwavering moral, diplomatic and political support for the Kashmiri people's just cause.

In his message on the occasion, PM Shehbaz Sharif, said that the people of IIOJK have suffered countless hardships during the last 77 years of occupation.

He said India has been taking successive steps to tighten its grip over IIOJK since August 5, 2019, when New Delhi abolished the special status of the disputed region.

"India's nefarious designs are aimed at undermining the disputed status of IIOJK and denying the Kashmiri people their democratic right to decide their own future," he said.

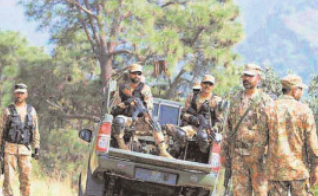

The PM promised that Pakistan will continue to extend full moral, diplomatic and political support for Kashmiris.

Meanwhile, Federal Minister for Kashmir Affairs, Gilgit-Baltistan and SAFRON Engineer Amir Muqam also reaffirmed Pakistan's resolve to continue extending political, diplomatic and moral support to Kashmiris.

In his message on the occasion of Kashmir Black Day, he said India was committing worst human rights violations in IIOJK and trying to stop the struggle of Kashmiris through military atrocities.

Dar: Kashmir Solution Crucial For Lasting Peace In South Asia

ISLAMABAD: Deputy Prime Minister and Foreign Minister Mohammad Ishaq Dar on Sunday said that Pakistan remained committed to promoting peace in South Asia and sought constructive relations with all neighbors.

He added lasting peace in the region could not be realised without a just and peaceful settlement of the Jammu and Kashmir dispute, in line with the UNSC resolutions and the aspirations of Kashmiri people.

"Pakistan stands in unwavering solidarity with the Kashmiri people in their struggle and will continue to provide its full political, moral and diplomatic support to the realization of their inalienable right to self-determination," Ishaq Dar said on the observance of Kashmir Black Day.

He said October 27th marked a somber turning point in the history of Jammu and Kashmir. On this day, seventy-seven years ago, the Indian forces landed in Srinagar, marking the beginning of a prolonged and painful chapter for the region.

Over the past seven decades, India has employed various strategies to strengthen its control over Indian Illegally Occupied Jammu and Kashmir political parties effectively banned.

Draconian emergency and counterterrorism laws granted Indian forces sweeping powers, enabling them to arrest or eliminate any individual and destroy property at will, he added.

The foreign minister further said that nonetheless, the spirit and determination of the Kashmiri people endured, as they continued their peaceful struggle for justice and self-determination.

"While elections for the Legislative Assembly of IIOJK have recently been conducted, any such exercise, carried out under the framework of the Indian Constitution and amidst an overwhelming military presence, cannot be considered a substitute for the legitimate right to self-determination of the Kashmiri people," he stressed.—RT/Agency

UN Security Council Set To Meet Monday Over Israel-Iran Tensions

NEW YORK: The United Nations Security Council will meet on Monday to discuss Israel's attack on Iran, council president Switzerland said on Sunday. The Swiss UN mission said the meeting had been requested by Iran with the support of Algeria, China and Russia.

"Israeli regime's actions constitute a grave threat to international peace and security and further destabilise an already fragile region," Iran's Foreign Minister Abbas Araqchi said in a letter to the 15-member council on Saturday.

"The Islamic Republic of Iran, in alignment with the principles enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations and under international law, reserves its inherent right to legal and legitimate response to these criminal attacks at the appropriate time," he wrote.

Scores of Israeli jets completed three waves of strikes before dawn on Saturday against missile factories and other sites near Tehran and in western Iran, Israel's military said.

It was retaliation for Iran's October 1 attack on Israel with about 200 ballistic missiles, and Israel warned its heavily armed arch-foe not to hit back after the latest strike.

Israel's UN Ambassador Danny Danon rejected Iran's complaint at the United Nations, saying in a statement on Sunday that Iran was "trying to act against us in the diplomatic arena with the ridiculous claim that Israel has violated international law."

