Soldier Martyred, Comrade Injured In Ruthless Bannu Ambush

BANNU: A soldier was martyred and another injured when unknown assailants opened fire on them near Khyber Pakhtunkhwa's Bannu district on Sunday, according to the police.

Recently, multiple areas of KP — including Bannu, Peshawar, Karak, Lakki Marwat and Bajaur — have seen a series of terrorist attacks, particularly targeting police personnel.

Spokesperson for Bannu Police Kashif Nawaz told Dawn.com, "A security personnel was killed and another was injured when they were attacked by unknown assailants near the Ayub fuel station on Miranshah road."

He added that the body and the injured were rushed to the District Headquarters Hospital in Bannu, while a police team was dispatched to the site of the incident to collect information.

Pakistan has witnessed an uptick in terror activities over the past year, especially in KP and Balochistan, after the proscribed Tehreek-i-Taliban Pakistan (TTP) ended its ceasefire with the government in November 2022 and vowed to target security forces, the police, and other law enforcement agencies.

Last month, a police constable was shot dead by unknown assailants in Bannu while he was on his way to work. On September 2, six soldiers were martyred, while five terrorists were killed as security forces thwarted an attack on the Federal Constabulary (FC) Headquarters in Bannu.—RT/Agency

Israel Expels 29 More Gaza Aid Flotilla Activists

JERUSALEM: Israel has deported a further 29 activists detained by the navy last week for taking part in a flotilla that sought to deliver aid to blockaded Gaza, the foreign ministry said on Sunday.

The flotilla, which set sail in late August, marked the latest attempt by activists to challenge the Israeli naval blockade of the territory where Israel has been waging an offensive since Hamas' October 2023 attack. Israel says that the blockade is legal and has called the flotilla a provocation.

Israel has so far deported at least 170 of the more than 450 activists it detained. The government has faced accusations of mistreatment, including allegations that some activists were denied access to their lawyers - claims that the foreign ministry denies.

ISRAELI LEGAL CENTRE SAYS SOME ACTIVISTS ALLEGE ABUSE

The foreign ministry on Sunday said that the legal rights of the activists were being "fully upheld" and that some had chosen not to sign deportation orders waiving their right to a 72-hour delay, which would have allowed them to be deported sooner.

Adalah, a legal center in Israel representing the activists, said some of those detained have alleged abuse and physical violence while in Israeli custody. Other accusations of mistreatment include being denied medical treatment and medication, and in one case, a Muslim woman was allegedly forced to remove her hijab and was offered a shirt as a replacement.

Asked about the allegations, an Israeli foreign ministry spokesperson accused Adalah of "repeating outright lies"."All the detainees' legal rights were fully upheld, and they were all given access to water, food, and restrooms. They were not denied access to legal counsel, and of course, no physical force was used against them," the spokesperson said.—RT/Agency

Pakistan Among 8 Arab States Backing Trump's Ceasefire Push On Israel

US: Eight Muslim Arab countries, including Pakistan, have welcomed US President Donald Trump's call for a ceasefire with Israel.

In a joint statement on the Gaza peace plan, the eight countries expressed approval of Hamas's positive response to the US peace initiative. The demand for a ceasefire with Israel was described as commendable.

The statement was issued by Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Turkiye, Qatar, Jordan, Indonesia, the United Arab Emirates and Egypt. It welcomed Hamas's readiness to release prisoners and urged immediate negotiations to implement the peace plan. The Arab Muslim countries pledged to play their role in the plan's execution.

US President Donald Trump has ordered Israel to halt bombing in the Gaza Strip. This development follows Hamas's willingness to accept some elements of the peace plan.

Hamas declared its readiness to release hostages and transfer power to other Palestinian factions, though it emphasised the need for consultations on other points. Senior Hamas leaders indicated that significant differences remain and require further negotiation.

Meanwhile, talks are taking place today in Egypt to address peace in Gaza and prisoner exchanges. According to British media, delegations from Hamas, Israel, Qatar, the United States, Egypt and Turkiye are attending the talks.