"As we have stated time and time again, we have the right and duty to defend ourselves and will use all the means at our disposal to protect the citizens of Israel," Danon said UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres appealed "to all parties to cease all military actions, including in Gaza and Lebanon, exerting maximum efforts to prevent an all-out regional war and return to the path of diplomacy," his spokesperson said in a statement on Saturday.—RT/Agency

UN chief 'shocked' at 'harrowing' death and destruction in besieged north Gaza

UNITED NATIONS: UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres has expressed shock at the "harrowing levels of death, injury and destruction" in north Gaza amid an ongoing intense Israeli military attack, his spokesperson said on Sunday. Since the offensive began earlier this month, hundreds of people have been killed, according to Gaza's Ministry of Health, with more than 60,000 others displaced again, many fearing they may never return. Civilians are reportedly trapped under rubble, while the sick and wounded lack access to life-saving care. They also face severe shortages of food and shelter, amid reports of family separations and mass detentions. "The plight of Palestinian civilians trapped in North Gaza is unbearable," read a statement from the UN chief's Spokesperson. The UN chief warned that the "widespread devastation and deprivation" caused by Israel's military operations—particularly around Jabalya, Beit Lahiya and Beit Hanoun—have made life "untenable" for the Palestinian population there. Despite repeated efforts to deliver essential humanitarian supplies, including food, medicine, and shelter, access continues to be denied by Israeli authorities, with few exceptions, putting countless lives in jeopardy. Adding to the crisis, the postponement of the final phase of the polio vaccination campaign in northern Gaza has endangered thousands of children. "This conflict continues to be waged with little regard for the requirements of international humanitarian law," the statement noted. Guterres emphasized that the parties to the conflict must respect and protect civilians, including humanitarian workers and first responders, whose essential work must be facilitated and protected, not impeded and jeopardized. "In the name of humanity, the Secretary-General reiterates his calls for an immediate ceasefire, the immediate and unconditional release of all hostages, and accountability for crimes under international law," the statement added. On Saturday, other top UN officials echoed the urgent calls for a halt to Israel's military actions in northern Gaza. Joyce Msuya, acting Under-Secretary-General for Humanitarian Affairs, warned that the entire population of northern Gaza is "at risk of dying", calling for an immediate stop to "blatant disregard for basic humanity" by Israeli forces. Meanwhile, WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus described the situation as "catastrophic", highlighting the collapse of Gaza's healthcare system amid ongoing attacks on hospitals and healthcare workers, calling for an immediate ceasefire to save lives.—Agency

Kamala Harris' Loyalty to Biden's Israel Policy Will Cost Her the Election

As the 2024 U.S. Presidential race heats up, Vice President Kamala Harris finds herself in a precarious position. Her unwavering alignment with President Biden's staunch support for Israel amid the escalating Gaza conflict has alienated a crucial segment of voters, especially Muslim Americans in key swing states like Michigan. This disillusionment is not just a ripple but a wave, with many Arab and Palestinian Americans now gravitating towards former President Donald Trump—a shift few could have predicted, given his controversial past rhetoric towards the Muslim community.

The frustration stems from a perceived indifference by the Biden administration to the Palestinian humanitarian crisis. Despite appeals for a more balanced approach, Harris has painting him as a potential peacemaker to those weary of continuous conflict.

Coupled with a sputtering American economy and growing discontent over progressive social policies, Harris' inability to distance herself from the administration's foreign policy decisions could be a deciding factor in the election. For many voters, Trump's promises of economic revival and a more pragmatic foreign policy offer a compelling alternative. As it stands, unless Harris pivots strategically, she risks losing the support of communities that were once key to Democratic victories, leaving the door wide open for Trump's resurgence.

remained steadfast in her support of Biden's Middle East policies, echoing a tone that many feel ignores the complex and devastating realities on the ground. In contrast, Trump has branded himself as the "peace candidate," leveraging his diplomatic dealings in the Middle East to promise an end to U.S. involvement in "endless wars." This rhetoric has resonated,

GLOBAL WATCH

Trump unbound as US presidential race nears its end

With his third straight US presidential campaign coming down to the wire, Donald Trump mused at a rally about hydrogen-powered cars exploding, lamented how difficult it is to get spray paint off limestone and marvelled at how billionaire backer Elon Musk's rocket had returned to Earth in one piece.

He complained Democratic rival Kamala Harris wasn't working as hard as he was, praised Chinese President Xi Jinping as "fierce" and called former President Barack Obama "a real jerk."

His aides had billed the event in battleground North Carolina as economy focused, but that issue was just the warm-up.

To witness Trump as the November 5 election approaches and his race against Vice President Harris nears its end is to watch a candidate almost fully unbound.

At a time when most politicians would be honing their closing arguments to voters, Trump often acts more like an entertainer on a farewell tour than someone who aims to lead the world's most powerful nation.

His unfocused behaviour and dark rhetoric alienating some voters in a race that, despite all he says, remains so tight that any swing of a few thousand votes in several competitive states could determine the next president.

He is giving Harris' campaign ample ammunition to argue that he is more "unstable" and "unhinged" than ever. The Democratic candidate is increasingly embracing those terms and pointing to Trump's ramblings as evidence of a tired, old man who isn't fit for the presidency. "In many, many ways Donald Trump is an unserious man, but the consequences of him being president of the United States are brutally serious," Harris said last week.

Trump, 78, defends his scattershot approach by saying he does something he calls "the weave" in which he claims he always returns to his initial point, and supporters say his unscripted style is part of his appeal.

"His patented weave is a brilliant method to convey important stories and explain policies that will help everyday Americans turn the page from the last four years of Kamala Harris' failures," said Steven Cheung, a spokesperson for Trump's campaign.

Trump's rallies have always featured their share of diversions and odd tangents. But with the clock ticking, the former president seems content to burn precious minutes telling stories about his White House days, musing about long-dead athletes or simply going where his mind takes him.

"They gave Obama the Nobel Prize," he said on Thursday in Las Vegas. "He didn't even know why the hell he got it. He still doesn't. He got elected and they announced he's getting the Nobel Prize. I got elected in a much bigger, better, crazier election but they gave him the Nobel Prize."

Though no rally is ever exactly alike, a consistent theme is Trump's false assertion that in four short years, Democrats have transformed the nation into a dystopian state.

He denounces his political opponents as the "enemy from within" and peppers his remarks with graphic accounts of murders and rapes of young women, false tales of violent gangs taking over small towns, and debunked claims about immigrants eating stolen pets.

"We're like a rubbish bin for the world," he boomed in Arizona. Trump aides say he sets the pace and talks as long as he wants. They don't try to contain him, and they have put him in forums such as podcasts where his rambling ways can find a home and he won't be subjected to a battery of questions. During a lengthy interview with podcaster Joe Rogan on Friday, Trump asserted that there may be life on Mars even though, as Rogan noted, probes have found no evidence of it. He also claimed windmills have a negative effect on whales.—Agency

Hezbollah Operative Behind 1992, 1994 Bombings In Argentina Identified

In 1992, the Israeli embassy in Argentina's capital Buenos Aires was bombed, killing 29 and injuring over 240. Two years later, a Jewish community centre in the capital was bombed, killing 86 and injuring over 300. Now over three decades later, the alleged mastermind behind the attacks has been identified as Hussein Ahmad Karaki, a notorious Hezbollah operative.

Long known to law enforcement as a shadowy figure operating under numerous aliases, Karaki has evaded capture for decades, thanks in part to an extensive network and forged documentation allegedly supplied by Venezuela.

On Saturday, Argentina's Defence Minister Patricia Bullrich shared new details about Karaki's alleged role as the head of Hezbollah operations in Latin America. According to Ms Bullrich, Karaki was not only responsible for the planning and execution of the two infamous Argentine bombings but also remains active in the region, with evidence linking him to a series of thwarted terrorist attempts across Peru, Bolivia, and Brazil.

Karaki was responsible for overseeing the logistics behind the 1992 and 1994 attacks in Argentina, Ms Bullrich said, adding that he was operating under the alias "David Assi." "We want the Argentine people to know the identity of the person responsible for these heinous acts," she stated. Bullrich further described Karaki as a "ghost," one who has effectively evaded detection for years, thanks to sophisticated tactics.