The discussions are expected to focus on the implementation methods of the first phase of Donald Trump's plan.—RT/Agency

Rubio Warns Gaza War Far From Over, Hostage Crisis Still Priority

WASHINGTON: The war in Gaza has "not yet" ended, US Secretary of State Marco Rubio said on Sunday, describing the release of the hostages held by Hamas as the first phase, while details on what happens after that still need to be worked out.

He told NBC's Meet the Press that Hamas had "basically" agreed to President Donald Trump's proposal and the framework for releasing the hostages, while meetings were underway to coordinate the logistics of that.

"They have also agreed, in principle and generalities, to enter into this idea about what's going to happen afterwards," he said. "A lot of details are going to have to be worked out there." Speaking later to Fox News Sunday, Rubio said that nothing was certain.

"No one can tell you it's a 100 percent guarantee," he said.

Rubio told NBC the US would know "very quickly" whether Hamas was serious or not during the current technical talks to coordinate the release of the hostages.

"Priority number one, the one that we think we can achieve something very quickly on hopefully, is the release of all the hostages in exchange for Israel moving back" to the yellow line - where Israel stood within Gaza in the middle of August - Rubio said.

He described the second phase of the long-term future of Gaza as "even harder."

"What happens after Israel pulls back to the yellow line, and potentially beyond that, as this thing develops? How do you create this Palestinian technocratic leadership that's not Hamas?" Rubio said.

"How do you disarm any sort of terrorist groups that are going to be building tunnels and conducting attacks against Israel? How do you get them to demobilize?"—RT/Agency

Pakistan Eyes Demolition Of Roosevelt Hotel For Towering Skyscraper Project

NEW YORK: Pakistan is considering options for the Roosevelt Hotel in Midtown Manhattan as part of the South Asian nation's efforts to meet its commitments to the International Monetary Fund (IMF).

One of the options is to raze the storied landmark and build a skyscraper in its place, said Muhammad Ali, adviser to the prime minister on privatisation.

The government is keen on a joint venture where Pakistan will contribute the land and the partner will bring in the equity, he told Bloomberg in Islamabad. The other option is to retain the hotel if it makes economic sense, he said.

Once a historic hotel owned by Pakistan International Airlines (PIA), it closed during the pandemic, briefly housed migrants, and has since been shuttered.

"We will have clarity on this in the next few months after finalisation of the JV partner and market sounding," Ali said. The adviser is hopeful that the national carrier will be sold by November 2025.

He said the groups interested in buying PIA are among the largest business groups in the country and have the capacity to run it. Ali estimated that an investment of about half-a-billion dollars would be needed to turn the airline around.

Pakistan is in the process of appointing advisers for the hotel transaction, dubbed by some as "the new Ellis Island" for its historical role as a migrant intake point.

The government will finalise a new adviser later in October 2025 after bids from seven groups, including Citigroup Inc, CBRE Group Inc, and Savills PLC.—RT/Agency

KP Govt Wipes Clean May 9 Vandalism Cases Against PTI Leaders

PESHAWAR: The Khyber Pakhtunkhwa government has withdrawn all cases filed against Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) leaders and workers in connection with the May 9 riots.

During the violence, triggered after former prime minister Imran Khan's arrest in a graft case, the miscreants targeted the civil and military installations including — Jinnah House and the General Headquarters (GHQ) in Rawalpindi.

The unrest has caused much legal and political woes for the former ruling party whose senior leaders, including founder Imran, Shah Mehmood Qureshi, Yasmin Rashid and others, still remain behind bars over their alleged involvement in various incidents.

According to an official notification issued by the provincial Home Department, the decision was made after approval from the KP cabinet.

The notification also stated that Additional Advocate General Muhammad Inam Khan Yousafzai has been appointed as the special prosecutor to represent the government in court proceedings related to the matter.

With the KP government's move, PTI sees a major legal relief for dozens of its workers and leaders in the province. However, the final decision on withdrawal now rests with the courts, which will review the government's request at the next hearing scheduled for October 15.

KP AG Utmankhel, in a video message, said that all terrorism-related cases filed on May 9 were politically motivated, registered without evidence or proper investigation, and amounted to political victimisation by the caretaker government.