Ms Bullrich alleged Hezbollah's growing relationship with Brazilian cartels, notably Primeiro Comando da Capital (PCC) and Comando Vermelho, both known for controlling vast swathes of Brazil's drug trade. According to Ms Bullrich, Hezbollah has transformed these cartels into hybrid narco-terrorist entities, with PCC's illicit earnings reportedly funnelled to fund Hezbollah's arsenal and attacks against Israel.—Agency

Death toll in Philippines storm rises to 100

MANILA: Rescuers in the Philippines were diving into a lake and scouring isolated villages on Sunday to locate dozens of missing people as the death toll from Tropical Storm Trami hit 100.

Trami, which rammed into the Philippines on October 24, was among the deadliest storms to hit the Southeast Asian country this year.

According to the national disaster agency, it forced more than half a million people to flee their homes and at least 36 people remain missing.

Police in the hardest-hit Bicol region have recorded 38 deaths, most due to drowning.

"We are still receiving many calls and we are trying to save as many people as we can," Bicol regional police director Andre Dizon told AFP.

"Hopefully, there will be no more deaths."

Dizon added that "many residents" in the region's Camarines Sur province are still trapped on roofs and the upper floors of their homes.

The death toll in Batangas, south of Manila, has risen to 55, provincial police chief Jacinto Malinao told AFP.

Two were reported dead in separate incidents of electrocution and drowning in Cavite province, police said. Five more bodies were recovered in other provinces, bringing the total to 100, according to an AFP tally based on official police and disaster agency sources.

"A higher death toll is possible in the coming days since rescuers can now reach previously isolated places," Edgar Posadas of the Civil Defence Office told AFP.

The police, coast guards and a Marines diving team were searching on Sunday for a family of seven at Taal Lake in Batangas.

"The waters from the mountains hit their home in Balete town, causing it to be swept away with them possibly inside," Malinao, the provincial police chief, said.

Most of the deaths in Batangas have been attributed to rain-induced landslides.

More than 20 bodies were pulled from heaps of mud, boulders and fallen trees, while police said at least another 20 people in the province are still missing.

"We will continue searching until all bodies are retrieved," Malinao said.

The national disaster agency said Sunday that about 560,000 people had been displaced by floods, which submerged hundreds of villages in swaths of the northern Philippines.

About 20 big storms and typhoons hit the archipelago nation or its surrounding waters each year, damaging homes and infrastructure and killing dozens of people.

A recent study showed that storms in the Asia-Pacific region are increasingly forming closer to coastlines, intensifying more rapidly and lasting longer over land due to climate change.—Agency

American Muslim leaders publicly endorse Trump at Michigan rally

Former United States president Donald Trump invited several Muslim leaders onstage during a campaign rally in Detroit, Michigan, in an effort to engage Arab American and Muslim voters angry over Washington's policy in the Middle East situation.

In the critical battleground state, the 77-year-old Republican presidential candidate emphasised the potential impact of this demographic, stating: "They could turn the election one way or the other."

At the rally in Detroit, Trump invited several prominent leaders of Michigan's Muslim community" on stage, including Imam Belal Alzuhairi who labelled Trump as the "peace" candidate, CNN reported.

"We, as Muslims, stand with President Trump because he promises peace — not war," Alzuhairi said. "We are supporting."

Donald Trump because he promised to end war in the Middle East and Ukraine."

Earlier, Trump held a meeting with these leaders to discuss their concerns.

In 2017, during his first month as president, Trump issued an executive order that temporarily banned entry for 90 days from seven Muslim-majority countries, including Iraq, Syria, Iran, Libya, Somalia, Sudan and Yemen.

The order indefinitely banned Syrian refugees and blocked all refugees from entering the US for four months.

Despite this, the Arab voters in Michigan and across the country want a stop to the endless wars and a return to peace in the Middle East. That's all they want," Trump added.—Agency

US fighter jets were on standby to aid Israeli pilots if Iran strike failed

The US positioned a fleet of fighter jets on standby to rescue Israeli pilots if Tel Aviv's Saturday attack on Iran had gone badly, Israeli media reported.

"Israel and the US coordinated a plan to ensure the safe extraction of pilots should the operation have not succeeded," said Israeli Army Radio on Sunday.

The report stressed that while the US did not take part in the attack itself, a fleet from US Central Command (AFCENT) was prepared to intervene if necessary.

"The Americans' advanced capabilities in the region would allow them to carry out a rescue operation," the report stated.

Despite this readiness for potential US intervention, the Israeli Air Force had already devised an "independent plan for pilot rescue without relying on American support," it added.

Israeli on Saturday said it had carried out a four-pronged assault on Iran, with Tehran stating that it had successfully repelled "attempts by the Zionist entity to attack some points in Tehran and across the country."

According to the Iranian military, the Israeli strikes killed four soldiers. This attack followed Iran's launch of over 180 missiles at Israel on Oct. 1, which Tehran described as "retaliation" for the assassinations of top leaders of Palestinian group Hamas and Lebanese Hezbollah. Iran had previously warned that any Israeli attack would be met with a "harsher response."—Agency

Israeli Army Says 5 Soldiers Killed In "Combat" In South Lebanon

Jerusalem: The Israeli military on Sunday said five soldiers were killed in southern Lebanon, bringing to 37 the death count for soldiers fighting there since the start of ground operations on September 30.

The soldiers "fell during combat in southern Lebanon," the army said in a statement, adding that they were killed on Saturday.

Hezbollah began launching rockets at Israel on October 8, 2023, in support of Hamas after the Palestinian group launched its unprecedented attack on Israel the previous day. Israel dramatically escalated its air strikes on Lebanon late last month before launching ground operations in southern Lebanon. The war has left at least 1,615 people dead in Lebanon since September 23, according to an AFP tally based on official figures, though the real number is likely to be higher due to gaps in the data.—Agency

PCB Supremo Naqvi Drops Bombshell On Fakhar Zaman's Ouster From Central Contract And Squad

LAHORE: The chairman of the Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) Mohsin Naqvi has explained the reason behind the exclusion of opening batter Fakhar Zaman from the central contracts as well as white-ball squads for the tour of Australia and Zimbabwe.

Earlier today, the cricket board announced the central contracts for the 2024-25 international season, along with the squads for the tour to Australia and Zimbabwe.

The Australia tour will run from 4-18 November, while the matches in Bulawayo, Zimbabwe, will be played from 24 November to 5 December.

However, Fakhar Zaman's name was missing from the central contract list and squads for the upcoming tours.

During a press conference in Lahore, a journalist asked the PCB chairman, Mohsin Naqvi, if Fakhar was left out due to his social media post defending Babar Azam.

Media post, which has been deemed a violation of the central contract.

However, he emphasized that the primary factor leading to Fakhar's exclusion was due to concerns over the batter's fitness.

"There is the twist issue definitely. But that doesn't matter as much as his fitness tests. He had two issues: the fitness test and the show-and-cause notice, which is still pending. That is why he hasn't been included (in the central contracts list)," Naqvi said.

Cricket Shock: Babar, Shaheen, Naseem In For Australia, Snubbed For Zimbabwe

LAHORE: The Pakistan cricket selectors have announced separate 15-member squads for the upcoming tours of Australia and Zimbabwe, where the national side will play three ODIs and three T20Is each.

Star players Babar Azam, Naseem Shah and Shaheen Shah Afridi, who were given a break from the last two Tests against England are set to return for the Australia matches but will be rested for the Zimbabwe tour.

Similarly, Mohammad Rizwan will be available for the Australia matches and Zimbabwe ODIs, but will be rested from the Zimbabwe T20Is.

December 5, said the Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) in a press release.

The approach to rest players follows the selectors' rotation policy, which provides opportunities to domestic performers, aligning with the team's strategy for the ICC Champions Trophy and beyond, the PCB said.

Uncapped players in the ODI squad include Aamir Jamal, Arfat Minhas, Faisal Akram, Haseebullah, Muhammad Irfan Khan, and Saim Ayub. Jahandad Khan and Salman Ali Agha will join the T20I squad for the first time.

They were joined by the members of the selection committee Aqib Javed and Azhar Ali. It's worth noting that Rizwan replaced fellow batter Babar Azam, who stepped down as Pakistan's white-ball captain earlier this month.