He added that the chief minister had ordered their withdrawal after cabinet approval. —RT/Agency

Dr. Alvi's Shameless Bid for Free Housing Exposes PTI's Betrayal of Voters and its Principles

At a time when millions of Pakistanis sleep under open skies and families struggle daily to keep a roof over their heads, it is nothing short of disgraceful that former President Dr. Arif Alvi has petitioned the Sindh High Court to grant him an official residence for life. Dr. Alvi, a prominent dentist with a flourishing practice and owner of a posh residence in one of Karachi's most expensive localities, hardly fits the description of a man in need of state charity. Yet, he shamelessly seeks to burden an already impoverished nation with his housing demands, citing colonial-era entitlements that should have been buried long ago.

What makes this request even more galling is that Dr. Alvi hails from the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf, a party that championed austerity, humility, and the rejection of elite privilege. Millions of Pakistanis voted for PTI in hope of real change, a break from the culture of perks and protocols. Instead, they are betrayed by this shocking display of entitlement. While his party founder, Imran Khan, languishes behind bars for standing by principles of accountability, Dr. Alvi is busy clinging to perks and privileges. This stark hypocrisy exposes the rot of entitlement that infects even those who once spoke loudly of reform.

Pakistan today faces one of the harshest economic crises in its history. Inflation crushes the poor, floods have displaced countless families, and hunger stalks the streets. Against this grim backdrop, it is beyond insulting for a wealthy ex-president to demand free luxury housing at the taxpayers' expense. Leaders are remembered not by the houses they cling to but by the principles they uphold.

Dr. Alvi should withdraw his petition immediately and lead by example—pay for his own home, as every honest citizen is forced to do. Anything less will forever stain his legacy as a man who abandoned austerity for comfort and chose self-indulgence over solidarity with his suffering people.

Amir breaks silence on comeback buzz, weighs in on Sarfaraz as selector

Former Pakistan pacer Mohammad Amir has once again broken his silence amid swirling rumours about a potential return to international cricket.

In a candid video message, Amir clarified that he has no plans to revoke his retirement and emphasised that his decision to step away from the game remains unchanged.

He added that while his fans urge him to return, Pakistan cricket must continue to progress.

"For the past two or three days, I have been hearing that Mohammad Amir is making a comeback and taking back his retirement. No discussion has taken place with me about any comeback or withdrawing retirement, nor do I have any such plan. The decision I made regarding retirement is final," Amir said.

"My fans say that I should come back, but Pakistan cricket also needs to move forward," he added.

It is pertinent to mention that Amir announced his retirement from international cricket for the second time on December 14, 2024, after the ICC T20 World Cup, stating it was time for the next generation to take over.

This followed his earlier decision to retire in December 2020, from which he returned in early 2024 to be available for the T20 World Cup.

The left-arm pacer also stressed the importance of giving opportunities to young players.

"There are young players in the team. If the youngsters play consistently, in two or three years a strong team will be formed. I hope the team will be well-prepared for the World Cup. We played the Asia Cup final; now I hope we play the World Cup final and win as well," he stated.—Agency

Nashra Sandhu matches Sana Mir's World Cup milestone in India clash

COLOMBO: Pakistan spinner Nashra Sandhu on Sunday equalled former captain Sana Mir's record during the high-octane Women's World Cup 2025 clash against India at the R. Premadasa Stadium.

Nashra, who claimed the key wicket of Jemimah Rodrigues, now shares the record with Mir as Pakistan's highest wicket-taker in Women's World Cup history.

Both bowlers have 17 wickets each, with Nashra achieving the milestone in 15 matches, while Mir did so in 18.

Diana Baig, who picked up four wickets in the match, sits with 15 wickets in 14 matches, while former right-arm medium pacer Asmavia Iqbal ranks third with 14 wickets in 17 matches, followed by Nida Dar with 11.

At the top of the all-time chart, former Indian pacer Jhulan Goswami leads as the highest wicket-taker in Women's World Cup history, claiming 43 wickets in 34 matches.

Batting first, India got off to a promising start as openers Smriti Mandhana and Pratika Rawal added crucial runs to apply early pressure on Pakistan's bowling attack.

The partnership was broken when Pakistan skipper Fatima Sana dismissed Mandhana for 23 off 32 balls, which included four boundaries, leaving India at 48-1 in nine overs.