Earlier today, the PCB announced squads for the upcoming white-ball series against Australia and Zimbabwe. Dodgers' Disaster: Shohei Ohtani's Season In Jeopardy With Shoulder Injury

Los Angeles Dodgers designated hitter Shohei Ohtani suffered what manager Dave Roberts called a partial dislocation of his left shoulder during game two of the 2024 Major League Baseball World Series, leaving his status for future games unknown.

Speaking with reporters after his team's 4-2 victory over the visiting New York Yankees to take a 2-0 series lead, Roberts said that the 30-year-old baseball star awaits tests to decide his status for future games.

Roberts said: "He had a little left shoulder subluxation so we're going to get some tests tonight or tomorrow and then we'll know more in the next couple days. But the strength was great, the range of motion good, so we're encouraged."

"We'll know more." Ohtani left Dodger Stadium before speaking with reporters and did not appear to be in any discomfort when leaving the locker room.

The best-of-seven series shifts to New York for game three on Monday and game four on Tuesday, with game five also in New York on Wednesday, if necessary.

The National League MVP favourite left the field with a member of the medical staff holding his left arm after he was thrown out on a stolen-base attempt to end the seventh inning.

Ohtani walked against Clay Holmes and was thrown out on his steal attempt by Yankees catcher Austin Wells. Ohtani remained on the ground, favouring his left arm, as Yankees players left the field.

"But we'll see how it is in the next couple of days. I don't have any info, but when you have a group like this, they picked me up when I have been down and we'll try to do the same for him."

Ohtani's first World Series has been a quiet one so far. He was 0-for-3 with a walk in game two after he went 1-for-5 with a run scored in game one.

In his first season with the Dodgers after signing a 10-year, heavily deferred $700 million contract, Ohtani notched the first 50-50 season in major league history. He finished with 54 home runs and 59 steals.—Agency

PCB Shake-Up: Shaheen Demoted As Fakhar And Big Names Miss Out On Contracts

LAHORE: Pakistan's left-arm pacer and former skipper Shaheen Shah Afridi has been demoted while batter Fakhar Zaman and others have missed out on the 12-month central contracts, according to an official announcement made by the Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) on Sunday.

In its list of central contracts for 25 players, the board has placed Shaheen—who was previously in Category A along with Babar Azam and Mohammad Rizwan—in Category B.

With Babar and Rizwan being the only players in Category A, several players are not even part of the central contracts. These players include Fakhar, former skipper Sarfaraz Ahmed, Hasan Ali, Imam-ul-Haq, Iftikhar Ahmed, Imad Wasim, Mohammad Nawaz, Mohammad Haris, Ihsanullah, Shah Nawaz Dahani and others.

Fakhar was previously placed in Category B of the central contract by the board.

The development comes as the PCB, back in July, announced going back to its old model of granting a one-year central contract to the national side's players - conditional to their performance. The board had also decided that players' fitness would be checked every three months and that it would be mandatory for the athletes to participate in domestic cricket. The move came following the team's dismal performance in the T20 World Cup 2024 wherein the national side crashed out of the tournament before even entering the Super 8 stage.—Agency

Toba Tek Singh Teachers Humiliated Amid Government's Apathy

By Abid Mahmood Chaudhry

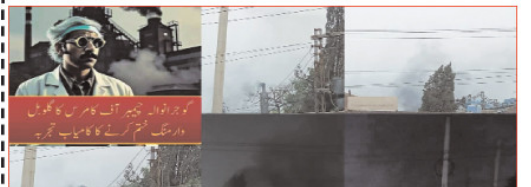

TOBA TEK SINGH: In Toba Tek Singh, concerns are rising about the treatment of teachers, who are often seen as the backbone of education yet are facing increasing humiliation and neglect. Despite being a respected profession, teachers are frequently diverted from their core responsibilities to participate in various government initiatives, including dengue awareness campaigns, admission drives, election duties, polio efforts, and census activities.

Many teachers, who hold advanced degrees like M.Phil. and Ph.D. and have successfully passed PPSC and NTS tests, feel exploited questions about their qualifications. Critics argue that if these assessments are meant to evaluate teachers' abilities, it is unjust to hold them accountable while overlooking the systemic issues within educational management. The message is clear: teachers deserve respect and recognition for their vital role in shaping successful individuals. As the community reflects on these challenges, there is a call for the government to honor educators rather than demean them, acknowledging that every achievement in society is rooted in the guidance of a teacher.

Gujranwala Chamber Champions Innovative Strategies To Tackle Global Warming

By Dr. Mirza MB Qamar

GUJRANWALA: Members of the Gujranwala and Lahore Chambers of Commerce recently shared insights on an unconventional method to address global warming. According to their research, the primary driver of global warming is solar radiation, which continuously heats the Earth. The discussion highlighted the idea that if major factories in Gujranwala and Lahore were permitted to release black toxic smoke consistently, it could create a layer of smoke that might block sunlight, theoretically reducing the Earth's temperature. This controversial approach stems from research conducted by a local scientist who began his studies after taking over his father's factory following a failed attempt in the ninth grade.

The chamber emphasized the importance of exploring innovative solutions to combat climate change while also considering the potential environmental impacts of such methods.

Finance Minister Aurangzeb Sees US Stakeholder Meetings As Key Breakthrough

ISLAMABAD: Finance Minister Senator Muhammad Aurangzeb on Sunday said that his meetings with stakeholders in the United States remained positive, adding that the stakeholders appreciated the scaling down of inflation in Pakistan.

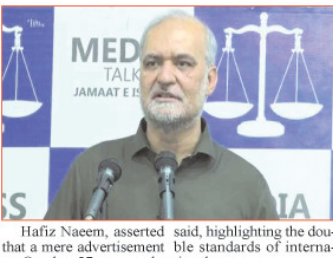

He made these remarks after concluding his visit to Washington to participate in the World Bank (WB) and International Monetary Fund (IMF) Annual Meetings from October 21 to 26. The finance minister held a series of meetings with the leaders from several international finance institutions and authorities including rating agencies, multinational banks, WB, IMF and the Asian Development Bank (ADB). Aurangzeb said that the US business communities were willing to invest in Pakistan as all rating agencies stated the economy was moving in the right direction. He also apprised media that the WB would give Pakistan a grant instead of loan. Whereas, he said, the government would try not to take a loan from the IMF anymore.

On the other hand, the foreign exchange reserves had risen above $11 billion. Aurangzeb said the IT and agriculture sectors held the status of game changer for the country's development, therefore, we would have to boost its export. "We are abolishing the term of non-filer. The non-filers will not be able to buy cars and properties and we will need a legal cover for that purpose," he said. The finance minister said they had been working continuously for six months for economic improvement and bringing reforms in the Federal Board of Revenue (FBR) was a step in the same direction. He said the tax-to-GDP ratio would be brought from 9% to 13%. He also said the country's foreign exchange reserves had risen above $11 billion. Hafiz Naem Asserts: Only Jihad Can Lead Kashmir To Freedom

LAHORE: Hafiz Naem-ur-Rehman, Ameer of Jamaat-e-Islami Pakistan, has stated that Kashmir will not be freed through slogans and advertisements but through jihad. Addressing a gathering at Mansoorah, Lahore, Hafiz Naem urged the audience to dedicate their wealth and lives in the path of Allah, aiming to bring about revolution through every possible effort.

He highlighted that many have sacrificed their lives for the Palestinian and Kashmiri causes. Referring to Syed Ali Gilani, he noted that half of Gilani's life was spent in prison, and his sacrifices were aimed at fulfilling Pakistan's independence. He also mentioned the assassination of Yahya Siyar, stating that Israel and America fear such sacrifices. Despite turning Gaza into rubble, Israel could not break the spirit and strength of Gaza and Hamas, with Palestinians standing firm. While Palestine has yet to gain freedom, Hafiz Naem expressed hope for a new dawn with the bloodshed endured by Ismail Haniyeh's family.