After six more overs, India suffered another setback as Rawal was clean bowled by Sadiq Iqbal for 31 off 37 balls, which included five boundaries, ending a 19-run stand.

Harleen Deol and captain Harmanpreet Kaur then joined forces, scoring vital runs to stabilize the innings.

Diana Baig delivered the third blow for Pakistan, dismissing Kaur for 19 off 34 balls, which included two boundaries, leaving India at 106-4 in 24.4 overs.

Sri Lanka Cricket shakes up coaching staff after T20I humiliation against Bangladesh

Sri Lanka Cricket (SLC) has appointed Julian Wood as the new batting coach and Rene Ferdinands as the spin-bowling coach of the men's national team, replacing Thilina Kandamby and Piyal Wijetunge, respectively.

Kandamby had been serving as Sri Lanka's batting coach since December 2023, while Wijetunge had been associated with SLC for nearly two decades, holding the spin-bowling coach role since February 2006.

According to reports, the decision to restructure the coaching setup came after Sri Lanka's home T20I series defeat to Bangladesh in July.

Wood has signed a one-year contract with SLC. Earlier this year, he conducted a week-long "power-hitting programme" with Sri Lanka's national players, earning praise from the board for his methods.

In August, Wood briefly served as Bangladesh's batting coach, though his contract was not renewed in September. He has previously worked with the ECB, Gloucestershire, Hampshire, Middlesex, and IPL franchise Punjab Kings.

Ferdinands, meanwhile, has been appointed on a two-year contract. His role will include leading spin-bowling training, match preparation, performance analysis, and player development.

"Holding a PhD in biomechanics from the University of Waikato, Ferdinands brings extensive expertise in applying science to enhance cricket performance," SLC said in an official statement.

Ferdinands has previously worked with the BCCI's National Cricket Academy, where he delivered biomechanics-based coaching programs for elite players and coaches.

He has also served as a biomechanics consultant for New Zealand Cricket, conducting performance evaluations and injury-risk assessments for top-level bowlers.

Over the past decade, Sri Lanka's batting power and spin performance have often lagged behind international standards, particularly on flatter tracks.—Agency

Arne Slot calls for calm as Liverpool slump to third straight defeat

LONDON: Liverpool manager Arne Slot urged calm after his team suffered a dramatic 2-1 defeat at Chelsea on Saturday, marking their third loss in a row for the first time during his tenure.

Brazilian teenager Estevao scored his first Chelsea goal in the 95th minute, snatching a late winner in a fiercely contested match.

The result compounded Liverpool's recent woes, having also lost a 97th-minute thriller against Crystal Palace last weekend and a disappointing Champions League defeat to Galatasaray in midweek.

Liverpool looked disjointed, particularly in the first half, despite most of their starting lineup remaining unchanged from last season.

Slot attributed the narrow loss to fine margins and the lingering effects of a turbulent summer, which included the tragic death of Diogo Jota and the departure of key players.

"If the result would have been better today with a draw or a win – which was both possible, I don't say we deserved it, a draw we definitely deserved – but then we would have had a great start to the season, if you take into account everything that happened in the summer in Liverpool," Slot said.

At the front, new signing Alexander Isak appeared off the pace after a limited pre-season, while Mohamed Salah's struggles continued. Salah, who has scored just five goals in his last 21 games, missed several chances and appeared underwhelming once again.—Agency

Mascherano shuts down Messi rift rumours at Inter Miami

Inter Miami coach Javier Mascherano dismissed rumours of tensions with Lionel Messi, international media reported on Sunday.

Mascherano and Messi were involved in a heated debate during the 5-3 defeat to Chicago Fire last week at the Chase Stadium.

Miami were 2-0 down in the match before Tomas Aviles put them back on track. They tied 3-3 in the second half when Luis Suarez scored a brace.

However, the visiting team scored two more goals to clinch the victory in the final phase of the game.

Miami's coach and Lionel Messi were captured by the cameras having an intense exchange, which sparked speculation of a rift between the two.

Mascherano has downplayed the rumours circulating, saying he was discussing tactics with Messi.

"There's no problem with Leo...It came out in the press that he was challenging me, which is really nonsense," said Mascherano.

"We were talking about Chicago's low block. If you look at the game, after their first two goals, they played a very low block, and there was little space to find between the lines.

"It was a space problem, because they had dropped back very well, and it was very difficult to find space between the lines. It was a problem that I saw and that we tried to talk about in the locker room."

Inter Miami secured a 4-1 victory over New England on Sunday and have already qualified for the Major League Soccer playoffs.—Agency

Her co-star Sebastian Stan had also added his share in the support of the studio. The actor, who portrays Bucky Barnes, weighed in on Marvel's significance after the franchise was under fire as its Ant-Man 3 and The Marvels failed to make an impact on the box office.

Mahmud Shah Colony Residents Demand Removal of Street-Blocking Animal Pens

By Sheikh Sindhi

KOTRI: Residents of Mahmud Shah Colony, including Qamar-ud-Din Kanbhar, Shams-ud-Din Soomro, and others, have filed a complaint with the Deputy Commissioner regarding animal pens (mehun's waars) set up along the colony's main roads and passageways. They stated that some influential people have erected these animal enclosures on public pathways, making the roads narrow and filthy, to the extent that children, elderly, women, and school students cannot pass through.

Despite several warnings to the pen owners to remove their animals from the streets, the owners have become confrontational and refuse to comply. In response to the complaint, the Deputy Commissioner of Jamshoro issued orders to the Secretary of the Municipal Committee Kotri to take strict action against the pen owners causing public inconvenience.

Neglected Drainage Drowns Fields: Floods Devastate Deh Mithi

Khadim Hussain Shaikh

KADHAN: After the devastating floods of the 1970s, the Revenue Department conducted a review and study report which led the Sindh government to expand the seasonal drainage channel named L-One Sam in Deh Mithi One, tribal area Chak, to efficiently drain heavy rainfall and flood-waters caused by climate change. However, no remodeling or cutting was carried out on this extended channel.

The floodwater from Deh Wadhri area drains into the LBO Drain through the Sam channel near Vadhri Head RD 159, draining thousands of acres of land in Deh Wadhri. Unfortunately, the LBO Drain's inlet system is dysfunctional. Instead of installing sluice gates and regulators to control water flow, a two-foot pipe was installed, which is causing widespread flooding and damage to ready crops on thousands of acres, resulting in losses worth crores of rupees.

Badin Farmers Ready for Showdown as Sesame Crops Collapse

By Khadim Hussain Sheikh

KADHAN: Farmers across the southern coastal belt of Badin — including areas such as Kadhan Siraani, Pir Fatah Shah, Qazi Wah, Tal Badi, Pur Stop, Garho Regulator, Qadiya Lunwari Sharif, Garhirdi, Ashrafabad, 50 Mori, Ahmadabad, and adjacent localities — are facing a severe crisis as their sesame crop (sariyal) has been hit by disease and market exploitation. A bumper sesame harvest has ripened, but traders and mill owners have arbitrarily cut the price from Rs. 3,300 to Rs. 2,200 per maund, effectively forcing the price down to Rs. 1,300 in some cases. Merchants are also illegally deducting four to seven kilos per maund under the pretext of "moisture," leaving growers impoverished. Meanwhile a dangerous pest/virus — described locally as black patches, whitefly and other infestations — is attacking sesame fields, causing thousands of acres to rot and burn; pesticides have proved ineffective and farmers estimate losses running into crores of rupees.

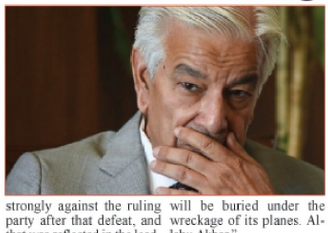
Defence Minister Vows India Will Be "Buried Under Wreckage Of Warplanes"



ISLAMABAD: Defence Minister Khawaja Asif early on Sunday responded sharply to what he called provocative statements from New Delhi's top security establishment, saying India would be "buried under the wreckage of its warplanes, Inshallah."

In a post on X, Asif described recent comments by India's military and political leaders as a failed attempt to restore their lost credibility. He said their statements showed pressure at the top.