Hafiz Naem, asserted that a mere advertisement on October 27 cannot absolve the government of its responsibility towards Kashmir. "Rights cannot be granted to Kashmiris through phone messages; Kashmir will only be freed through jihad. If dialogue were the solution, the issue would have been resolved long ago," he stated. He called on both the government and military to clarify their stance on Kashmir, urging for action rather than slogans. He further criticised powerful nations, noting that they support occupying forces, and accused American and Indian authorities of deceiving the global community. "Those who fight for freedom are labelled as terrorists," he said, highlighting the double standards of international powers. Hafiz Naem, voiced strong opposition to those advocating friendship with Indian Prime Minister Modi, calling on the nation to hold such figures accountable. Referring to Nawaz Sharif, he questioned, "Why speak of strengthening ties with India without Kashmiri freedom? Why not focus on fostering relations with Afghanistan instead?" The Jamaat-e-Islami leader further alleged that during former PTI chief's tenure, General Bajwa compromised on Kashmir's status. He urged the Pakistan Army to reveal the facts behind the removal of Kashmir's special status, asserting it is their responsibility to inform the public.—RT/Agency

Teflon Nawaz Touches Down In London To Play The Health Card Again

LONDON: Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-N) President Nawaz Sharif reached London, United Kingdom, on Saturday night — exactly a year after he returned to his home country ending nearly three years of self-imposed exile.

Nawaz, the three-time former prime minister, is visiting the UK for medical treatments. The seasoned politician received a warm welcome in London from a huge number of PML-N supporters, including the newly appointed president of the party's UK chapter, Ahsan Dar, and others. A group of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) workers were also gathered opposite the Avenfield flats and raised slogans against the ruling party's leaders. As the PML-N chief arrived at his Avenfield flats, workers of both the PML-N and PTI exchanged harsh words against each other. According to the PML-N, Sharif will stay in London for around three days and will then depart for the United States where he will spend around a week for private meetings. The party supremo reached Dubai on Friday and spent a night at the home of Hasnain Dar, the younger son of Deputy Prime Minister Ishaq Dar. The 74-year-old former premier will spend time with his sons in London and undergo medical treatment, a PML-N source told media. Punjab Chief Minister Maryam Nawaz, will also likely travel to London in the first or second week of November and will visit Geneva with her father for a follow-up on her throat surgery at a local clinic. Nawaz returned to the country in October 2023 after a three-year self-imposed exile in the UK. He briefly landed in Islamabad, where he signed and filed appeals against the convictions for which he was jailed before he left the country in 2019. After a few hours' stay in the federal capital, the PML-N supremo flew to Lahore to kick-start his party's campaign for the February 8 elections in a rally of thousands of his supporters. He later went on to run for a seat in the National Assembly during the general elections during which he won polls held after the NA-130 constituency in Lahore against PTI's Yasmin Rashid.—RT/Agency

Munir Akram: Pakistan Stands Steadfast With Kashmir In Its Fight For Justice

UNITED NATIONS: The United Nations has a duty to uphold its own resolutions on the decades-old Kashmir dispute and promote a just and peaceful resolution in line with the aspirations of the Kashmiri people, Pakistan's UN Ambassador Munir Akram said in a message on the occasion of the Kashmir Black Day on Sunday.

On this solemn day, he said, we reaffirm our unwavering commitment to standing by the Kashmiri people, advocating for their human rights, and striving for a future of peace, freedom, and dignity for them. Today, Ambassador Akram said, as we observe Kashmir Black Day, we remember the grave injustices faced by the people of Jammu and Kashmir. The events of October 27, 1947, marked the beginning of an occupation that has denied Kashmiris their fundamental right to self-determination, a right enshrined in the UN Charter and affirmed through Security Council resolutions, he added.

"Tragically, this denial of rights has only intensified, especially following the unilateral and unlawful actions of August 5, 2019." Since that fateful day, he said that the people of Indian occupied Jammu and Kashmir had been subjected to an unprecedented lockdown, systematic human rights violations and severe restrictions on their freedom and dignity. "Countless reports by international human rights organizations and independent observers have documented instances of excessive use of force, extra-judicial killing en masse, forced disappearances, arbitrary detentions and collective punishment. The imposition of media blackouts, restrictions on freedom of expression, and curfews have sought to isolate the people of Kashmir from the world and curtail their ability to seek their right to self-determination." Ambassador Akram said, stands with the people of Jammu and Kashmir in their just struggle for freedom and self-determination. We call upon the international community and the United Nations to hold those responsible for these violations accountable and to ensure that the voices of the Kashmiri people are heard, he expressed.—RT/Agency