"After such a decisive 6–0 defeat, if they try again, the [Pakistan's] score will only get better," the minister wrote. He added that public opinion in India had turned strongly against the ruling party after that defeat, and that was reflected in the leaders' words.

The defence minister also said, "Pakistan is a state built in the name of Allah, our defenders are soldiers of Allah. This time, India, Inshallah, will be buried under the wreckage of its planes. Allahu Akbar."

Earlier, the military's spokesperson had also reacted to the same remarks from Indian security circles.

Responding to India's war rhetoric, the country's armed forces warned that "provocative and jingoistic remarks" from senior Indian security officials risk fabricating pretexts for aggression and could lead to "cataclysmic devastation".

The Inter-Services Public Relations (ISPR) said that such remarks suggested a renewed attempt to manufacture arbitrary pretexts for aggression that would have "serious consequences for peace and stability in South Asia".

A day earlier, Indian Air Force Chief Amar Preet Singh claimed that India downed five Pakistani fighter jets of the F-16 and JF-17 class during the intense fighting between the nuclear-armed neighbours in May.

"As far as air defence part is concerned, we have evidence of one long range strike...along with that five fighters, high-tech fighters between F-16 and JF-17 class, our system tells us," Singh told reporters at the Indian Air Force annual day press conference.However, he did not provide any evidence to back his claim.Pakistan's military slammed India for long portraying itself as a victim while "stoking violence and perpetrating terrorism in South Asia and beyond", saying that this narrative has been debunked.—RT/Agency

White House Sounds Alarm: Mass Layoffs Loom If Shutdown Talks Collapse

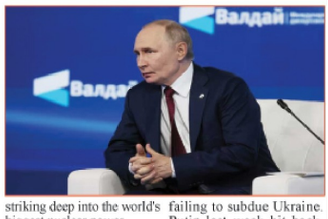
US: The Trump administration will start mass layoffs of federal workers if President Donald Trump decides negotiations with congressional Democrats to end a partial government shutdown are "absolutely going nowhere," a senior White House official said on Sunday.

As the shutdown entered its fifth day, White House National Economic Council Director Kevin Hassett told CNN's "State of the Union" programme that he still saw a chance that Democrats would back down, averting a costly shutdown and federal employee layoffs that have been threatened by White House budget director Russell Vought.

"President Trump and Russ Vought are lining things up and getting ready to act if they have to, but hoping that they don't," Hassett said.

"If the president decides that the negotiations are absolutely going nowhere, then there will start to be layoffs. But I think that everybody is still hopeful that when we get a fresh start at the beginning of the week, that we can get the Democrats to see that it's just common sense to avoid layoffs like that."—RT/Agency

Putin Warns Tomahawk Missiles To Ukraine Could Shatter US Ties



MOSCOW: Russian President Vladimir Putin said that if the United States supplied Tomahawk missiles to Ukraine for long-range strikes deep into Russia then it would lead to the destruction of Moscow's relationship with Washington.

Less than two months since US President Donald Trump met Putin at a summit in Alaska, peace looks even further away with Russian forces advancing in Ukraine, Russian drones allegedly flying in NATO airspace and now Washington talking about direct participation in striking deep into the world's biggest nuclear power.

Trump has said he is disappointed with Putin for not making peace and has cast Russia as a "paper tiger" for failing to subdue Ukraine. Putin last week hit back, questioning if NATO was not the "paper tiger" for failing to stop Russia's advance.—RT/Agency

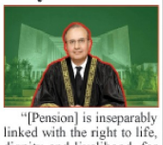
Justice Mansoor Ali Shah Declares Pension A "Constitutional Right, Not Charity"



ISLAMABAD: Justice Syed Mansoor Ali Shah of the Supreme Court (SC) has observed in a recent judgement that an employee's pension is not a matter of bounty, charity, or benevolence but a right protected under Articles 9 and 14 of the Constitution.

Article 9 entails that no person shall be deprived of life or liberty save in accordance with the law, while Article 14 protects the dignity of a person.

He made the remarks while hearing a petition filed by Shakeel Ahmed Kayani challenging an Islamabad High Court judgment (IHC) dated February 2, 2022, which had dismissed his plea seeking entitlement to an additional pension. The SC heard the case on Sept 17, 2025, while the order of the judgement was released this week.

"[Pension] is inseparably linked with the right to life, dignity and livelihood, for without sustenance in old age, these rights ring hollow," Justice Shah observed in his judgement.According to the order, a copy of which was made available to Dawn.com today, the petitioner joined the erstwhile Oil and Gas Development Corporation established under the Oil and Gas Development Corporation Ordinance, 1961, as accounts assistant (BPS-14) on Feb 2, 1995, after earlier serving with the Pakistan Military Accounts Department Office, Wah Cantt.—RT/Agency

IMF Demands Full Briefing On Pakistan's Tax Exemptions

ISLAMABAD: The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has requested a detailed briefing from Pakistan on tax exemptions provided across various sectors, according to media reports. Officials from the Ministry of Finance are expected to brief the IMF on the export and re-import of sugar, shedding light on the fiscal implications of these practices.

In addition, a comprehensive presentation will be given on the tax concessions granted to the Reko Diq mining project. The IMF is particularly interested in understanding how these exemptions are impacting the country's overall tax revenue.

The briefing will also include an assessment of tax collection shortfalls caused by sector-specific exemptions. The IMF delegation will be provided with data on taxes, royalties, and both local and international investment involved in the Reko Diq project.

Moreover, the Ministry of Finance will discuss the fiscal risks associated with the guarantees provided for the Reko Diq venture. These guarantees have implications for Pakistan's financial liabilities, and the IMF wants a clearer picture of potential future risks stemming from this project.

The focus on Reko Diq comes at a time when Pakistan is under increasing pressure to meet IMF loan requirements by enhancing transparency and improving tax collection mechanisms.—RT/Agency

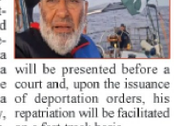
Islamabad Presses Israel For Return Of Citizens Detained In Gaza Flotilla Raid



ISLAMABAD: The Foreign Office on Sunday said that Pakistan was actively engaged with international partners to ensure the safety and repatriation of its citizens detained by Israel in the Gaza aid flotilla interception."Through the diplomatic channels of a friendly European country, we have confirmed that former senator Mushtaq Ahmad is in the custody of the Israeli occupying forces and is safe and in good health," read the press release issued by the FO.

It further added that Pakistan authorities have been advised that the ex-senator will be presented before a court and, upon the issuance of deportation orders, his repatriation will be facilitated on a fast-track basis.

The ministry's remarks come after the former lawmaker was detained by Israeli forces while taking part in the Global Sumud Flotilla on October 2, whose multiple vessels were carrying aid to the war-torn territory currently under Israeli blockade.

The ex-senator, who was leading a five-member Pakistani delegation, joined the flotilla alongside international activists and humanitarian aid groups.

However, the Israeli military intercepted more than 40 flotilla vessels, some 42.5 nautical miles (79 km) from Gaza and detained more than 450 activists aboard the vessels.

Tel Aviv has since faced widespread criticism from countries around the world.Meanwhile, the FO recalled that the ministry "had previously coordinated the safe return of individuals who disembarked earlier.—RT/Agency

Iran Declares UN Nuclear Watchdog Cooperation Now "Irrelevant"

TEHRAN: Iran's top diplomat said Sunday that cooperation with the United Nations nuclear watchdog was no longer relevant following the re-imposition of international sanctions on the country.

"The Cairo agreement is no longer relevant for our cooperation with the IAEA (International Atomic Energy Agency)," said Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi while referring to a September deal with the UN agency.

The deal had set up a framework to resume cooperation and allow the watchdog to inspect Iranian sites, after Tehran suspended cooperation following Israeli and US strikes on its key nuclear sites in June.

But the agreement lost its significance to Iran as Britain, France, and Germany — signatories to Iran's 2015 nuclear deal — triggered the return of the UN sanctions over Tehran's non-compliance.Tehran had threatened to halt cooperation with the agency if they sought to reimpose the sanctions."The three European countries thought they had a leverage in their hands, threatening to implement a snapback," Araghchi said during a meeting with foreign diplomats in Tehran.—RT/Agency
